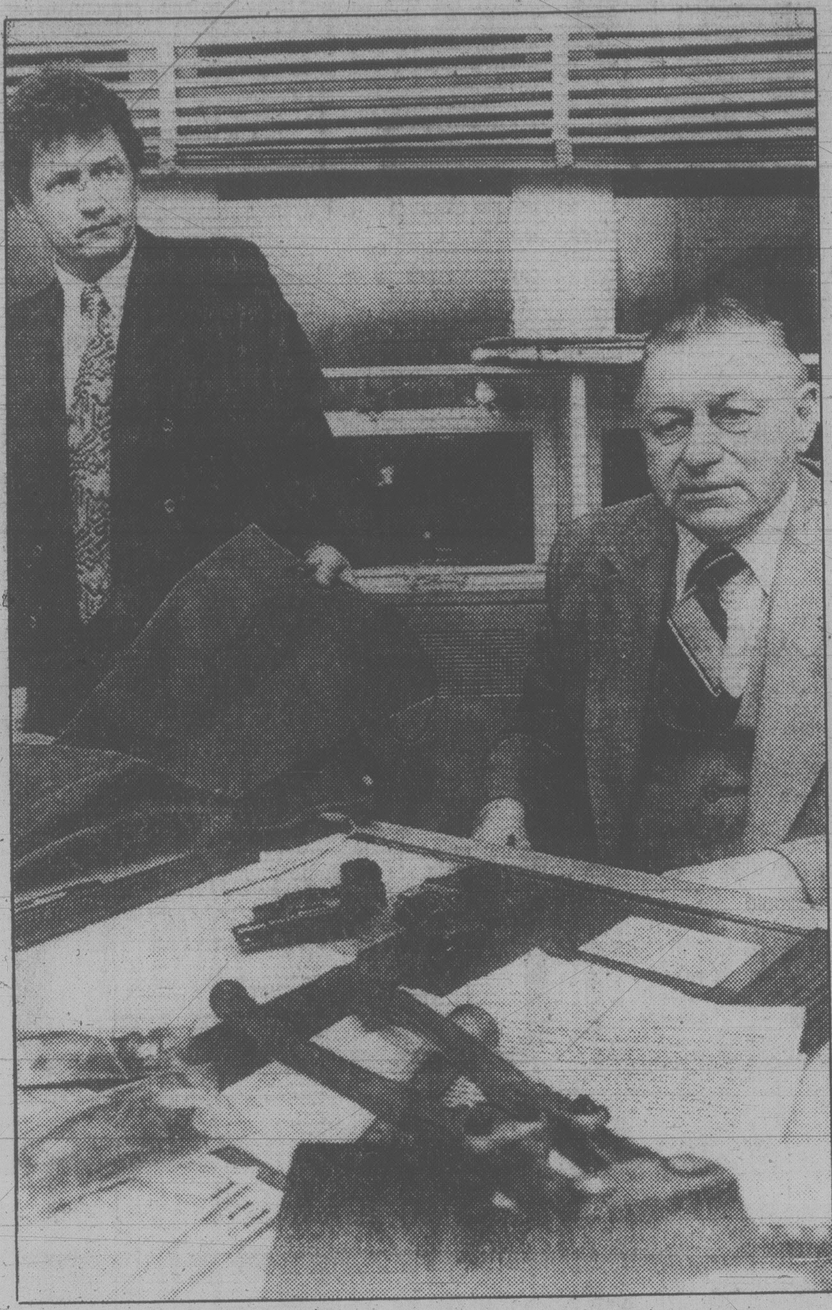
$5M-$6M Heist Second Biggest



Police display guns, duffel bags, cutters used by thieves

OTTAWA (CP) — Thieves made what is probably the second largest haul in Canadian history Sunday when they took goods valued at between $5 and $6 million from the city's main postal terminal.

Their take was exceeded only by a $10-million theft of bonds, securities and jewelry in May, 1958, from the Brockville, Ont., Trust and Savings Co.

But they left behind a shah's ransom, a post office official said in an interview — between $40 million and $50 million in bullion, stamps, jewelry, cash and drugs.

"They were like kids inside a candy store," the official said. "They didn't know what they were looking for."

With police sharply critical of security in the block-long building in Ottawa's southeast section, the official observed that "any part-time employee or Christmas helper would know the security arrangements on a holiday weekend and what was in the registration room."

What the thieves — police are convinced there were three people involved in what they are terming an inside job — got was between $3 million and $4 million in negotiable American Express money orders and traveller's cheques along with cash, jewelry, minted coin sets and Canadian and foreign passports.

It was all protected by the vigilance of a single unarmed member of the Corps of Commissionaires — drawn exclusively from the ranks of retired military personnel — without even the aid of a burgular alarm system in the building.

The commissionaire was located at the front door of the building located in the southwest corner of the building, so the thieves entered by breaking the glass window beside a door in the northeast corner and pushing the door release bar.

There normally are two commissionaires on duty, but this was reduced to one for the Easter holiday weekend.

Once inside, knowing just where they were going, the thieves then walked up to the third floor, cut the lock off the registration office door and went through a sliding glass window into the working area where the goods were stored in canvas bags and cartons.

Taking their time ripping open the cartons and slicing open the mail sacks, the thieves spent about two hours gathering an estimated 400 pounds of loot in five blue army-style duffel bags before carrying them back down the stairs and out the open back door.

The theft, which took place in the early hours of Sunday morning, was discovered at about 7:30 a.m. by an employee reporting for work.

Police said a passerby saw a four-wheel-drive vehicle with Quebec license plates parked at the back entrance of the post office about the time of the early-morning break-in.

They said they had a good lead on what they thought were three suspects from the Montreal area and only hoped they could get to them before the goods — especially the American Express goods and the passports — went into other hands.

Passports, especially Canadian, have a high value on illegal markets because they are accepted by most

$30M-$50M Stolen

WATERBURY, Conn. (AP) — Thieves stole an estimated $30 million to $50 million in negotiable securities today after shooting and killing three Purolator Security Inc. guards at a company office, the New Haven Register reported.

Police refused to comment on the amount taken, but the newspaper said it had received its estimate from a police investigator who asked not to be identified.

State police and the FBI also refused to comment.

John Connelly, a spokesman for Waterbury police, said at a news conference that an undetermined amount of cash was taken. He declined to say whether any stocks or bonds were stolen.

Connelly said the robbery occurred when the truck arrived at the Waterbury office about 4:30 a.m. with a shipment from Hartford. Two of the slain guards were on the truck and the third was on duty at the depot, he said.

Killer Quake Sweeps Adriatic Spas into Sea

Times News Services

BELGRADE — A series of strong aftershocks today rumbled through the Adriatic coast of Yugoslavia and Albania, devastated by an earthquake that killed at least 235, injured nearly 1,000 and left thousands others homeless.

The aftershocks, measuring 4.8 on the Richter scale, hampered efforts by rescue workers searching for survivors from the worst quake ever to hit Yugoslavia. It struck the Adriatic resort region just before dawn Sunday sending parts of the coast tumbling into the sea.

The quake cut a 100-mile swath of Yugoslavia and Albania, killing 235 — 200 in Yugoslavia and 35 in Albania, and injuring 930 others — 600 in Yugoslavia and 330 in Albania, according to official figures in both nations. Authorities said the toll was expected to rise.

Doctors flown in from across Yugoslavia treated hundreds of injured in makeshift relief centres. Rescue workers, using specially trained dogs, searched more than a dozen coastal towns and villages for survivors or bodies buried in the rubble. Frogmen searched coastal waters for persons whose homes slid into the sea.

The initial 50-second shock tore open hotels, hospitals, factories and homes along the coast. Buildings and roads slid into the sea. There were waves of violent aftershocks, and by evening more than 80 tremors had been reported.

"There is not a single house that has not been damaged in one way or another in Herceg-Novi," said Dusko Seferovic, mayor of the resort town on Kotor Bay.

Local officials said the quake levelled nearly all older buildings in 13 towns along the coast, a popular, sun-drenched tourist area.

All roads and most rail lines in the area were damaged and telephone, water and power lines were broken.

"The blow was tremendous," said the captain of a ship anchored off the coastal town of Bar when the quake struck. "At first I thought some other ship had collided with us or we ran aground . . . I saw the Bar port sink slowly and from over the hills large boulders rolled into the sea."

President Josip Broz Tito, who was on vacation near Herceg-Novi, visited the stricken area and ordered aides to mobilize rescue and relief operations.

Tremors from the quake set buildings swaying as far away as West Germany, Austria and Hungary. In Salonika, Greece, Naples, Italy, and in Belgrade, the Yugoslav capital, people fled into the streets in panic.

In Toronto, fifteen representatives of the Yugoslavian community have pledged $2,200 to assist victims of the earthquake.

The Montenegro Relief Committee is also contacting other Yugoslavian community organizations to seek further assistance.

Brussels Airport Hit by PLO Bomb

BRUSSELS (AP) — Palestinian terrorists hurled a gasoline bomb into the main lobby of Brussels international airport shortly after the arrival of an Israeli airliner from Tel Aviv today, injuring at least 12 persons, Belgian police said.

Officials said the terrorists fought a gun battle with police and two were captured and one or two escaped.

Witnesses said the terrorists stood on a mezzanine overlooking the arrival area and threw the bomb into the crowd below. Some witnesses said there were two explosions and that the terrorists threw a grenade as well.

Police said the captured terrorists claimed to be working for the Palestine Liberation Organization and quoted them as saying the Israeli El Al airliner had been their original target.

The terrorists were unable to attack the plane, police said, because it was parked too far from the terminal — a usual safety precaution by El Al, whose planes Palestinian terrorists consider prime targets.

Israel radio said terrorists opened fire on passengers in the main lobby of the terminal and that El Al security guards returned fire.

In Beirut an explosion early today shattered the main entrance of the John F. Kennedy Cultural Centre in the Lebanese capital.

It was the second attack on a U.S. target in the city since Egypt and Israel signed their peace treaty last month.

A U.S. embassy spokesman said no one was injured in the blast, which occurred just after midnight. There was no one in the building when the blast occurred, he said.

Two Major Blazes Rip Kamloops

KAMLOOPS (CP) — A second major fire to hit this city in less than 48 hours destroyed a building supply dealership today.

Firemen battled blazing lumber, paint and building hardware at City Building Supplies for three hours before bringing the fire under control.

A building containing five businesses was destroyed Saturday night in a blaze that took two hours to control. Smoke covered most of the downtown area and intense heat cracked windows in buildings across the street.

The cause of both fires was unknown but an investigation into the Saturday night fire is to begin Tuesday. There was no immediate word of an investigation into the building supply company fire.

There were no estimates of damage in either blaze and there were no injuries.

U.S. Sunday Drivers Run Dry

Times News Services

American motorists taking an Easter day drive found tight supplies of gasoline in some parts of the country leading to empty fuel tanks and pleas for help.

Phones "were running over" with calls from drivers looking for an open gas station, the emergency road dispatcher for the American Automobile Association (AAA) in Seattle said Sunday. "We can't keep up with it."

State police in the Seattle area were giving motorists one or two gallons to limp into gas stations, but some stations ran out of gasoline.

"Mostly we're getting calls from people nearing empty," said a state patrol communications officer in Seattle. He said stations were open but many were low on stocks of gasoline.

Andrew Bozek, a spokesman for the Chicago Motor Club, said the office had received 10 to 20 calls from motorists stranded because of empty tanks.

Many service stations decided to close on Sundays following recent delivery cutbacks by suppliers. The American Petroleum Institute said last week that gasoline inventories are about 11 per cent below 1978 levels, largely due to the Iranian crisis and high demand.

Most oil companies have limited the amount of fuel they will sell dealers to about 90 per cent of last year's levels, although gasoline demand is rising at an annual rate of four per cent.

The AAA in West Palm Beach, Fla., said many motorists in the area ran out of gasoline.

A spokesman for the Massachusetts state police said at least 400 people called between 3 p.m. and 8 p.m. Sunday to ask if filling stations along the Massachusetts Turnpike were open.

Meanwhile, a survey of prices at 16,700 U.S. gas stations taken earlier this month shows the average price of a gallon of gasoline has jumped about 12 per cent since Jan 1, to 76.22 cents from 67.99 cents an American gallon.

Clark First Back On Trail

Progressive Conservative leader Joe Clark was the first national party leader back on the campaign trail today after an Easter weekend of rest for him, Prime Minister Trudeau and Ed Broadbent, New Democratic Party leader.

(Other federal campaign stories: Page 42.)

Clark flew to Edmonton at mid-day and headed straight to his Yellowhead constituency campaign headquarters at nearby Spruce Grove. Tuesday he will be in Victoria, then campaign through British Columbia, Saskatchewan, Toronto and Quebec.

Trudeau, who spent the weekend with his sons at his Harrington Lake retreat, launches his fourth week of campaigning with a news conference in Ottawa Tuesday. Then he flies to Quebec for a seven-community, two-day [illegible] of election pitches before heading to Newfoundland, Nova Scotia and southern Ontario.

Broadbent revives his election tour in Saskatoon Tuesday before flying to B.C. where he'll campaign for two days, part of the time with B.C. NDP leader David Barrett who is campaigning in the May 10 provincial election. Then he's off to Winnipeg and Thunder Bay before returning to his Toronto-Oshawa base Saturday.

Thousands Fleeing Uganda

KAMPALA (AP) — Thousands of Ugandans are reported fleeing east into Kenya to escape looting and killing in eastern and northern Uganda, still a no-man's-land following the overthrow of Idi Amin.

Refugees arriving in Kenya say the area — about two-thirds of the country — is rife with lawlessness and terror.

Tanzanian officials in Kampala said there has been no organized resistance in Uganda to the provisional government installed last week after Tanzanian troops and their Ugandan-exile allies took over the capital.

But there have been no signs of large-scale troop movements to the north or east to establish the new government's authority there.

Sectarian killings have been reported in the eastern cities of Tororo and Soroti. The victims apparently are Amin's fellow Moslems being killed in retaliation for Amin's massacres of Christian tribes.

Refugees from the north who have fled to Kampala say remants of Amin's army are looting and looking for food.

Amin, on the run from commando squads sent out by the invasion force to bring him in for trial, was last reported at a village in his native northwestern province near the borders with Sudan and Zaire.

On Sunday, Kampala residents turned out in Easter finery to celebrate their liberation from Amin at church services. Their priests urged them to return the goods they have taken from stores, government offices and private homes during the rampage following the capture of Kampala by the invasion force.

During the weekend, the bodies of 200 of Amin's most recent victims were removed from the blood-stained dungeons of the State Research Bureau, the headquarters of his secret police where thousands of prisoners are said to have been tortured and killed. Amin and his men are reputed to have killed between 100,000 and 300,000 Ugandans.

One Survives Pier Accident

RCMP in the northwest Vancouver Island village identifed the victims as John Andrews, 28, and Lindsey Herbert Bailie, 23, both of Sardis, and Robert Tetz, 31 of Zeballos.

The bodies were recovered Saturday by RCMP divers. A fourth man survived the accident.

'Stones' Fans Leave Litter

Tickets went on sale today and auditorium manager Bill Kurelo said he didn't expect the size of crowd that began forming Saturday afternoon and left the parking lot in a mess and a broken railing on the ramp leading to the box office.

"We've had railings damaged before and it can be repaired," he said. "So far, I'm impressed at how well the kids have behaved."

Richards was ordered last year to give the concert for the benefit of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind (CNIB) as part of a sentence for possession of heroin.

Richards, with the rest of the Stones, is giving two concerts April 22 at the auditorium, which seats about 5,000.

Plane Down In Vietnam

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — A Chinese military plane has crashed in Vietnam south of Hanoi, killing the pilot, the official Vietnam radio said Monday. The broadcast said Vietnamese officials were monitoring the plane's flight when it crashed.

The broadcast said Hanoi's foreign ministry had sent a protest note over the incident to Peking. It called on China to cease provocations so that peace talks between the two countries could proceed.

The Voice of Vietnam radio said the plane, bearing the markings of the Chinese air force, violated Vietnamese air space Sunday. It said the aircraft went down in Hai Hau district of Ha Nam Ninh province.

The pilot died in the crash and his body would be returned on humanitarian grounds, the radio said. The type of aircraft and the cause of the crash were not disclosed.

The alleged incident occurred one day after a Chinese delegation arrived in Hanoi to begin peace talks following a four-week war that began Feb. 17 when China invaded Vietnam.

Farm 'Slave Labor' Probe Cooled

VANCOUVER (CP) — A union organizing committee cooled Sunday an announced provincial labor ministry investigation into complaints that Fraser Valley farm workers are toiling under slave-like conditions.

Labor Minister Allan Williams announced the investigation after the International Woodworkers of America organizing committee said about 7,000 employees are being exploited by harvesting contractors.

Committee chairman Raj Chouhan said an all-party committee of the British Columbia legislature reported in 1975 that conditions for farm workers were intolerable and urged a crackdown on unscrupulous labor contractors.

"The fact that the Social Credit government has known about the situation since then and has done nothing shows its total lack of concern for the plight of farm workers," Chouhan said.

Williams said labor standards legislation promised in 1978 will be introduced at the next session of the legislature to give farm workers protection.

Farm workers are not protected under government regulations covering non-union workers. They are excluded from the provincial labor code, the Minimum Wages Act and the Holidays Act.

Fuel Depot Blasted

FORT VICTORIA, Rhodesia (UPI) — Black nationalist insurgents, defying near total mobilization by Rhodesia, blasted part of Rhodesia's second largest oil depot with rocket fire, causing the loss of several thousand gallons of fuel

Firefighters suffered minor injuries and burns but kept a huge blaze under control and by dawn extinguished it although they ran out of foam four hours after the strike.

The attack on the Caltex section of the depot in a dusk-to-dawn curfew area, came on the eve of crucial elections for a black majority rule government that guerrillas have vowed to wreck.

FOR THREE YEARS RUNNING FRONT WHEEL DRIVE HAS MADE HONDA CIVIC THE FRONT RUNNER.

In the past ten years there've been a lot of new car concepts that have come and gone. There's also been one that has come and stayed – the Honda Civic. It not only came to Canada and stayed, but it came and drove to the top and stayed. In fact, for the past three years Honda Civic has been the best selling small car in Canada.

YOU DON'T HAVE TO PUSH WHEN YOU'VE GOT PULL.

Undoubtedly, one of the main reasons for Civic's phenomenal success has been its front wheel drive. (Honda was the first to successfully popularize this concept in Canada.) With Honda's front wheel drive system, the motor and transmission are mounted over the drive wheels, so the weight helps the wheels to bite into the snow or mud and pull the car through it. And because the wheels that are pulling the car are the wheels that are steering the car, you also get much better steering control.

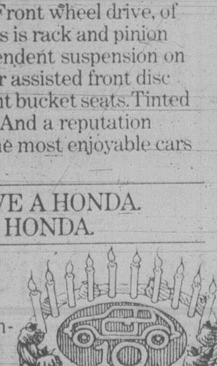
SPECIAL TARTAN INSERTS ON SEATS AND DOORS
SPECIAL METALLIC BLUE/BLACK PAINT
RADIAL TIRES AND SPECIAL WHEEL HUBS
SPECIAL ANNIVERSARY STRIPING

The spring of 1979 marks a rather special time for Honda dealers, because it's the 10th Anniversary of Canadian Honda Motor Ltd. So to help commemorate this special time, we've developed a limited edition of a very special car – the Honda Special X. The Special X comes with special metallic Blue/Black paint. Special striping. Radial tires. Five-speed transmission. A special tartan cloth insert in the seats and doors. A wood grain steering wheel. And many more Special X features. It also comes with all the other features that have helped make Honda the best selling small car in Canada. Front wheel drive, of course, is standard. As is rack and pinion steering. Fully independent suspension on all four wheels. Power assisted front disc brakes. Reclining front bucket seats. Tinted windows. Carpeting. And a reputation that says it's one of the most enjoyable cars in the world to drive.

TEST DRIVE A HONDA. WIN A HONDA.



To commemorate our 10th Anniversary and thank you for making us so phenomenally successful, Honda dealers are having a celebration. And they're giving Hondas away. They're giving away one Special X a week for ten consecutive weeks.† Then they're giving away a Honda Accord Hatchback and a Honda Accord Sedan. They're also giving away one of the exciting new Honda Preludes, the GT car re-thought. And, as if that wasn't enough, they're also giving away 100 Z-50 Honda Mini-Bikes. And to top it all off, everyone who comes in for a test drive during the celebration gets a Honda 10th Anniversary cap.‡

How do you enter? It's a piece of cake. All you have to do is go to your Honda dealers and fill in an entry form. And don't forget to check out the complete line of Hondas available. And take a test drive. You'll see that Honda didn't get to be No. 1 by being second best. Contest ends May 31, 1979.

Refugees from the north who have fled to Kampala say remants of Amin's army are looting and looking for food.

Amin, on the run from commando squads sent out by the invasion force to bring him in for trial, was last reported at a village in his native northwestern province near the borders with Sudan and Zaire.

On Sunday, Kampala residents turned out in Easter finery to celebrate their liberation from Amin at church services. Their priests urged them to return the goods they have taken from stores, government offices and private homes during the rampage following the capture of Kampala by the invasion force.

During the weekend, the bodies of 200 of Amin's most recent victims were removed from the blood-stained dungeons of the State Research Bureau, the headquarters of his secret police where thousands of prisoners are said to have been tortured and killed. Amin and his men are reputed to have killed between 100,000 and 300,000 Ugandans.

One Survives Pier Accident

RCMP in the northwest Vancouver Island village identifed the victims as John Andrews, 28, and Lindsey Herbert Bailie, 23, both of Sardis, and Robert Tetz, 31 of Zeballos.

The bodies were recovered Saturday by RCMP divers. A fourth man survived the accident.

'Stones' Fans Leave Litter

Tickets went on sale today and auditorium manager Bill Kurelo said he didn't expect the size of crowd that began forming Saturday afternoon and left the parking lot in a mess and a broken railing on the ramp leading to the box office.

"We've had railings damaged before and it can be repaired," he said. "So far, I'm impressed at how well the kids have behaved."

Richards was ordered last year to give the concert for the benefit of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind (CNIB) as part of a sentence for possession of heroin.

Richards, with the rest of the Stones, is giving two concerts April 22 at the auditorium, which seats about 5,000.

Plane Down In Vietnam

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — A Chinese military plane has crashed in Vietnam south of Hanoi, killing the pilot, the official Vietnam radio said Monday. The broadcast said Vietnamese officials were monitoring the plane's flight when it crashed.

The broadcast said Hanoi's foreign ministry had sent a protest note over the incident to Peking. It called on China to cease provocations so that peace talks between the two countries could proceed.

The Voice of Vietnam radio said the plane, bearing the markings of the Chinese air force, violated Vietnamese air space Sunday. It said the aircraft went down in Hai Hau district of Ha Nam Ninh province.

The pilot died in the crash and his body would be returned on humanitarian grounds, the radio said. The type of aircraft and the cause of the crash were not disclosed.

The alleged incident occurred one day after a Chinese delegation arrived in Hanoi to begin peace talks following a four-week war that began Feb. 17 when China invaded Vietnam.

Fuel Depot Blasted

FORT VICTORIA, Rhodesia (UPI) — Black nationalist insurgents, defying near total mobilization by Rhodesia, blasted part of Rhodesia's second largest oil depot with rocket fire, causing the loss of several thousand gallons of fuel

Firefighters suffered minor injuries and burns but kept a huge blaze under control and by dawn extinguished it although they ran out of foam four hours after the strike.

The attack on the Caltex section of the depot in a dusk-to-dawn curfew area, came on the eve of crucial elections for a black majority rule government that guerrillas have vowed to wreck.

Farm 'Slave Labor' Probe Cooled

VANCOUVER (CP) — A union organizing committee cooled Sunday an announced provincial labor ministry investigation into complaints that Fraser Valley farm workers are toiling under slave-like conditions.

Labor Minister Allan Williams announced the investigation after the International Woodworkers of America organizing committee said about 7,000 employees are being exploited by harvesting contractors.

Committee chairman Raj Chouhan said an all-party committee of the British Columbia legislature reported in 1975 that conditions for farm workers were intolerable and urged a crackdown on unscrupulous labor contractors.

"The fact that the Social Credit government has known about the situation since then and has done nothing shows its total lack of concern for the plight of farm workers," Chouhan said.

Williams said labor standards legislation promised in 1978 will be introduced at the next session of the legislature to give farm workers protection.

Farm workers are not protected under government regulations covering non-union workers. They are excluded from the provincial labor code, the Minimum Wages Act and the Holidays Act.

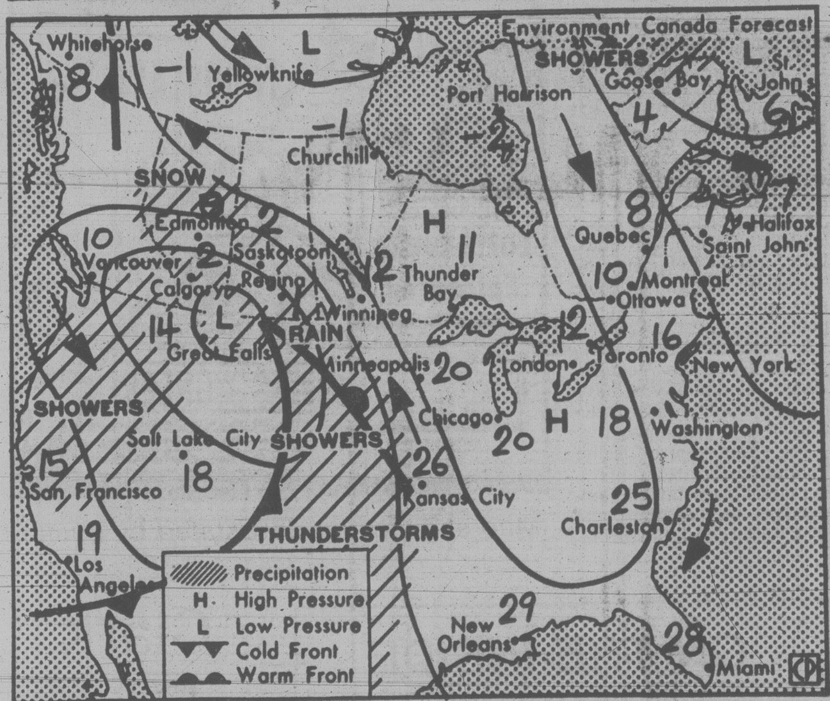

Map valid until noon Tuesday

Some rain was falling over southern regions today ahead of a disturbance moving towards the Oregon coast. Some snow was falling in the Chilcotin-Cariboo region while clear skies were observed further north. The system is forecast to move northeast and skirt the southern regions today and Tuesday. Some improvement should take place Tuesday over the south coast as the system moves east into the Prairies.

FOR THREE YEARS RUNNING FRONT WHEEL DRIVE HAS MADE HONDA CIVIC THE FRONT RUNNER.

In the past ten years there've been a lot of new car concepts that have come and gone. There's also been one that has come and stayed – the Honda Civic. It not only came to Canada and stayed, but it came and drove to the top and stayed. In fact, for the past three years Honda Civic has been the best selling small car in Canada.

YOU DON'T HAVE TO PUSH WHEN YOU'VE GOT PULL.

Undoubtedly, one of the main reasons for Civic's phenomenal success has been its front wheel drive. (Honda was the first to successfully popularize this concept in Canada.) With Honda's front wheel drive system, the motor and transmission are mounted over the drive wheels, so the weight helps the wheels to bite into the snow or mud and pull the car through it. And because the wheels that are pulling the car are the wheels that are steering the car, you also get much better steering control.

SPECIAL METALLIC BLUE/BLACK PAINT
SPECIAL X
RADIAL TIRES AND SPECIAL WHEEL HUBS
SPECIAL ANNIVERSARY STRIPING

The spring of 1979 marks a rather special time for Honda dealers, because it's the 10th Anniversary of Canadian Honda Motor Ltd. So to help commemorate this special time, we've developed a limited edition of a very special car – the Honda Special X. The Special X comes with special metallic Blue/Black paint. Special striping. Radial tires. Five-speed transmission. A special tartan cloth insert in the seats and doors. A wood grain steering wheel. And many more Special X features. It also comes with all the other features that have helped make Honda the best selling small car in Canada. Front wheel drive, of course, is standard. As is rack and pinion steering. Fully independent suspension on all four wheels. Power assisted front disc brakes. Reclining front bucket seats. Tinted windows. Carpeting. And a reputation that says it's one of the most enjoyable cars in the world to drive.

TEST DRIVE A HONDA. WIN A HONDA.

To commemorate our 10th Anniversary and thank you for making us so phenomenally successful, Honda dealers are having a celebration. And they're giving Hondas away. They're giving away one Special X a week for ten consecutive weeks.⁺ Then they're giving away a Honda Accord Hatchback and a Honda Accord Sedan. They're also giving away one of the exciting new Honda Preludes, the GT car re-thought. And, as if that wasn't enough, they're also giving away 100 Z-50 Honda Mini-Bikes. And to top it all off, everyone who comes in for a test drive during the celebration gets a Honda 10th Anniversary cap.⁺

How do you enter? It's a piece of cake. All you have to do is go to your Honda dealers and fill in an entry form. And don't forget to check out the complete line of Hondas available. And take a test drive. You'll see that Honda didn't get to be No. 1 by being second best. Contest ends May 31, 1979.

$5M-$6M Heist Second Biggest

OTTAWA (CP) — Thieves made what is probably the second largest haul in Canadian history Sunday when they took goods valued at between $5 and $6 million from the city's main postal terminal.

Their take was exceeded only by a $10-million theft of bonds, securities and jewelry in May, 1958, from the Brockville, Ont., Trust and Savings Co.

But they left behind a shah's ransom, a post office official said in an interview — between $40 million and $50 million in bullion, stamps, jewelry, cash and drugs.

"They were like kids inside a candy store," the official said. "They didn't know what they were looking for."

With police sharply critical of security in the block-long building in Ottawa's southeast section, the official observed that "any part-time employee or Christmas helper would know the security arrangements on a holiday weekend and what was in the registration room."

What the thieves — police are convinced there were three people involved in what they are terming an inside job — got was between $3 million and $4 million in negotiable American Express money orders and traveller's cheques along with cash, jewelry, minted coin sets and Canadian and foreign passports.

It was all protected by the vigilance of a single unarmed member of the Corps of Commissionaires — drawn exclusively from the ranks of retired military personnel — without even the aid of a burgular alarm system in the building.

The commissionaire was located at the front door of the building located in the southwest corner of the building, so the thieves entered by breaking the glass window beside a door in the northeast corner and pushing the door release bar.

There normally are two commissionaires on duty, but this was reduced to one for the Easter holiday weekend.

Once inside, knowing just where they were going, the thieves then walked up to the third floor, cut the lock off the registration office door and went through a sliding glass window into the working area where the goods were stored in canvas bags and cartons.

Taking their time ripping open the cartons and slicing open the mail sacks, the thieves spent about two hours gathering an estimated 400 pounds of loot in five blue army-style duffel bags before carrying them back down the stairs and out the open back door.

The theft, which took place in the early hours of Sunday morning, was discovered at about 7:30 a.m. by an employee reporting for work.

Police said a passerby saw a four-wheel-drive vehicle with Quebec license plates parked at the back entrance of the post office about the time of the early-morning break-in.

They said they had a good lead on what they thought were three suspects from the Montreal area and only hoped they could get to them before the goods — especially the American Express goods and the passports — went into other hands.

Passports, especially Canadian, have a high value on illegal markets because they are accepted by most

$30M-$50M Stolen

WATERBURY, Conn. (AP) — Thieves stole an estimated $30 million to $50 million in negotiable securities today after shooting and killing three Purolator Security Inc. guards at a company office, the New Haven Register reported.

Police refused to comment on the amount taken, but the newspaper said it had received its estimate from a police investigator who asked not to be identified.

State police and the FBI also refused to comment.

John Connelly, a spokesman for Waterbury police, said at a news conference that an undetermined amount of cash was taken. He declined to say whether any stocks or bonds were stolen.

Connelly said the robbery occurred when the truck arrived at the Waterbury office about 4:30 a.m. with a shipment from Hartford. Two of the slain guards were on the truck and the third was on duty at the depot, he said.

Killer Quake Sweeps Adriatic Spas into Sea

Times News Services

BELGRADE — A series of strong aftershocks today rumbled through the Adriatic coast of Yugoslavia and Albania, devastated by an earthquake that killed at least 235, injured nearly 1,000 and left thousands others homeless.

The aftershocks, measuring 4.8 on the Richter scale, hampered efforts by rescue workers searching for survivors from the worst quake ever to hit Yugoslavia. It struck the Adriatic resort region just before dawn Sunday sending parts of the coast tumbling into the sea.

The quake cut a 100-mile swath of Yugoslavia and Albania, killing 235 — 200 in Yugoslavia and 35 in Albania, and injuring 930 others — 600 in Yugoslavia and 330 in Albania, according to official figures in both nations. Authorities said the toll was expected to rise.

Doctors flown in from across Yugoslavia treated hundreds of injured in makeshift relief centres. Rescue workers, using specially trained dogs, searched more than a dozen coastal towns and villages for survivors or bodies buried in the rubble. Frogmen searched coastal waters for persons whose homes slid into the sea.

The initial 50-second shock tore open hotels, hospitals, factories and homes along the coast. Buildings and roads slid into the sea. There were waves of violent aftershocks, and by evening more than 80 tremors had been reported.

"There is not a single house that has not been damaged in one way or another in Herceg-Novi," said Dusko Seferovic, mayor of the resort town on Kotor Bay.

Local officials said the quake levelled nearly all older buildings in 13 towns along the coast, a popular, sun-drenched tourist area.

All roads and most rail lines in the area were damaged and telephone, water and power lines were broken.

"The blow was tremendous," said the captain of a ship anchored off the coastal town of Bar when the quake struck. "At first I thought some other ship had collided with us or we ran aground . . . I saw the Bar port sink slowly and from over the hills large boulders rolled into the sea."

President Josip Broz Tito, who was on vacation near Herceg-Novi, visited the stricken area and ordered aides to mobilize rescue and relief operations.

Tremors from the quake set buildings swaying as far away as West Germany, Austria and Hungary. In Salonika, Greece, Naples, Italy, and in Belgrade, the Yugoslav capital, people fled into the streets in panic.

In Toronto, fifteen representatives of the Yugoslavian community have pledged $2,200 to assist victims of the earthquake.

The Montenegro Relief Committee is also contacting other Yugoslavian community organizations to seek further assistance.

Brussels Airport Hit by PLO Bomb

BRUSSELS (AP) — Palestinian terrorists hurled a gasoline bomb into the main lobby of Brussels international airport shortly after the arrival of an Israeli airliner from Tel Aviv today, injuring at least 12 persons, Belgian police said.

Officials said the terrorists fought a gun battle with police and two were captured and one or two escaped.

Witnesses said the terrorists stood on a mezzanine overlooking the arrival area and threw the bomb into the crowd below. Some witnesses said there were two explosions and that the terrorists threw a grenade as well.

Police said the captured terrorists claimed to be working for the Palestine Liberation Organization and quoted them as saying the Israeli El Al airliner had been their original target.

The terrorists were unable to attack the plane, police said, because it was parked too far from the terminal — a usual safety precaution by El Al, whose planes Palestinian terrorists consider prime targets.

Israel radio said terrorists opened fire on passengers in the main lobby of the terminal and that El Al security guards returned fire.

In Beirut an explosion early today shattered the main entrance of the John F. Kennedy Cultural Centre in the Lebanese capital.

It was the second attack on a U.S. target in the city since Egypt and Israel signed their peace treaty last month.

A U.S. embassy spokesman said no one was injured in the blast, which occurred just after midnight. There was no one in the building when the blast occurred, he said.

Two Major Blazes Rip Kamloops

KAMLOOPS (CP) — A second major fire to hit this city in less than 48 hours destroyed a building supply dealership today.

Firemen battled blazing lumber, paint and building hardware at City Building Supplies for three hours before bringing the fire under control.

A building containing five businesses was destroyed Saturday night in a blaze that took two hours to control. Smoke covered most of the downtown area and intense heat cracked windows in buildings across the street.

The cause of both fires was unknown but an investigation into the Saturday night fire is to begin Tuesday. There was no immediate word of an investigation into the building supply company fire.

There were no estimates of damage in either blaze and there were no injuries.

Clark First Back On Trail

Progressive Conservative leader Joe Clark was the first national party leader back on the campaign trail today after an Easter weekend of rest for him, Prime Minister Trudeau and Ed Broadbent, New Democratic Party leader.

(Other federal campaign stories: Page 42.)

Clark flew to Edmonton at mid-day and headed straight to his Yellowhead constituency campaign headquarters at nearby Spruce Grove. Tuesday he will be in Victoria, then campaign through British Columbia, Saskatchewan, Toronto and Quebec.

Trudeau, who spent the weekend with his sons at his Harrington Lake retreat, launches his fourth week of campaigning with a news conference in Ottawa Tuesday. Then he flies to Quebec for a seven-community, two-day round of election pitches before heading to Newfoundland, Nova Scotia and southern Ontario.

Broadbent revives his election tour in Saskatoon Tuesday before flying to B.C. where he'll campaign for two days, part of the time with B.C. NDP leader David Barrett who is campaigning in the May 10 provincial election. Then he's off to Winnipeg and Thunder Bay before returning to his Toronto-Oshawa base Saturday.

U.S. Sunday Drivers Run Dry

Times News Services

American motorists taking an Easter day drive found tight supplies of gasoline in some parts of the country leading to empty fuel tanks and pleas for help.

Phones "were running over" with calls from drivers looking for an open gas station, the emergency road dispatcher for the American Automobile Association (AAA) in Seattle said Sunday. "We can't keep up with it."

State police in the Seattle area were giving motorists one or two gallons to limp into gas stations, but some stations ran out of gasoline.

"Mostly we're getting calls from people nearing empty," said a state patrol communications officer in Seattle. He said stations were open but many were low on stocks of gasoline.

Andrew Bozek, a spokesman for the Chicago Motor Club, said the office had received 10 to 20 calls from motorists stranded because of empty tanks.

Many service stations decided to close on Sundays following recent delivery cutbacks by suppliers. The American Petroleum Institute said last week that gasoline inventories are about 11 per cent below 1978 levels, largely due to the Iranian crisis and high demand.

Most oil companies have limited the amount of fuel they will sell dealers to about 90 per cent of last year's levels, although gasoline demand is rising at an annual rate of four per cent.

The AAA in West Palm Beach, Fla., said many motorists in the area ran out of gasoline.

A spokesman for the Massachusetts state police said at least 400 people called between 3 p.m. and 8 p.m. Sunday to ask if filling stations along the Massachusetts Turnpike were open.

Meanwhile, a survey of prices at 16,700 U.S. gas stations taken earlier this month shows the average price of a gallon of gasoline has jumped about 12 per cent since Jan 1, to 76.22 cents from 67.99 cents an American gallon.

Thousands Fleeing Uganda

KAMPALA (AP) — Thousands of Ugandans are reported fleeing east into Kenya to escape looting and killing in eastern and northern Uganda, still a no-man's-land following the overthrow of Idi Amin.

Refugees arriving in Kenya say the area — about two-thirds of the country — is rife with lawlessness and terror.

Tanzanian officials in Kampala said there has been no organized resistance in Uganda to the provisional government installed last week after Tanzanian troops and their Ugandan-exile allies took over the capital.

But there have been no signs of large-scale troop movements to the north or east to establish the new government's authority there.

Sectarian killings have been reported in the eastern cities of Tororo and Soroti. The victims apparently are Amin's fellow Moslems being killed in retaliation for Amin's massacres of Christian tribes.

Refugees from the north who have fled to Kampala say remants of Amin's army are looting and looking for food.

Amin, on the run from commando squads sent out by the invasion force to bring him in for trial, was last reported at a village in his native northwestern province near the borders with Sudan and Zaire.

On Sunday, Kampala residents turned out in Easter finery to celebrate their liberation from Amin at church services. Their priests urged them to return the goods they have taken from stores, government offices and private homes during the rampage following the capture of Kampala by the invasion force.

During the weekend, the bodies of 200 of Amin's most recent victims were removed from the blood-stained dungeons of the State Research Bureau, the headquarters of his secret police where thousands of prisoners are said to have been tortured and killed. Amin and his men are reputed to have killed between 100,000 and 300,000 Ugandans.

One Survives Pier Accident

RCMP in the northwest Vancouver Island village identifed the victims as John Andrews, 28, and Lindsey Herbert Bailie, 23, both of Sardis, and Robert Tetz, 31 of Zeballos.

The bodies were recovered Saturday by RCMP divers. A fourth man survived the accident.

'Stones' Fans Leave Litter

Tickets went on sale today and auditorium manager Bill Kurelo said he didn't expect the size of crowd that began forming Saturday afternoon and left the parking lot in a mess and a broken railing on the ramp leading to the box office.

"We've had railings damaged before and it can be repaired," he said. "So far, I'm impressed at how well the kids have behaved."

Richards was ordered last year to give the concert for the benefit of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind (CNIB) as part of a sentence for possession of heroin.

Richards, with the rest of the Stones, is giving two concerts April 22 at the auditorium, which seats about 5,000.

Plane Down In Vietnam

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — A Chinese military plane has crashed in Vietnam south of Hanoi, killing the pilot, the official Vietnam radio said Monday. The broadcast said Vietnamese officials were monitoring the plane's flight when it crashed.

The broadcast said Hanoi's foreign ministry had sent a protest note over the incident to Peking. It called on China to cease provocations so that peace talks between the two countries could proceed.

The Voice of Vietnam radio said the plane, bearing the markings of the Chinese air force, violated Vietnamese air space Sunday. It said the aircraft went down in Hai Hau district of Ha Nam Ninh province.

The pilot died in the crash and his body would be returned on humanitarian grounds, the radio said. The type of aircraft and the cause of the crash were not disclosed.

The alleged incident occurred one day after a Chinese delegation arrived in Hanoi to begin peace talks following a four-week war that began Feb. 17 when China invaded Vietnam.

Farm 'Slave Labor' Probe Cooled

VANCOUVER (CP) — A union organizing committee cooled Sunday an announced provincial labor ministry investigation into complaints that Fraser Valley farm workers are toiling under slave-like conditions.

Labor Minister Allan Williams announced the investigation after the International Woodworkers of America organizing committee said about 7,000 employees are being exploited by harvesting contractors.

Committee chairman Raj Chouhan said an all-party committee of the British Columbia legislature reported in 1975 that conditions for farm workers were intolerable and urged a crackdown on unscrupulous labor contractors.

"The fact that the Social Credit government has known about the situation since then and has done nothing shows its total lack of concern for the plight of farm workers," Chouhan said.

Williams said labor standards legislation promised in 1978 will be introduced at the next session of the legislature to give farm workers protection.

Farm workers are not protected under government regulations covering non-union workers. They are excluded from the provincial labor code, the Minimum Wages Act and the Holidays Act.

Fuel Depot Blasted

FORT VICTORIA, Rhodesia (UPI) — Black nationalist insurgents, defying near total mobilization by Rhodesia, blasted part of Rhodesia's second largest oil depot with rocket fire, causing the loss of several thousand gallons of fuel

Firefighters suffered minor injuries and burns but kept a huge blaze under control and by dawn extinguished it although they ran out of foam four hours after the strike.

The attack on the Caltex section of the depot in a dusk-to-dawn curfew area, came on the eve of crucial elections for a black majority rule government that guerrillas have vowed to wreck.

FOR THREE YEARS RUNNING FRONT WHEEL DRIVE HAS MADE HONDA CIVIC THE FRONT RUNNER.

In the past ten years there've been a lot of new car concepts that have come and gone. There's also been one that has come and stayed – the Honda Civic. It not only came to Canada and stayed, but it came and drove to the top and stayed. In fact, for the past three years Honda Civic has been the best selling small car in Canada.

YOU DON'T HAVE TO PUSH WHEN YOU'VE GOT PULL.

Undoubtedly, one of the main reasons for Civic's phenomenal success has been its front wheel drive. (Honda was the first to successfully popularize this concept in Canada.) With Honda's front wheel drive system, the motor and transmission are mounted over the drive wheels, so the weight helps the wheels to bite into the snow or mud and pull the car through it. And because the wheels that are pulling the car are the wheels that are steering the car, you also get much better steering control.

SPECIAL TARTAN INSERTS ON SEATS AND DOORS
SPECIAL METALLIC BLUE/BLACK PAINT
RADIAL TIRES AND SPECIAL WHEEL HUBS
SPECIAL ANNIVERSARY STRIPING

The spring of 1979 marks a rather special time for Honda dealers, because it's the 10th Anniversary of Canadian Honda Motor Ltd. So to help commemorate this special time, we've developed a limited edition of a very special car – the Honda Special X. The Special X comes with special metallic Blue/Black paint. Special striping. Radial tires. Five-speed transmission. A special tartan cloth insert in the seats and doors. A wood grain steering wheel. And many more Special X features. It also comes with all the other features that have helped make Honda the best selling small car in Canada. Front wheel drive, of course, is standard. As is rack and pinion steering. Fully independent suspension on all four wheels. Power assisted front disc brakes. Reclining front bucket seats. Tinted windows. Carpeting. And a reputation that says it's one of the most enjoyable cars in the world to drive.

TEST DRIVE A HONDA. WIN A HONDA.

To commemorate our 10th Anniversary and thank you for making us so phenomenally successful, Honda dealers are having a celebration. And they're giving Hondas away. They're giving away one Special X a week for ten consecutive weeks.[+] Then they're giving away a Honda Accord Hatchback and a Honda Accord Sedan. They're also giving away one of the exciting new Honda Preludes, the GT car re-thought. And, as if that wasn't enough, they're also giving away 100 Z-50 Honda Mini-Bikes. And to top it all off, everyone who comes in for a test drive during the celebration gets a Honda 10th Anniversary cap.[‡]

How do you enter? It's a piece of cake. All you have to do is go to your Honda dealers and fill in an entry form. And don't forget to check out the complete line of Hondas available. And take a test drive. You'll see that Honda didn't get to be No. 1 by being second best. Contest ends May 31, 1979.

Throne in a 747? Now That's Flying!

Many of the world's monarchs have done away with conspicuous consumption and ostentatious ornaments. But not the king of Saudi Arabia. King Khalid ibn Abdul Aziz is preparing to take delivery of a $50-million jumbo jetliner, complete with wood-panelled interior, thrones, paintings and a small medical clinic wired for instant satellite communications, the newspaper Seattle Times reports.

A 23-year-old woman without a womb has successfully given birth to a boy, hospital authorities in Taunton, England, announced today. The child was born by caesarean section to Alison Trott 11 months after she underwent surgery for removal of the uterus. She only realized she was pregnant two weeks before the birth, after visiting her doctor with a weight problem. The fetus apparently developed inside a thin pocket of muscular tissue in the mother's abdomen.

Johnny Weissmuller, the former Olympic swimmer who starred as Tarzan in the movies, is now hospitalized and at times "screams, hollers, makes Tarzan-like calls" and frightens hospital employees, says a court petition seeking a conservatorship over him. The petition, filed Friday in Los Angeles Superior Court by Jack E. Staggs, asks that Staggs be appointed as Weissmuller's guardian. Staggs requested a conservatorship so that he can move Weissmuller from the Motion Picture and Television Hospital in suburban Woodland Hills, where he now resides, to a mental care facility.

RONDSTADT
. . . still single

Rock singer Linda Rondstadt arrived in London Sunday night without her travelling companion, California Gov. Jerry Brown, and denied they had married during their just-completed African tour. The governor, 41, and Miss Rondstadt, 32, spent 10 days in East Africa. When asked by reporters whether they had wed, as was speculated, Miss Rondstadt replied: "No, I haven't married him. Would you marry somebody you'd known for just two years?" Both Brown and Miss Rondstadt have said their relationship is a private matter and refused to discuss it.

Yul Brynner has reigned in the musical The King and I for the 2,500th time. The 63-year-old Russian-born actor played the role of the fiercely autocratic king of 19th century Siam at Hollywood's Pantages Theatre Saturday to reach the milestone. The bald-headed actor originated the role on the Broadway stage 28 years ago, with Gertrude Lawrence as the English nanny, Anna, for his numerous children. His co-star in the touring production is Constance Towers.

Sotheby Animal Auction

VEREENIGING, South Africa (AP) — Sotheby of London, famous for auctioning treasured art, will put giraffes and 22 other species of game animals on the block at the Maccauvlei game farm near here next July.

Soetevelde farms is assembling 500 to 600 buffalo, giraffes and game fowl from South-West Africa and South Africa for what is billed as the biggest game auction ever held in South Africa.

CBC Told to Reinstate Reporter Who Got Story

TORONTO (CP) — An arbitrator has ordered the Canadian Broadcasting Corp. to reinstate a television news reporter who was fired last September for continuing a corruption investigation on his own time.

In ordering the reinstatement without back pay of Jock Ferguson, 37, arbitrator Harry Arthurs said professional dedication such as Ferguson had shown contributed to the success of the CBC's news service.

While investigating alleged payoffs to municipal employees by owners of illegal bachelorette apartments in Toronto's west end, Ferguson was assigned to other work on Sept. 5.

In addition to continuing the investigation on his own time, Ferguson said on Sept. 11 in an interview on another television network that he had proof of municipal corruption.

He made similar statements in a complaint to the Canadian Radio-television and Telecommunications Commission about the CBC's decision to reassign him.

On Sept. 27, the CBC fired Ferguson for disobeying a specific order to stop his investigation of the story.

The CBC said he was employing his journalistic skills for his personal interests and also accused him of violating a rule on disclosing information to rival news services.

Ruling on a grievance filed on Ferguson's behalf by the Canadian Wire Service Guild, Arthurs said there had been no divergence between Ferguson's interests and those of the CBC.

Ferguson had disclosed no new information during his interview on the other television network or in his complaint to the CRTC, Arthurs said.

He also said the CBC's orders were "not sufficiently specific to foreclose unpaid work after reglar working hours."

Action Urged on Train-Hop Tots

Times News Services

The mother of two Calgary children who stowed away on a Via Rail train for a ride to Vancouver says something must be done to stop children from such escapades.

Mrs. Valerie Beecher of Calgary said her boys, Tyler, 6, and Shawn, 4, are much too young to be able to take lengthy train rides by themselves.

"Now I'm scared to let them out of my sight," the distraught mother said after meeting her boys at the Calgary international airport where they were taken on board a CP Air flight.

Mrs. Beecher says she is worried that other children may attempt the same kind of ride, adding it has happened before with other children.

The Beecher boys, with nine-year-old Alexander Groves, were found Thursday in Coquitlam, east of Vancouver and turned over to the RCMP. They had managed to stow away aboard the train Wednesday in Calgary.

"They said they wanted to go somewhere to see what it was like," an RCMP spokesman said.

Alexander's father, Alex Groves, says his son has had a tendency lately to take bus rides around Calgary, sometimes during school hours. However, he said he does not think Alexander tries to convince other children to go with him.

Meanwhile, two six-year-old children in Toronto are being kept apart by their parents today after they started a $150,000 factory fire on the weekend.

Both sets of parents claim "the other boy was a bad influence."

"Maybe I should have spanked him more often in the past, but I just don't have the heart. I can't believe he did it," said the parent of one, a single mother.

The second mother said "I spanked my boy twice last night and when I phone my husband and tell him what happened, he will get spanked again."

Stand alone and proud

As former provincial Conservative leader Scott Wallace made quite clear over the weekend, there's nothing new about feuds between the federal Tories and their provincial counterparts.

Indeed those feuds and the lack of support for provincial Tories from the federal wing of the party were one of the main reasons that Wallace finally abandoned politics to return to the practice of medicine.

Just about every political observer in B.C. knows that a loose alliance exists between the provincial Socreds and federal Conservatives — as, oddly, it does between the provincial Socreds and federal Liberals. These alliances are the last remnants of the Majority Movement, based on the principle that in B.C. provincial politics, all private enterprise parties must unite to keep the socialist NDP out of office.

Hence, there was really little new in current Tory leader Vic Stephens' disclosures last week that there was some type of vague conspiracy between his federal cohorts (including leader Joe Clark) and the provincial Socreds under which federal candidates were being definitely discouraged from supporting provincial Conservative candidates rather than Socreds.

As was to be expected, Clark, Premier Bill Bennett, and Socred party president Les Keen all denied the existence of such a conspiracy. It didn't really matter. The conspiracy is probably not as formal as Stephens believes, but the loose alliance undoubtedly exists.

The question is whether Stephens did himself any political good by his efforts to expose it.

Stephens has been making some gains since he took over as leader of the Tories; he might be able to pick up a significant number of votes on May 10. They are votes that will come from people equally discouraged by three years of Socred government and the previous three years of NDP rule.

Those people, however, want to cast their protest vote for someone who is credible, who is proposing alternative programs to those of the Socreds and NDP, who may not stand a chance of forming the government this time but who shows some hope for the future.

They don't want to vote for someone caught up on the treadmill of internal politics within his party, someone whose main concern seems to be tedious conspiracies, someone who can't even gain support from the federal leader of his own party. Stephens' public disclosures only point out more clearly the weaknesses of his party.

Stephens and his small band of provincial Tories do stand alone. The voters already know that. It may be part of the reason why some can identify with them and even admire them.

It's the citizens' turn

A round of congratulations to Victoria council for its unanimous decision last week to seek public input before deciding on the future use of the Carnegie library building.

It was particularly pleasant to see Ald. Robin Blencoe and Bob Wright combine amicably on the motion to encourage the public to contribute suggestions, since they were the two who had previously been battling over the best way to decide the issue. On Thursday, however, Wright seconded Blencoe's motion which will give the public about five weeks to submit their ideas.

Now it is up to the citizens of Victoria to carry the ball. Some suggestions for future use of the building have already been made: Wright has said it might be sold and turned into professional offices or a restaurant; Blencoe has proposed that it remain in public use, either as a civic archives and museum or as a cultural centre.

Residents of Victoria may be impressed by one or more of these ideas. If so, they should write to encourage council to pursue the proposals further. Other residents may have other ideas. Now is the time to submit them. Other community groups might see uses to which they could profitably put the building. Let them put in their bids.

Council members have agreed that proposals do not need to be detailed at this stage. What they are looking for is the widest possible range of ideas to help in making the final decision.

Council has given Victoria citizens an excellent opportunity to participate in planning the future of a significant historical building. Those who do not take that opportunity should not complain if they don't like the final decision in the matter.

RICHARD GWYN

Aboard the aluminum pod

Peter M and Peter Lloyd
We count on you to fill the void
If there's no substance, it matters not

OTTAWA — For reporters covering election campaigns, the weekends are the hardest part. We come home, and discover that nobody wants to talk about the election campaign.

Each Monday, we all clamber back into the aluminum pod that will whip us about the country like a supercharged yoyo, and all of us, the candidate up front, aides in the middle, reporters in the back, spend a week talking about nothing but the election campaign. Between politicians and the press, there is on both sides a certain suspicion and condescension, but at the same time a common comaraderie. We are like a wandering lost tribe which hasn't noticed that no one else has noticed that it is lost.

Where Trudeau goes, so go microphones and cameras.

Belongs to media

In his book about the 1972 presidential election, Fear and Loathing on the Campaign Trail, Hunter Thompson grabbed hold of part of the truth. He wrote: "The only people who seem genuinely interested in the elections are the actual participants — the candidates, their staff people, the journalists, cameramen and other media-connected hustlers humping the campaign along."

Maybe the full truth is even more disconcerting. Maybe the reason the public no longer participates in election campaigns — as is the implication of Thompson's comment — is that the public knows that election campaigns no longer belong to it. Election campaigns now belong to the media. Maybe, indeed, election campaigns have become a fantasy, created by and for the media — eight weeks of sound and images signifying nothing except column inches and broadcast minutes.

For the media, election campaigns have, as Thompson went on to write, "a weird, junkie, addictive quality." We got hooked by the glamor of the late John F. Kennedy's campaign in 1960; now we overdose on elections.

In the process, politics has become telepolitics, a hybrid of medium and message, in which candidates no longer talk to the voters; they talk at the voters through the media.

● To give the pair of reporters celebrated in the song, Peter Lloyd of CTV and Peter Mansbridge of CBC, a shot to which, as both sides knew, there would be no substance, Clark last week exhausted himself by a six-hour flight from Quebec City to Fort McMurray. This crazy trip was necessary to Clark because CBC and CTV would be able to film him touring a tar sands plant, which meant action footage, which meant that the clip would be used near the top of the 11 o'clock television newscasts.

● The combined advertising budgets of the three parties, for what are called revealingly "media campaigns," is about $5 million. Most of the money will be spent on television commercials, all of them filmed deliberately to look as alike as possible to the television news clips that Lloyd and Mansbridge routinely send back, because, as surveys show, television newscasts have the highest credibility among all sources of information.

There's nothing new to the obeisance that all the parties are paying to television in this election. Nor is the media's obeisance to the election campaign new. Quite new, though, is that in this campaign the media is for the first time paying obeisance to the media.

A Vancouver journalist, Clive Cocking, is writing a book about us. The National Film Board is making a film about us. The CBC is making a television program about us. One segment of this program will show a CBC crew shooting at one of those "photo opportunity" sessions staged by each candidate to get himself onto the evening newscasts; this shot of a CBC crew in action will be shot — how else? — by another CBC crew. Presumably, Cocking will write about the CBC taking shots of itself, while the NFB films all three.

Neutral observers?

Most times, the media are coy about talking about, and looking at, themselves. We prefer to think of ourselves as neutral observers looking up from the pit at the political actors on stage, and hence undeserving of attention — even though we know this to be bunkum.

Maybe we are prepared at last to look at ourselves because we sense that, now that we've moved up onto the stage with the politicians, the public isn't watching any longer. We have pushed the public out of election campaigns, so, to keep the show going, we have to watch ourselves.

Mind you, now that I've found that nobody wants to talk about the election, I'm ready to clamber back aboard that aluminium pod.

Septage problems

I would like to take this opportunity to convey my neighbors' and my opposition to the septage disposal area proposed for Helmcken Road.

This is prime residential land; we who were pro-sewer advocates have fought for years to have sewers installed with the enthusiastic encouragement of the Capital Regional District (CRD). When we were finally successful, to have the CRD propose this obscenity is worse than a slap in the face.

An untended dumping facility such as envisaged by the CRD leaves the immediate area open to several unpleasant prospects — parasitic infections of various kinds, all of which are contracted by ingestion of fecal material through the mouth, skin or most predominantly through the soles of bare feet.

The new overpass will conveniently funnel any pedestrian traffic directly past this installation. If a truck valve is not completely shut off, or an overflow occurs, a lot of local residents and hospital patients could reap some very exotic problems.

Also, decomposing organic material creates heat, and heat and the nutrients of sewage provide a perfect culture media similar to an agar plate in a laboratory. What potential virus or bacterial matter could inadvertently be grown and transported to surrounding residences or the new acute care hospital is open for speculation.

This large, untended tank will undoubtedly attract a number of undesirable insects, the most common of course will be several varieties of disease-spreading flies. Fly control will eventually be necessary and what is recommended for flies?

Where flies are a problem the most practical solution is the removal of decaying organic material, polluted ground and human or animal excrement. Failing this, chlorinated hydrocarbons, organo phosphates and carbamates are recommended in coarse, heavy, liquid sprays, plus various baits of the same materials.

A small unnamed creek which is just below the site proposed and empties into the top of Portage Inlet will eventually be the recipient of these chemicals by run-off or leaching and discharge them into a federal bird sanctuary and trout spawning area! What a pleasant prospect!

I am not crying wolf nor am I saying any of these things will happen; what I am saying is why should the citizens of View Royal have a potential disaster thrust into their midst? — R. E. Preece, 18 Stillwater Road.

It's propaganda

I received the so-called B.C. Government News last week, and I object! It was not government news, but Social Credit propaganda. As a B.C. taxpayer I object to my taxes being used to pay for Social Credit propaganda during an election.

Under the heading "Government Expands Commitment to People" this publication claims B.C. has the best health care in Canada. Nowhere in the following paragraphs do they set out to prove this claim. We, the people, know that hospitals have been restricted to a five per cent increase when inflation is nine per cent. We know that this has resulted in patients being bedded down in busy corridors because there is no room for them in proper wards. We know that nurses are being worked off their feet.

The publication lauds the financial aid to education but fails to mention that every year since Social Credit has been in power, the percentage of educational costs paid by the provincial government has decreased leaving the property owner with a larger share of the educational costs to pay.

The publication speaks of a new era in forest management but we still find Forests Minister Waterland endorsing clear cutting of forests on steep mountain slopes, a procedure guaranteed to destroy the forest-carrying capacity of the mountainside for years (if not centuries) to come — to say nothing of what this policy does to the salmon streams below.

The publication congratulates the province on the salmonid enhancement program. But the provincial government is spending only $7½ million over five years on this program while the federal government is spending $150 million in the same period. In the meantime the provincial forest department goes about its shortsighted policy in the Queen Charlottes of wiping out salmon-spawning rivers faster than the salmonid enhancement program can replace them.

Speaking of this year's budget promises, the publication says "Small Business is a Major Priority." Nowhere does it mention the policy of the Socred government towards small business during the past three years when these small businesses have been going bankrupt at a record rate.

So we see throughout this whole document — this so-called B.C. Government News — examples of misrepresentation, slanted reporting and half truths. The definition of such methods of reporting is "propaganda." — J. Philip Fawcett, 57 Wellington Street.

Ship via . . .

"Ship via" — remember these words, because they will scuttle any Canadian merchant marine that Canada wants to, or will, build.

On every bill of lading that I have read, the words "Ship via" were always on the letterhead.

This means what it says: the customer has his choice of transportation, anything from dog team to jet planes.

The Japanese are buying our coal at present; does anyone believe that Japan will tie up their boats just to use ours? If we should force them to do so, Canada would lose that customer.

Canada is an exporting nation and as such must ship its goods the way that the customers demand. I have been informed that Canada exports about 90 per cent of its produce.

Government aid to shipyards would be a waste of money.

Our shipyards are still working with 1940 equipment and no updating in the yard has taken place since then. The Canadian yards are just repair depots and unless a great change takes place they will never be competitive.

In Japan an oil tanker would be in service before the first pattern came off our loft floors.

The money for any aid to shipyards should be spent on sending people to Japan and Sweden to learn their methods, then come home and show us how to build ships on a competitive basis.

I have always thought that two fully modern shipbuilding yards should be built, one on the east coast and the other on the west coast. These would be for new constructon only, and our present yards be used just for repairs.

Giving aid to any industry is only a stopgap. — Fred H. Boulter, 808 Brock Ave.

Mal de mer

Your eloquent article on the Inside Passage (April 7) led us to call the Queen of Prince Rupert in eager anticipation only to learn — there is no room on the Queen.

I'm hard put to understand your featuring the excursion in such an extravagant fashion. Was publication of the feature delayed from a happier time when booking was possible, or did the writer, in his enthusiasm, fail to ascertain whether there was space for interested readers? The former appears to be the case, for it says here, "Book ahead, weeks if possible." There are not many weeks between April 7 and the end of May.

Whatever the cause, it looks like irresponsible reporting. A plague o' the Times, and may mal de mer go with Alek de March on his next Voyage of Discovery. — Betsy Newbeck, Victoria.

(Editor's Note: Our apologies. The booking situation should have been re-checked prior to publication. Sailings resume Oct. 2 and reservations should be made early.)

Unethical

The Times of April 5 on page 17, informs your readers that our prime minister has made several appointments of Liberals to various high positions after the dissolution of parliament and the calling of a general election for May 22.

It should be up to the voting public to demand of all our political leaders to stop immediately this highly unethical form of patronage.

Even Liberal candidates in all constituencies across Canada should join in the request to end a practice which has been tolerated and condoned up to this day.

Once an election is called, no reward appointments should be allowed until after the results of the election are known.

Doesn't honesty mean anything anymore? If it were legally possible, all the awards given after the general election was called should be declared void for the time being, until after the vote, when a re-elected or a new government can confirm or cancel the appointments.

Of course, those Liberals who accepted them are as much to blame as the giver looking for votes. — E. J. Lattes, 432-200 Dallas Road.

Less service

I would like to have something explained to myself and others. Why do B.C. Ferries give more service to their lowest paying passengers? We who board the ferries in cars have to arrive early, sometimes hours early, to sit in line, board the ferries last and finally get upstairs to find we can't find seats or get anything to eat and end up sitting in our cars for a hour and 40 minutes. For this service, a couple pays $15 passage.

Walk on or bus passengers don't have to arrive early, don't have to wait in line, get on the ferry first to sit or eat whichever they prefer, and for this preferential service pay the large fare of $2 each. It doesn't make sense. — B. Margarette Smith, Victoria.

Cadborosaurus

I would greatly appreciate hearing from your readers who have had a recent or past encounter with your infamous Caddy.

I have been investigating sightings of the Okanagan monster, Ogopogo for the past six years and have published a book on the subject. Lake or sea monsters are not at all an unusual phenomenon as there are hundreds of bodies of water in the world that acclaim to such sightings. As the Ogopogo and Caddy are extremely similar in almost every physical characteristic, my interest in the Vancouver Island monster is naturally heightened.

I hope to include many of the accounts that your readers can send out to me in a book exclusively on the Cadborosaurus. If they can include a sketch or photograph of their encounter it would also be greatly appreciated. I would also like to hear from people who have heard stories or legeneds passed down from their grandparents on the sea monsters. —Arlene B. Gaal, 1035 Neptune Road, Kelowna.

Radical chic finds cause in feminism

By LINDA BLANDFORD
Manchester Guardian

NEW YORK — It has come to my attention that America's perennial moppet, John Denver, is touring Britain at the moment. You too can share the experiences of First Deputy Premier Deng Xiaoping, the massed audiences of the Grammy awards and, coming soon, the unsuspecting denizens of Peking, in being exposed to the wholesome political philosophies of America's best-loved blond. He will also sing.

There is nothing new, of course, in the notion of the culture hero awakening to realities beyond de luxe hotel suites and the dressing-room. Mere mention of Bob Dylan and Joan Baez, or of Leonard Bernstein throwing a bash for the Black Panthers would suffice.

What is off-putting these days is the trying on of causes as if of new wardrobes. No self-respecting entertainer can afford to be seen without one. He who was once into zip-up lurex, now wears ecology. He who embraced double cashmere, now dangles solar energy next to his heart.

It is the era of the sanitized, no-risk commitment. A decade or so ago there was radical chic. John Denver for brotherly love, EST, nature and freedom from hunger (however well-meaning) is about as controversial as Superman for "truth, justice and the American way."

Still, it does give anyone something for the talk shows. Do not underestimate this consideration. You can't go on TV with Johnny, Merv, Mike, Dinah, Dick and Phil time after time without something new to fill those obligatory moments of deep sincerity between the anecdotes and the plug.

As a result, causes are subject to fashion's whim. A lot of perfectly decent ones the thoroughly modern entertainer couldn't touch with a barge pole any more. Whales? They're out. American Indians? Old hat. Blacks are too tricky, even when safely out of the way in South Africa, and torture is too messy for prime time. Alaska's in these days, so are baby seals; but nothing, absolutely nothing is quite as in at present as ERA.

For some reason, the Equal Rights Amendment is the trendiest cause of the moment — perhaps because it now seems almost certain to be lost. ERA has become a symbol.

If you like women, you're for ERA. It is important because the women's movement says it is. It is the perfect cause for show-biz types who want to be thought of as serious without (heaven forbid) jeopardizing their bankability.

Thus we have ERA fund-raising parties in Beverley Hills, actresses who are no longer resting but working for ERA (largely by being photographed going to ERA parties) and still other actresses who are to be seen huddled in corners with corporation presidents whom, it seems, they are persuading not to hold conventions in unratified states. The joy of ERA for the busy entertainer, who has to fit it in between the masseur and the shrink, is that it's so snappy. Anyone can memorize 24 little words.

For those who might have dozed through the ERA saga, perhaps this is the moment to recap. Those 24 words of the amendment proposed by Congress have been called the most misunderstood since "one size fits all". What they say is: Equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex."

They are misunderstood by both sides. Supporters claim that they will alter the whole social order as it unfairly affects women. That is, of course, either naive or downright disingenuous. Opponents content themselves with mutterng darkly about unisex public lavatories, which probably tells you something about them.

By June 30, 1982, 38 states must ratify the amendment for it to pass. So far, 35 have; nine have defeated it, six have ignored it. Several states that have ratified might like to change their minds and it seems destined to be lost.

The important thing about ERA is that you have to know about it in the same way as you have to know not to wear Gucci loafers with gilt buckles any more. It has become another social nicety. It is an absolute no-no, for instance, to go to an unratified state. Anyone heading for Louisiana must be careful to talk of going to Pennsylvania.

Old Manhattan hands and other celebrities can breathe in these nuances as easily as the lead content in the polluted air. Others of us find it more difficult. A few months ago it was treacherous for the socially insecure to venture into a New York wine shop unless armed with the exact information concerning which Californian wines were being boycotted by order of Cesar Chavez and his United Farmworkers and, more significantly, by Jane Fonda. Some smart-ass would always get you just as your hand was straying to the wrong bottle. "Hey, lady, don't you care about the grape workers?"

Now that Gallo wines have settled, now that Fonda has so retired from the fray as to let her daughter join the Brownies, the grape pickers are another forgotten cause. Pickers are out, period. Chavez is currently running a strike for the woefully hard-pressed lettuce workers. It hasn't caught on. You can safely buy all the Blue Goose Imperial heads you want. The only thing a lettuce grower can do wrong now is grow in an unratified state.

The one way left to visit these forbidden territories is to enlist as "a foot solider in the army of ERA." The catchy phrase was brought to the faithful recently by the well-known trooper, Mr. Alan Alda (I'm not for feminism, I am a feminist"). Some may think of Alda only as an actor — MASH, California Suite, Same Time, Next Year. We who care about our causes know him as the man who went to North Carolina last month to lend his presence to the fight for ERA (it lost).

Afterwards he came to speak at a lunch in Manhattan organized by a women's group, an offshoot of the women's political caucus. He told us all, yet again, about ERA, the 24 words and the fear of unisex public lavatories.

"Men of good will do not understand that it is our problem," he said amidst tumultuous applause from a hall full of women. "This is an emergency. I'm asking for your passion. Let's get the will to win off the field of war and into the field of politics where people can benefit by it." For some reason, all I could think about was how nice his hair looked glinting in the floodlights) in the centre of the stage.

Endgame begins for the last tycoon: Never say never

By WILLIAM SAFIRE
New York Times

FORD

Henry Ford II, the most famous businessman in the world, puts his philosophy in a stoical, arrogant aphorism: "Never complain, never explain."

He has flung that phrase at reporters seeking to discover what dynastic obsession causes him to fire the presidents of his company when they become too strong; at stockholders charging that it is wrong for a billionaire to charge lavish "perks" and parties for politicians to their business; at probers wondering whether the man at the top had anything to do with a million-dollar bribe paid to an Indonesian general, and its attempted coverup.

Let's see how one of the last of the corporate autocrats has been doing with his crusty credo.

On the criminal-investigation front: In a drab building across the street from the massive FBI headquarters in Washington, a federal grand jury has long been looking into the bribery of foreign officials by U.S. businessmen, especially at ITT and Ford.

The Ford Co., it is suspected, paid a million-dollar bribe to an Indonesian general, and then systematically began misleading U.S. government investigators about it; Ford vehemently denies this. Key to the case is former Ford executive Paul Lorenz, who is thought by the Justice Department to have arranged the payment, and was subsequently dismissed by Ford; however, more than a year later, at what may have been the handwritten direction of Henry Ford himself, the fired executive was paid $100,000.

Harold, Webb, the fraud section attorney working with the bribery grand jury, is known throughout Justice's Criminal Division as a man with "the slows;" his boss, Richard Beckler, is no speed demon himself. After 16 months, they have this much to show:

First, Justice sources hint that Lorenz has been given immunity from prosecution. This means he cannot refuse to testify on grounds of self-incrimination; he either tells the truth or goes to jail. This also means that the prosecutors are aiming at the man who may have given the original order and plotted the various obstructions of justice.

Second, the slow-spinning Webb and his aide met last month with Lee Iacocca, whom Henry Ford fired as president of Ford (The stated reason: "I just don't like you") and who has since become president of Chrysler. In the three-hour session, the government learned what Henry Ford told his company president about the Indonesian payment in a face-to-face meeting on Sept. 27, 1975, and where corroboration from a third party could be obtained.

The Justice Department learned, too, that Iacocca has been a careful diarist, and was willing to make available contemporaneous notes. Lawyers at Justice assume that Henry Ford knows what Lee Iacocca knows about the top man's activities in Indonesia, but do not expect to ask Ford to testify.

On the stockholders' front: Ford is expected to show up at his company's annual meeting next month to face a barrage of questions from lawyer Roy Cohn, representing stockholders who challenge what they consider Ford's use of the corporation as his personal playground.

On the Family Front: Henry's plan seems to be to retire as chief executive this year (small wonder), turn the company over to his brother, William Clay Ford, and remain as eminence grise until his son, 30-year-old Edsel, is ready for power. Thus, "outsiders" — who only own 88 per cent of the company — would be kept from power.

But a problem arose when Henry's brother Benson died last year. Benson Jr., 29, did not like the way the family lawyer changed his father's will in 1975 to put the voting power of that huge block of stock ultimately in Henry's hands.

I had lunch the other day with Benson Ford Jr., his three business associates, and the attorney Benson had that morning retained to help defend his personal interests — Roy M. Cohn, Esq.

Why had Henry Ford's nephew hired his uncle's worst enemy? "Because Roy Cohn's a tough s.o.b.," replied Benson Ford Jr., "And this is not a gentleman's game any more. It's total war."

Now the endgame begins for the last tycoon: The dissident stockholders have joined forces with a dissident family member of the next generation, even as leaden-footed, web-footed Justice close in, aided by the vivid memories of all those humiliated by motorcar royalty.

Required by law to explain, Henry Ford may finally begin to complain.

It's only pocket money

russell baker

NEW YORK — A curious side effect of inflation is the psychological change that occurs in the human attitude toward money. It is as if we have built-in psychological defences to protect us against the mental ravages threatened by declining currency.

Recently, for example, without even noticing it, I abandoned the habit of carrying all paper money in my wallet and took to stuffing bills of $1 and $5 denominations into my trousers pocket, which in the past had been habitually reserved for items of small value, like coins.

In my rigidly organized psychological system, the wallet was the repository for things of value — paper money, credit cards, permits, issued by the more terrifying bureaucracies, lists of clothing sizes of persons who might retaliate if holidays and their birthdays were not observed with gift presentations, instructions for shipment of the remains in case of abrupt demise in some remote location, and so forth.

The pants pocket, more easily, more thoughtlessly accessible to the right-hand, has always been the place for things whose loss would not be a disaster. Toothpicks collected from the delicatessen counter, coins, chewing gum wrappers, lint and messages to telephone editors, lawyers and agents immediately.

* * *

The fact that coins were relegated to this pocket reflected an earlier inflation that must have occurred during the 1940's. Before World War II, I distinctly remember treating coins with great respect. In fact, I can still remember every detail of a day in 1935 — the sun was shining and there was a slight Autumn nip — when I looked down and saw a dime gleaming up from the sidewalk. I have never felt so rich again.

In any case, at that time coins were stored in one of those small fake-leather coin purses associated with caricatures of the miser. By 1945, however, they had been relegated to the pocket with the toothpicks and lint.

By that time my psychological organization had been expanded to include a wallet, an accessory so alien during the pre-war years that it was associated only with bankers and gangsters. The wallet was the place for what was then known as folding money. "Real money," it was called. Real money was a dollar.

* * *

A year or so ago, I began noticing dollar bills turning up among the coins and lint, having been stuck there thoughtlessly, with casual contempt, as stuff not worth the dignity of place in the wallet. Obviously, my psychological system was undergoing a change of which I was scarcely conscious. Without any conscious thought at all, I had marked the dollar down to the value of flotsam, or perhaps only jetsam.

Then, a couple of months ago, reaching in the pocket for a dollar to buy a magazine that used to cost 25 cents, I was startled to come up with a $5 bill.

The thing was obviously spreading, like one of those monstrous diseases from outer space that bemuse writers of science fiction thrillers. Several times after that I had the same experience — going into pocket for a dollar and coming out with a $5 bill.

At first, somewhat alarmed, I stuffed the big bill into the wallet, but it left me uncomfortable. What, after all, was a $5 bill any more? Did it deserve the dignity of the wallet? Every time you hopped out of a cab after sitting motionless for 20 minutes in rush-hour traffic, you had to come across with a $5 bill.

The wallet should be reserved for more powerful stuff than this. At the rate people were demanding $5 bills, you could wear out a wallet in two weeks if you had to manhandle it for each demand.

The $5 bill went permanently to the pants pocket along with the lint, toothpicks, the ridiculous pennies and quarters and the wretched, bloodless, decaying, unworthy one dollar bills.

This created immense psychological relief. When one stopped thinking of $5 bills as "real money," the pain and outrage occasioned by being charged $1.25 for a copy of Newsweek, $6 for a pound of veal and $3.50 to sit 20 minutes in a taxi without shock absorbers or springs became almost tolerable.

* * *

Not long ago when a waiter brought me a $135 bill for dinner for six, I scarcely even screamed, and I no longer look with awe upon fellow New Yorkers who pay $110 a month for parking space for their cars. The people across the street who rent two-bedroom apartments for $2,200 a month still leave me agape in such wonder as will be dispelled, I suppose, only when I shift the $20 bills from wallet to pocket.

Markets Closed

Toronto

Trading in Kerr Addison Mines Ltd. resumed at 10:30 a.m. after a brief halt for dissemination of news that the company will not pay a dividend in the second quarter. It reported a loss in the first quarter of $1.176 million, including an expenditure of $4.268 million on its Agnew Lake property.

Kerr Addison A fell ¾ to $9⅞ by 2 p.m.

Among industrials, Imperial General Properties dropped 3½ to $17½, Falconbridge Nickel A 1¾ to $51½, General Motors 1 to $65½, Hudson's Bay Co. 1 to $30¼ and Dome Petroleum ¾ to $124½.

Canadian Occidental Petroleum rose 3 to $31, Canada Packers 2 to $29, Universal Sections ⅞ to $8, Inco Ltd. ⅛ to $23¾ and Venpower 25 cents to $2.85.

McIntyre Mines Ltd. declined 1¼ to $45¼, Teck Corp. A ½ to $14 and Gibraltar Mines ⅜ to $8⅜. Afton Mines advanced ⅞ to $17¾ and Conwest Exploration ¼ to $5¾.

New York

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market lapsed into a broad decline amid expectations of further credit-tightening by the Federal Reserve Board.

The Federal Reserve's policy-making Open Market Committee is scheduled to hold its monthly meeting Tuesday.

In view of the surge in the inflation rate so far this year, many analysts were predicting that the central bank would decide to exert new upward pressure on interest rates.

Anticipation of such a move depressed the bond market last week, and put a damper on the stock market's recent rally. The Dow Jones industrial average ended a five-week stretch of gains with a drop of 5.19 points last week.

Montreal

MONTREAL (CP) — Prices slipped considerably in light afternoon trading on the Montreal Stock Exchange, with the composite index dropping 1.08 to 248.76.

Volume was 143,607 shares traded, compared with 263,988 shares traded up to the same time Thursday.

VANCOUVER

VANCOUVER (CP) — Prices were mixed in moderately active trading today on the Vancouver Stock Exchange.

In the industrials, Ardiem Industries Corp. was unchanged at .16 on 5,000 shares and Hal Roach Studios gained .25 at $3.05 on 4,600. Austin Investment Corp. rose .01 at .63 on 3,500 shares and International Ionarc Inc. was unchanged at .44 on 3,000. Northway Gestalt was unchanged at $1 and Computrex Centres was unchanged at .23.

On the resource and development board, Pacific Cypress advanced .25 at $1.35 on 67,300 shares and New Frontier Exploration jumped .35 at $3.85 on 67,250. Cosmos Resources was up .14 at .97 on 62,145 shares and Saxton Industries was up .07 at .75 on 38,000. Iona Silver Mines Warrants was unchanged at .11 and Continental Silver was up .15 at $4.80.

On the curb exchange, Nor-Quest Resources was up .01 at .78 on 15,000 shares and Cannon Resources fell .02 at .33 on 15,000. Trident Resources rose .02 at .52 on 14,000 shares and Gavex Gold Mines was up .01 at .32 on 13,000. Jet-Star Resources was up .03 at .50 and Totem Industries was up .01 at .86.

Outlook Better For Next Year

MONTREAL (CP) — The outlook for the country's economy is much brighter for 1980 than for this year, says the Provincial Bank of Canada's Focus on the Economy.

The economy is slowing down despite the dollar's higher value, a slower rate of inflation and the expected interest rate decreases at the end of 1979, the study says.

But consumer and investment spending, which makes up 80 per cent of national expenditures, will lag considerably while slower employment growth will push the unemployment rate to 8.8 per cent and keep personal income down, the bank predicts. The public sector deficit will soar while the balance of payments will stay in a "precarious position."

However, the outlook for 1980 is bright because of interest cuts foreseen for the end of 1979 and a relatively short slowdown in the United States economy, the forecast says. It expects the gross national product to grow next year by between four per cent and five per cent.

The go-ahead will finally be given in 1980 to long-awaited projects to develop energy resources and investment in other sectors will also strengthen, the bank predicts.

Also forecast by the bank is the continued appreciation of the dollar relative to its U.S. counterpart, a shrinking federal treasury deficit and a more "accommodating" monetary policy.

Tides Help Mop Spill, But More Poised

SYDNEY, N.S. (CP) — Crews working to clean up beaches near here got an unexpected break Sunday, when they realized tidal action had washed much of the oil staining the Cape Breton shore to sea.

However, while some of the beached oil was swept away, spotters in helicopters found other concentrations offshore that could renew the threat to the scenic Cape Breton coast.

Gordon Stevens, pollution officer for the Canadian Coast Guard, said winds were moving a concentration of oil then floating about 3.5 kilometres seaward.

Although it has not been officially confirmed, the oil is believed to have originated from the wrecked tanker Kurdistan, which broke up in the Cabot Strait on March 15.

An estimated 7,000 tons of oil are believed to have been lost when the Kurdistan broke in two, while another 17,000 tons were safely pumped out of the tanker's stern section at Port Hawkesbury, N.S.

The stern now is at Saint John, N.B., where the owners hope to rebuild the bow section.

Strips of oil were reported floating along much of Cape Breton's southeast shoreline, but Stevens said a large slick that had been poised just outside Sydney harbor had disappeared with the tide early Sunday morning.

But there has already been some damage from the oil. Sydney residents and crews from the environment department have reported finding numerous dead sea birds on beaches, particularly in the Sydney Mines area.

Officials, expecting heavy pollution damage here, assembled equipment that included slick moppers and a collecting barge to pick up the oil if it moved closer to shore.

As well, local manpower centres were told to assemble 100 men to help in the beach cleanup, but as the oil moved away, the measure was called off. About 60 persons now are involved in the operation, which is expected to continue for at least a week.

Much of the oil is congealed or semi-hard, and is being picked up by crews using shovels. Once it is recovered, it is put in plastic garbage bags, and trucked to local landfills where it is bulldozed under.

Offshore oil caught on ice is being collected with a barge using backhoes.

There is a certain urgency to the operation. While the damage to fish stocks such as lobster is yet unknown, officials say they want the beaches cleared while the oil is still in its toffee-like state.

Roy Daniells Dies

VANCOUVER (CP) — Roy Daniells, a former president of the Royal Society of Canada and a faculty member of the University of British Columbia for nearly 30 years, has died at the age of 77.

A memorial service will be held Wednesday.

Daniells, a native of England, came to Canada as a youth. He became head of the English department at UBC in 1946.

He is survived by his wife and two daughters.

Huge Debt Cheers Humanity Backers

TORONTO (CP) — The World Symposium on Humanity is $300,000 in debt and participants are being asked to chip in thousands of dollars, but organizers of the eight-day event, which ended Saturday, still are smiling.

"I could never have designed anything so beautiful," says Jim Milord, 26, executive director of the Humanity Foundation, which organized the symposium to provide a forum on global concerns.

Milord, a PhD candidate in social psychology at the University of Toronto, said in an interview the symposium had turned into "a crash course in survival" and would help teach people how to cope on this planet.

Foundation secretary-treasurer Datar Singh says the symposium owes $135,000 to the Royal Bank, thousands of dollars in accounts payable and in personal and private loans from individuals.

With an all-star cast of expected speakers, including futurist Buckminister Fuller, former Yippie leader Jerry Rubin and black activist and entertainer Dick Gregory, the symposium was supposed to link up, by satellite, with similar conferences in London and Los Angeles, organized by the foundation.

But, piece by piece, things fell apart. The satellite link-up never got off the ground; speakers, including Rubin and Gregory, cancelled and debts piled up.

Singh said the foundation's $1.2-million budget was based on a projected attendance of 2,000 to 3,000 people at each site. At about $175 to $200 a person for the eight days, this would have brought in about $1.5 million.

But instead of the projected thousands, 800 persons registered in Los Angeles, about 650 in Toronto and 450 in London, bringing in about $400,000.

Milord said organizers hope to pay off debts with profits on media productions and publications which will come out of the symposium.

Several hundred participants also are being asked to donate $1,000 each, individually or through fund-raising efforts, in addition to the $200 they already paid.

Despite the cancellation of some important speakers, poet Allen Ginsberg and Buckminister Fuller did turn up.

"If it had been planned out and worked well, everybody would have been mentally sleeping," Ginsberg said.

Hungry Grizzly Held With Highway Flares

MALLORYTOWN, Ont. (UPC) — An 800-pound grizzly bear tormented by hunger was held at bay by police officers with blazing highway flares before being tranquilized and taken away from a zoo near this Eastern Ontario community on the weekend.

The Ontario Humane Society said the adult bear, which stood about 10 feet tall on its back legs, broke out of its cage at the Woodland Park Zoo near Brockville, Ont. early on the evening of Good Friday.

Ontario Provincial Police officers herded it into a pen on the zoo grounds and held it there with road flares for almost 24 hours before chief inspector G. D. Hepworth and two other humane society officials arrived to remove it.

"They ran through a whole lot of flares before we got there," said Hepworth in an interview. The bear was tranquilized and moved in a re-inforced steel crate to a park at Rockton.

Hepworth said the bear was potentially dangerous. "It can bend one and a half inch steel bars," he said. "It did it today before we moved him."

Hepworth said a monkey was also removed from the zoo. The zoo's owner is sick in hospital and the animals were not being properly fed, which drove the bear to escape. "They've been fed but they haven't had a satisfactory diet."

The zoo also held a buffalo, two llamas, three mules, one pony and three sheep, all of which were scheduled to be removed today.

Doctors Also To Advertise?

VANCOUVER (UPC) — The Vancouver lawyer who won the right in court this week to advertise his services predicted on the weekend that doctors, dentist and other professionals may soon do the same.

"The court ruled that the Combines Investigations Act applied to the British Columbia Law Society and in essence, I think that will apply to other professions as well," said Donald Jabour.

The battle over advertising began in January, 1978 when Jabour opened a legal clinic and inserted an ad in a local newspaper.

The B.C. Law Society, which prohibited such ads by its members, cited Jabour and found him guilty of conduct unbecoming a member. It recommended a six-month suspension. Jabour filed suit to injoin them under the Combines Act.

On Wednesday, British Columbia Supreme Court Justice A. A. Mackoff ruled that the policies and rulings of the law society were not authorized by the Legal Professions Act.

"Nowhere in the Legal Professions Act is authority given to impose these restraints on advertising by lawyers nor indeed is there any reference in the act to the matter of advertising," ruled the judge.

Jabour said he will begin advertising in the print media soon. The law society has put restrictions on electronic media ads.

"I'm not sure those restrictions are legal either," said Jabour, "but I'm not sure I'm ready to tackle that one just yet."

Franco Anglesio
General Manager
Hotel Macdonald

"When it comes to comfortable accommodations and good service, business travellers prefer 'The Mac'."

"In the middle of the hustle and bustle that is Edmonton today there stands a towering tribute to the traditions, style and comfort of times gone by—the Hotel Macdonald.

Manager Franco Anglesio says, "I like to think of my hotel as a welcome refuge from the hectic days that business travellers invariably encounter. My staff ensures that the warm, courteous service you deserve is always extended to you. And our comfortable rooms, our roof-top pool and our saunas all work to help take the kinks out of your busy day.

As for dining, Inglenook is fine fare indeed, and the Peppercorn is perfect for a quick but cheerful snack. Then there's the Can Can Lounge or the Izba for evening fun, and the Quiet Bar for a friendly chat and cocktail.

Last, but not least, 'The Mac' has first-rate meeting and convention facilities, direct airport limousine service, and special corporate rates are available.

There's a lot of reasons why business people keep coming back to 'The Mac'. But it all adds up to one key thing: we're one fine hotel!"

Tornado Derails Train in Burma

RANGOON (Reuter) - A tornado tore a train off the tracks and killed seven passengers, a Burmese newspaper said today.

Seventeen persons were injured in the freak incident which occurred Sunday about 80 kilometres northwest of Rangoon, the New Light of Burma newspaper reported.

Sunday Times To Publish At Weekend?

LONDON (AFP) — The management of The Times group of newspapers said it hopes to produce The Sunday Times next Sunday and The Times the day after.

It had been hoped to publish the daily from Tuesday but negotiations with some union leaders have been halted until later this week.

The papers were suspended at the end of November because of conflicts on the introduction of new computerized technology and unofficial strikes.

Thieves Rifle Soviet Churches

MOSCOW (AP) — Thieves are breaking into Soviet churches, taking richly ornamented icons, crosses and other religious artifacts and selling them to Soviet and foreign collectors, newspapers report.

The Soviet news media is publicizing the thefts because the government is attempting to bring religious artifacts — even those in private homes — under its control and to cut off the massive, lucrative smuggling of icons out of the country.

One newspaper proposed Sunday that all icons be registered with the government and that churches be more securely locked.

"All historical treasures on the territory of our country fall under the protection of the state, no matter if they are held by the government, by social organizations (including churches), or by private persons," the newspaper Sovetskaya Rossiya said.

The newspaper told of groups of collectors who specialize in swindling unsuspecting persons in rural areas and in breaking into churches.

Similar stories were told in a series of articles last October in the cultural magazine Sovetskaya Kultura. It also called for stricter control of national treasures and the registration of all icons, plus a campaign to teach country people the worth of their icons so they would not be duped.

The Soviet government in the last 18 months has ordered tighter controls on the export of art objects and has set up a new procedure requiring that all such objects to be exported must be declared two weeks in advance and presented for inspection.

Museums have embarked on major projects of collecting and restoring icons.

Iran's Crisis Worsens

TEHRAN (Reuter) — As revolutionary authorities continued their daily round of executions, Iran's political crisis deepened today with the resignation of Foreign Minister Karim Sanjabi.

In a resignation letter to Prime Minister Mehdi Bazargan read over state radio, Sanjabi, 74, said it is at present impossible to make progress in solving the country's problems.

Five more members of the shah's armed forces died before firing squads after secret trials by revolutionary tribunals, bringing the total number of political executions since the overthrow of the monarchy to 128.

As head of the National Front political grouping, Sanjabi was one of the best-known leaders of the secular opposition that eventually forced the shah from the throne.

Sanjabi, a French-educated lawyer, tried to resign early last month in the first indication of a serious split within Bazargan's fledgling government.

The National Front's deputy leader, Labor Minister Dariush Forouhar was not available for comment but Sanjabi's resignation raised immediate speculation that Forouhar might also quit the cabinet.

Last week, Justice Minister Assadollah Mobasheri was reported to have handed in his resignation in protest at the way political trials are being conducted. But Iran's Secret Council of the Revolution — the country's most powerful body — refused to accept it.

During the weekend, one of Iran's most influential religious leaders, Ayatollah Mahmoud Taleghani, Shiite spiritual leader of Teheran, left the capital to protest against the way the "rights of the Iranian people were being trampled," aides said.

The resignation of Sanjabi and the disappearance of Taleghani bring into the open the long-simmering disagreement between forces which formed an uneasy political alliance last year under the leadership of Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, now acting as Iran's unofficial head of state.

That alliance has come under increasing strain from the pressure of the economic and political problems.

Rioting Rips Liberia Capital

MONROVIA (Reuter) — Liberian President William Tolbert appealled for calm Sunday after a night of rioting during which virtually all of the capital's stores and supermarkets were broken into and ransacked.

As he spoke over the radio, intermittent rifle fire could be heard in the streets.

Tolbert said in his broadcast that some lives had been lost — he did not elaborate — and that property damage ran into millions of dollars.

The trouble began Saturday as large groups attempted to march on Tolbert's state house to protest a suggestion by Agriculture Minister Florence Cheneweth that the price of rice be raised to encourage farmers to grow more.

The idea was to keep farmers from leaving their land for work on rubber plantations.

Tanks were called out to protect the state house and after teargas failed to disperse the crowds, police shot some demonstrators.

Girl's Death Inquest Set

An inquest will be held Wednesday in Alert Bay into the death Jan. 22 of an 11-year-old Indian from a ruptured appendix in St. George's Hospital.

The inquest, ordered by Alert Bay coroner William Deadman, will be conducted by B.C.'s supervisory coroner, Glen McDonald of Vancouver.

Deadman said in an interview from Alert Bay the inquest into the death of Renee Smith is only now being held because it takes a long time to organize one. Convenient dates had to be found for McDonald and about 20 witnesses.

Deadman said the inquest, which will begin at 10 a.m., could take two days.

"There's a lot of feeling about the young girl's death," he said. "There's been a reaction on the part of the Indians."

Deadman also said he expects an inquiry, including the College of Physicians and Surgeons of B.C., will be held after the inquest.

He said Indian spokesmen have called for an investigation of medical services in the area and the hospital board has also asked for a "medical audit, in effect" to allay concerns.

Alert Bay on Cormorant Island has a population of 1,800, about 1,000 of them Indians.

Newly-arrived health and welfare department nurse Vera Robinson said she has been disgusted at what she has found since arriving almost a month ago.

She said she wants to know why 44 Indians have died in the last two years while only one non-Indian has died in the same time. Half the deaths were alcohol-related, she said.

WORST FLOODS in the history of Jackson, Miss. continued to sweep through the Mississippi capital's downtown area today, forcing the closure of the main street, Capitol Street. A large portion of the city was closed as workers fought to keep water from the rain-swollen Pearl River from advancing to even more businesses. An estimated 17,200 persons were forced to flee their homes during the weekend when the river burst its banks after days of heavy rain. In other flood-hit states about 800 persons were forced from their homes in Missouri, and about 2,000 persons were still homeless after a month of flooding along the Illinois River.

No Sign Of Funds For Farm Buffer

Saanich council appears to have no prospect of getting financial help from the provincial government toward the cost of establishing a buffer zone around the Fatt's Poultry Farm operation, Ald. Howard Sturrock said today.

Sturrock and Ald. Geoff Vantreight sought the provincial funding in a meeting last week with Agriculture Minister Cyril Shelford.

"But we drew a blank, I guess," Sturrock said.

He said Shelford told them he had checked with his own officials as well as other ministries, but had not been able to identify any provincial funds that could be used to acquire land for a buffer strip around the farm.

Saanich has been grappling for several months with the problem of trying to avoid potential conflict between the chicken producer and surrounding residential properties in the North Quadra area.

In an earlier letter to council, Shelford said he believed Saanich municipality had the "principal responsibility" in conjunction with owner Richard Fatt for protecting the farm and ensuring its continued operation.

Mayor Mel Couvelier has pointed out to the minister that the agriculture ministry's recommended standards for separation between farm buildings and residential properties would require more than $1 million worth of land purchases.

Fish Plant Closure Protested

The United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union will conduct a door-to-door campaign in Tofino Tuesday to keep the Canadian Fishing Company plant running in the face of statements by the firm that it will be downgraded with job losses in future fishing seasons.

UFAWU secretary-treasurer George Hewison said the modern fish plant was built with considerable government financing to provide local employment, especially to Indians, and to take advantage of the potential of the 200-mile fishing zone.

It was also decided by union members at the fish plant to sponsor a meeting May 2 at which all candidates running in the provincial and federal elections will be questioned.

Mediation Opens At SFU

BURNABY (CP) — Mediation talks will get under way Tuesday between Simon Fraser University and its striking clerical employees, an SFU spokesman said Sunday.

The spokesman said the university has agreed to the terms of reference proposed by a mediator last week calling for an industrial inquiry commission to look into the dispute. The commission's findings would be binding both on SFU and the Association of University and College Employees, which represeents the 650 workers.

First Saanich People

The Brentwood library, in co-operation with Saanich Peninsula Indians and Tsartlip School, next week will present a week-long program called The First People of Saanich.

The library will feature a display of Saanich Peninsula Indian art, along with books on northwest coast Indian history and culture, also beginning April 23.

Fraser Smith Sr. will officiate at the official opening at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, April 24. Following the opening Chief Sammy Sam will outline the history of the Saanich Indians. There will be an audio visual presentation of the school and its programs.

Kay Smith will give a demonstration of knitting and basket-weaving at 3 p.m. Wednesday, April 25. At 7:30 that evening Christie Harris, well-known writer of children's books and translator of Indian legends, will read from her works and discuss the heritage of Indian stories.

There will be a carving demonstration by Charles Elliott at 3 p.m. Thursday, April 26. Henry Smith and Gus Hill will relate Saanich Peninsula Indian stories on Friday, April 27.

The children of Tsartlip school will present a puppet show at 2 p.m. Saturday.

ESSO ECONOBLUE:
THE NEW LITTLE FURNACE
THAT CAN SAVE
A LOT OF FUEL.

The new Esso Econoblue takes up only 3½ square feet of floor space. Yet it is designed for maximum fuel economy.

This oil-fired, forced air system uses a better mixture of air and oil vapour for more complete combustion. And because the mixture is also recycled, you get more heat out of every drop of oil.

If your old furnace works at 66% efficiency, for example, Econoblue could reduce oil consumption by 20%. This means if you now use 750 gallons of fuel a year, Econoblue could save you 150 gallons.

So, if your furnace has been showing signs of age lately, don't wait until it gives up altogether.

Experts Uncertain If Volcano to Blow

KINGSTOWN, St. Vincent (Reuter) — Activity inside the smouldering Soufriere volcano has calmed down to its quietest level since eruptions began on Friday morning.

But the experts from the Caribbean Seismic Research Unit in Trinidad and from the United States remained non-committal about what the reduction in volcanic activity meant and evacuation efforts are continuing along the northern half of the island.

There have been no reports of casualties. Canadian residents and tourists were reported in no danger from the volcano which is on the northern, sparsely-populated end of the British island in the Windward chain. The island is about 19 kilometres long and 17 kilometres wide.

Government officials say it is still too early to know if the period of quiet means the emergency is over or whether the volcano is just building up for another big explosion.

The volcano last brought disaster to the island in 1902, when an eruption killed 2,000 people.

Two teams of experts were reported on the volcano. Seismologists from the University of the West Indies, in Trinidad, are on the western side while experts sent in from the U.S. are trying to get close to the crater from the eastern side.

Snuggled By Snakes

JOHANNESBURG (AP) — Deadly poisonous snakes snuggled up to Peter Snyman for warmth Sunday night after a storm put out the lights and cut the heat supply to the Hartebeespoort Snake Den in South Africa.

"I was absolutely terrified," said the 25-year-old carpenter, who wants to set a record by staying in a cage with 24 deadly snakes for more than 36 days. He started nine days earlier.

"I went though hell in the pitch dark," he said. "I sat silently and did not move while the snakes moved all over me, apparently seeking a little heat."

While attendants looked for flashlights, the 24 black mambas, Egyptian cobras and puff adders began to feel the drop in temperature.

Church Burglar Blanked

A would-be thief who broke into St. Andrew's Roman Catholic Cathedral Friday night came away empty handed because the church had been stripped of its linens, crucifixes and other items the previous day.

On Good Friday cathedrals are traditionally bared of such items to signify the death and departure of Christ.

Cathedral officials, however, said that considerable damage was done in the break-in at 740 View.

The lower pane in an 1892 stained glass window was broken and replacement could cost several thousand dollars.

As well as five city detectives, two postal inspectors are investigating along with one American Express official, the RCMP, Interpol — the international police liaison organization — and the Canadian Police Information Centre which has been given the serial numbers of all the cheques and money orders.

A police spokesman said the money orders and traveller's cheques were in $10 to $1,000 denominations and could be passed freely. He noted some from the $1.5 million Wells Fargo robbery in Montreal in February, 1978, are still showing up in such resort areas as Miami.

The thieves left behind one duffel bag, two stocking masks, a set of bolt cutters and wire cutters and two .38-calibre revolvers.

Insp. Lou Ullrich of the city police said:

BUCKINGHAM
. . . Home Services Assoc.

By DEREK SIDENIUS
Times Staff

A new idea in the home improvement field has spawned a host of companies with their sights set on a multi-million dollar business.

Referred to as the dial-a-tradesman concept, it provides a way of bringing together self-employed tradesmen and owners of homes in need of repairs or renovations.

Since January two separate companies have opened here following a national trend.

By far the largest is the Blue Army, the brainchild of Jack Kleeman who conceived the concept in Australia six years ago and built it into a million-dollar business.

The other is the Home Services Association of Victoria. Founded by Eric Buckingham, 32, the association is modelled after one that has been operating in Ottawa for three years.

The Blue Army, which marched into newly-refurbished offices at 2604 Quadra last month, is organizing a network of tradesmen for referral-out on contracts.

The tradesmen pay $1,500 a year and in return get a 24-hour answering service and first crack on job orders obtained through a big advertising campaign the company promises to deliver. (The annual fee is subject to a guarantee the contractors gross at least that much in jobs obtained through the company.)

Buckingham, operating out of a fifth-floor office at 620 View, has taken a different approach. He has put together a directory of more than 200 tradesmen and small contractors for referral to homeowners who belong to his association. The tradesmen agree to pay the association up to five per cent of the value of the contracts while homeowner members pay a $25 a year subscriber's fee — plus an additional $10 for emergency service between 7 p.m. and 7 a.m. covering unexpected electrical, plumbing or furnace problems. (The labor is free).

Buckingham says he is also setting up a co-operative purchasing plan for members so they can buy building supplies at discount.

Kleeman offers a similar program for his tradesmen.

Buckingham's membership goal is between eight to 10 per cent of the 50,000 homeowners in the four core municipalities.

Kleeman is hoping to gather an army of 100 to 150 tradesmen. He has developed a broad-based operation taking in the Greater Victoria area which he has broken into 12 zones, each comprising about 7,100 homes.

Tradesmen — there are 35 separate classes in the company's brochure — are assigned a zone and promised all referrals from it.

Buckingham says there's an obvious need for the service.

"In the past three or four years a lot of fly-by-night contracting companies have come on the scene," he says. "As unemployment has risen so has the number of small contractors looking for moonlighting jobs. But few give any sort of guarantee."

Since he returned to Canada last summer after 18 years in Australia, he's set up Blue Army offices in Edmonton, Calgary and Vancouver and has already signed on 50, 190 and 160 tradesmen respectively in the three cities.

Kleeman, who lives in West Vancouver, says that during his first month of operation in Vancouver in November his office received 391 inquiries. In December he got 287 of which 51 were persons who had used the service before. In January he started television advertising and the number grew to 773 calls of which 164 were repeats; in February the number nearly doubled to 1,382 with 263 repeats.

He plans to move soon into Winnipeg, Toronto and other eastern centres.

He also plans to organize a Blue Army home buyers' inspection service. For a fee of about $200 his inspectors will look at a home for a prospective buyer.

The two companies have been checked by the Better Business Bureau but manager Bill Tindall says he has found nothing wrong.

Kleeman says a degree of suspicion is expected.

The only question in Tindall's mind is how long the companies will last. Kleeman started his Blue Army in Adelaide in 1972 and swept into Melbourne, Perth and Brisbane in the next two years. He sold his interest in the company in 1976. Today there is only one Blue Army office still carrying out business under that name — the one in Perth.

But Kleeman says he would be foolish to pull out.

"If I did that the tradesmen would be out $1,500," he says. "But me, I'd be out $150,000."

Hush-hush Rail Hike 'Shoddy'

Via Rail has quietly raised fares between Victoria and Courtenay without a public announcement and that's "a shoddy way to run a railroad," Greater Victoria Chamber of Commerce president Mel Cooper said today.

Fares have been increased 25 per cent to $10 from $8 for the one-way trip.

For the short-haul route from Cobble Hill to Duncan the new fare is $4, a 33 per cent increase from $3.

The chamber is concerned because it is promoting the railroad as a tourist attraction.

"Via Rail must give advance notice of any increase in fares. People in business know rates must be increased from time to time but they are always careful to give sufficient notice."

The rates went up Thursday with no advance notification. In fact, Via Rail switchboard today was still quoting the old rates.

Cooper said the chamber expected a small increase, about five per cent, was coming this year.

He said the chamber will ask Via Rail for a firm commitment on rates so it can publish this information.

While the one-way fare is $10, there is a $13 return fare, if used within three days. This was increased from $10 on Thursday.

Regular return rate after three days becomes $20, up from $16.

RUBBLE ROUSERS digging up treasures at the old Victoria Dodge car dealership in the 800-block Yates have raised the ire of Victoria NDP candidate and archaeologist Gordon Hanson, who says the dig should be undertaken by provincial archaeologists. "This isn't just bottles, it's an historical site," Hanson said today of the area that is to be a parking lot adjacent to the Capitol Theatre. Police can't enforce trespassing laws unless the owner files a complaint. (Bill Halkett photo).

Man Beaten in Park

A 58-year-old city man was attacked and robbed by five men just before midnight Sunday as he walked through Beacon Hill Park.

Police said Joseph Longpre, 1326 Johnson, was given "a pretty fair beating." He received cuts and bruises to his face, head and ribs.

Two men, aged 19 and 21, are in custody facing charges of robbery. Their names have not been released.

Police are seeking three other men.

Longpre was asked for money and was beaten when he refused, police said. They said one of the assailants used a stick.

$2.5M Grant Assured On Convention Centre

An NDP government would honor a $2.5 million grant promised by the Bennett government, guaranteeing a convention centre for Victoria regardless of which party wins the election, Victoria MLA Charles Barber announced today.

Barber, who attended a caucus meeting in Richmond on the weekend, said party leader Dave Barrett has agreed the Victoria convention centre must be constructed and the grant would be made.

"The site is ideal," Barber said. "Remember, it was the NDP government that bought the land from developer Sandy Reid and said it must be used for a public purpose. The convention centre proposal is an intelligent use of the land."

Barber said an NDP government would want to review the costs and design, as a matter of caution, but the present plan "appears to be an excellent one."

On April 3, Deregulation Minister Sam Bawlf announced a $2.5 million grant from the provincial government would assure a construction start this year.

However, the next day Bennett called a provincial election, before the grant could be approved by the legislature.

Barber said about 40 MLAs and NDP candidates attended a day-long meeting in Richmond where three major campaign issues emerged.

He said the 40 candidates said that across the province the three main concerns of people appear to be high ICBC rates for young drivers, deterioration of health services and the lack of job creation by the provincial government.

"There is also a growing concern about nuclear power, especially in Victoria and Vancouver. People are worried about it and they don't want it."

On ICBC rates, Barber said, young people seeking summer work are in a kind of Catch 22 situation where they must drive a car to obtain the job they want but can't afford the insurance because rates are especially high for young drivers.

Ironcially, he said, they could find a way to pay the insurance cost after they have worked for awhile but can't work without the insurance.

Barber said there is also a concern over cutbacks in hospital care, resulting in delays for operations, and people fear doctors might drop out of the provincial medicare program as many have in Ontario.

Building Inspectors To Gather

The 24th annual conference of the Building Inspectors Association of B.C. will be held April 30 to May 2 at the Empress Hotel.

Among the featured speakers will be A.T. Hansen of the National Research Council in Ottawa who will outline changes expected in the 1980 National Building Code.

The association has a membership of 350.

Rest Haven Land Up for $3.4 Million

The site of the old Rest Haven Hospital, a 10-acre plot that includes Rest Haven Island, is on the market for $3.4 million, a Seventh-day Adventist spokesman said today.

Frank White of Abbotsford said one or two parties are interested in acquiring the Sidney property.

Plans for joint development of the land between the church and Abacus Cities Ltd. collapsed last year. Abacus had an agreement with the church to investigate development proposals.

The agreement expired after Sidney council ordered a freeze on all development in the community pending a report on a new community plan.

Abacus spokesman Terry Volb said today his company had been interested in negotiating another agreement but the church had decided it would proceed on its own.

White said the church is not in a financial position to develop the site and it is important for the church to realize the money for the property so it can be used for other projects.

More to Boast than Giant Salmon

UNFAIR THOUGH IT may seem, to us who live in this busy and populous Vancouver Island sector, Campbell River's claim to fame is reduced to a single boast. This is The Home of the Tyee Salmon, and even the non-fishy visitor whose mind is concentrated on other matters is not permitted to forget that fact.

By way of explanation, any salmon of the Chinook species which weighs over 30 pounds rates as a tyee. But in addition to an August run of these spawn-happy visitors to our waters, we have much else to be proud of.

Campbell River, be it stated, is a district municipality of 14,000 population which left village status behind way back in 1964 and could, if it so chose, incorporate itself as a full-fledged city. (Since to do so would create various administration problems, it has wisely stayed its hand.)

Up the line at Duncan Bay, we have a vast, highly-modern pulp mill which has reduced air pollution to nothing worse than a rare whiff of sulphite when the wind blows from the northwest.

Campbell River, in addition, has good schools, a boat-busy waterfront, a notably fine museum, and in its Ironwood Mall, a smart and spanking-new shopping centre.

And as an afterthought, we are also the home of those outsized fish.

With all this in mind, it is understandable that Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau should have seen fit to visit us early in his electioneering campaign.

The advance word was that he would arrive at 3 p.m. in our Tyee Plaza, another major shopping centre built on fill shoved into turbulent Discovery Passage.

By two in the afternoon, Plaza traffic was thickening. In another half hour, parking places were hard to locate. At a quarter to three, as a reminder that we still preserve some rough-and-ready frontier ways, a truck battered down the sign barring off traffic for the PM and his party. Cars piled into the parking slots thus released.

Up by the stores, where Canadian flags rippled in the breeze of the sunny, windy afternoon, a crowd began to gather.

We have our unemployment shadows, as what area in Canada does not, Campbell River district is prevailingly prosperous. It is vigorous, unworried and brashly self-confident. This hardiness was reflected in the crowd, which settled itself good-humoredly to wait the coming of the prime minister.

Memory rang a far-off bell. Once before, we had been part of a cheerful and lively crowd that waited for Mr. Trudeau to appear among us.

Years ago, that was, when Trudeau first burst like a bomb-shell upon the political scene. The place was Victoria's Beacon Hill park, on a mild summer evening. A helicopter circled low over the throng disposed on the sun-browned slopes. It touched down; out stepped the man who was making charisma a Canadian household word.

He charmed us completely then. Waiting for Trudeau once more, in this other place and time, I wondered if he could pull it off again.

A shade before 3:30 p.m. without fuss or bustle, the prime minister and his party made their appearance. We watched them work their way through the crowd to the frame platform on which chairs were waiting.

Ray Perrault was there, a little greyer and heavier than the spunky Liberal battler against overpowering odds whom I remembered from his days in the British Columbia Legislature.

Jack Pearsall, the sitting member for Coast-Chilcotin and Liberal contender for the new Comox-Powell River riding, was also on hand.

It remained for Pearsall to do the honors.

"Mr. Prime Minister," he said, "I must tell you that Campbell River where we now are has one claim to fame. It is the Home of the Tyee Salmon."

Move Ill-Founded, Trustees Charge

Education Minister Pat McGeer's move to appoint all school district school superintendents is based on an "ill-founded fear of ineptitude on the part of local school boards," school trustees say.

In a joint brief with the association of B.C. School Superintendents, the B.C. School Trustees Association says the provincial government's move to more centralization is inconsistent with Social Credit philosophy.

The seven largest districts in the province have the autonomy to hire their own superintendents and set their salaries. The other districts have their superintendents appointed by the government which also sets their salaries.

Both school trustees and superintendents want all local boards to have the power to hire superintendents and to set salaries.

The brief, presented to the province this month, quotes from a statement Premier Bill Bennett made in 1975.

The Socred party believes educational policies can be developed only in co-operation with local boards, Bennett said at that time.

"The local school trustees have been elected by the people of their own area . . . they know the area and are responsive to the needs of their community," he said.

The joint brief says the government's plan to change the employment of superintendents is inconsistent with that statement.

"Our organizations have serious reservations about the plan and are of the opinion that implementation of it would detract from, rather than contribute to the quality of educational leadership in B.C."

Broadbent Back

Federal NDP leader Ed Broadbent will rush straight through Victoria on his way to the Victoria airport Thursday, but he'll be back later for a rally, party organizers promised today.

Broadbent will tour the pulp mill in Port Alberni, talk at the Malaspina Hotel in Nanaimo and sip wine and nibble cheese at a reception in Duncan before heading for the airport for a 7 p.m. flight to Winnipeg.

His one-day scheduled visit to the Island is just too tight for anything in Victoria, a party spokesman said. His future schedule has not been firmed up, but Victoria will be included on his next western swing.

Canadians Hurt By Slow Start

MOSCOW (CP) — To nobody's surprise Czechoslovakia defeated Canada 4-1 at the world hockey championship on Sunday.

To everyone's surprise, Czechoslovakia did not walk over the make-shift Canadian squad of National Hockey League playoff losers.

"It was a pity that we did not manage to play the first period as well as we did the last," said Canadian coach Marshall Johnston.

Steve Payne of Minnesota North Stars scored the lone Canadian goal in the third period after Ivan Hlinka, Vitislav Duris and Bohuslav Ebermann had given Czechoslovakia a 3-0 lead after two periods. Jiri Bubla scored on a power play late in the final period.

"We missed a lot of chances in the second period and could have drawn level," Johnston said. "But I hope we'll meet the Czechoslovak side again in the finals and then I'm sure we'll make better use of the ice."

"Our team deserved their win," Czechoslovakian coach Jan Starsi said. "They did what they had to do against a tough team in what I thought was he best match of the tournament so far."

Canada and Czechoslovakia split the 10 penalties at five each.

Victory assured Czechoslovakia of a place in the final round robin for the medals with a 2-0 record. Canada plays Finland on Tuesday and must win or tie to advance into medal contention. Czecholslovakia plays the United States.

The top two of four teams from each of the two preliminary groups advance to medal play. Canada has two points on a win and a loss. Finland and the U.S. both have one point on a loss and a tie.

Finland and the U.S. played to a 1-1 draw on Sunday. Joe Mullen, who plays for Boston College, scored for the U.S. early in the third period to earn the Americans the tie. Matti Rautiainen counted for Finland.

In the other preliminary group, the Soviet Union edged West Germany 3-2 and Sweden beat Poland 6-5. The wins assured both the Soviets and the Swedes places in the medal round with 2-0 records.

Goalie Sigmund Suiter was a standout for the West Germans against the Soviets. West Germany was outshot 18-4 during the first two periods but the Soviets managed just a 3-2 lead going into the final period.

The Canadians scored their first victory Saturday, defeating the U.S. 6-3 behind the three-goal performance of Wilf Paiement.

In other games Saturday, the Soviet Union blanked Poland 7-0, Sweden tripped the stubborn West Germans 7-3 while the Czechs beat Finland 5-0.

Red One is White Hot As Cougars Stay Alive

PORTLAND — There were as many superlatives fired at Steve Amiss as there were pucks;

Captain Geordie Robertson sneaked up to light the offensive fireworks;

As gallant as they were weary, Cougars fought off elimination Sunday. Riding the hot hand of Amiss and Robertson's scoring punch, the Cougars defeated Portland Winter Hawks 6-4 before 3,122 fans in Memorial Coliseum and sent the best-of-seven Western Division final back to Victoria.

With Portland's advantage now reduced to 3-2, game No. 6 will be played in Memorial Arena tonight. A seventh, if required, will be played in Portland Tuesday.

The Hawks, rallying on third-period goals by Jim Dobson and Ed Cooper, edged the stubborn Cougars 4-3 Saturday. That put the Hawks in the driver's seat but the Cougars refused to be counted out Sunday.

Amiss, clearly, was the important reason. The red-headed netminder was showered with accolades after his extraordinary, 56-stop performance.

Amiss rose to his greatest heights in the third, turning aside 21 shots as the Cougars hung on grimly to tag the Hawks with only their fourth home-ice loss this season, three by Victoria.

Robertson scored his 11th and 12th playoff goals and tacked on a pair of assists. Three of his points came on an effective power play and the fourth while on a penalty-killing assignment.

Irving and an improved Victoria power-play also have made their mark. The 19-year-old winger from Lake Cowichan, put in the clear by Robertson, got the Cougars started by scoring with teammate Scott Lang sitting in the penalty box.

Irving returned the passing favor and Robertson made it 2-0 less than 10 minutes later with the first of Victoria's three power-play goals.

Victoria coach Jack Shupe adjusted his power play last week, moving Lupul to the wing alongside Robertson while Irving went to the point.

"Lupe and Geordie play so well together," said Shupe, "and Irving has the big shot. It's been working and when the other team starts paying for their penalties, they also start thinking."

Shupe also praised Victoria's penalty-killing. Portland held the man advantage six times Sunday but Cooper was the only one to dent Amiss' armor while the Cougars were shorthanded.

"And that one shouldn't have happened," added Shupe. "We had a chance to ice the puck but didn't."

It was the first shorthanded goal Cougars have conceded in the five games of the current series.

Shupe lauded the play of Brad Palmer, Mike Shields and Greg Adams. Palmer scored his first playoff goal to push Victoria into a 6-2 lead at the start of the third period but the unit's great checking and Palmer's control in the faceoff circles helped the Cougar cause considerably.

"Faceoffs were a problem Saturday," said Shupe, "but Palmer didn't lose too many Sunday, and that also made a big difference."

For Portland, the absence of captain Perry Turnbull was felt. A 75-goal supplier during the regular season, Turnbull suffered an ankle injury in Victoria Friday and missed both games in Portland.

Elsewhere, Brandon Wheat Kings, as expected, wrapped up Eastern Division honors while the upstart Calgary Wranglers continue to make things difficult for Lethbridge Broncos in the Central series.

Lethbridge tripped Calgary 8-3 Sunday after the Wranglers tied the series 2-2 with a 4-2 win Saturday.

Leafs, Canadiens In Quarter-Finals

By The Canadian Press

Four National Hockey League teams, which sat out the opening round of the Stanley Cup playoffs last week, are in the best shape for the quarter-finals, which open tonight.

Two others will barely have time to catch their breath.

And there will only be one Canadian team remaining when this second round of the playoffs is over.

The series pairings weren't determined until Saturday night, when Philadelphia Flyers routed Vancouver Canucks to decide the next round's matchups. Earlier in the day, Pittsburgh Penguins ousted Buffalo Sabres with a 4-3 overtime victory.

Philadelphia's 7-2 triumph in the deciding game of the best-of-three series against Vancouver gave the Flyers the right to entertain New York Rangers in the opener of their best-of-seven set. The Rangers qualified with two straight victories over Los Angeles Kings.

Toronto Maple Leafs are in Montreal to meet the Canadiens, New York Islanders are at home to Chicago Black Hawks and Boston Bruins are hosts to the Penguins.

"They (the Canadiens) can make life more miserable for a goalie than any other club because of their shooters and their speed," said Toronto netminder Mike Palmateer.

Montreal has not lost to Toronto since November, 1976, putting out the Leafs in four straight games in last year's semi-finals, but Palmateer says: "We're a better team now than we were a year ago, and I think I'm a better goalie than I was a year ago."

Boston coach Don Cherry says his team can't afford to be rusty in the early going against Pittsburgh.

"We'll just have to do the best we can," said Cherry. "We'll have to play them like we play the Canadiens. The Penguins had a good last half, they have good balance, and Denis Herron is some goalie."

Herron has started 19 of the Penguins' last 20 games and backstopped Pittsburgh's three-game triumph over the Sabres. Though the Penguins were outshot 41-24 in Saturday's third game, Herron held fast and Pittsburgh won on George Ferguson's second goal of the game at 47 seconds of overtime.

It was the first time in five years that the Sabres had been denied a spot in the quarter-finals.

The Islanders will have to be a better team than they were a year ago when they were upset by Toronto in the quarter-finals.

"We have to go to the finals and we have to win the Cup," said right-winger Mike Bossy.

(The Montreal-Toronto game will be televised on channels 2 and 6 starting at 5 p.m. Saturday's summaries and the playoff schedule are on page 16)

Sneed's Sad Collapse Opens Door For Fuzzy

But his free-and-easy style is of his own making.

He combined both Sunday to win one of golf's most coveted prizes — the Masters championship.

The triumph came on the second hole of a sudden-death playoff — first in Masters history — with 1977 champion Tom Watson and Ed Sneed, a bitterly disappointed 11-year veteran who saw his hopes of a first major title slip by when he blew a five-shot advantage in the tricky winds of the Augusta National Golf Club.

The victory came on an eight-foot putt on the 445-yard 11th hole, a part of the famous Amen Corner that has decided many of the 43 renewals of this prestigious event.

That winning putt was set up by his God-given talent.

"I just had to let one go," he said of the booming shot off the tee at 11, one that carried almost 300 yards and left him within easy range of the flag.

When the putt fell, the broad-shouldered Indiana native hurled his putter into the air, raised his arms in a victory salute and embraced his caddy, Jerry Beard who, Zoeller said, "led me around all week long."

Zoeller destroyed the myth that a player in his first Masters had no chance.

"I felt none of that pressure," he said. "All the pressure was put on by other people. They were the ones that said I couldn't win. I never said it. I wouldn't have been here if I didn't think I could win."

But he did have doubts earlier in the round.

"I didn't think I had a chance (going to 15)," Zoeller said. "I was sitting at seven-under and Ed was at 11."

"I thought it would break to the right and my caddy thought it would break to the right. It didn't. I played it on the lip and that's where it stayed. I should have played a straighter putt."

Sneed, winless since capturing the Tallahassee Open two years ago, said: "I still feel very good about my game. I played awfully well. It's a big disappointment."

Faulty putting cost Watson the title. He missed a half-dozen putts in the 10-15-foot range.

"I felt Ed Sneed was going to win the tournament," he said. "Ed Sneed deserved to win the tournament. Ed's disappointed. I'm disappointed. But you can't play ifs. The past is past. You can't look back on it."

Tigers Go On Tear, End Ranger Streak

By The Associated Press

The pitchers are supposed to be ahead of the hitters this time of year, but you would never know it from Sunday's American League games. Five teams scored in double figures and the 14 league clubs combined for 96 runs, an average of almost seven per game.

"That was wild and wooly," said Detroit manager Les Moss, after his Tigers rallied for seven runs after two were out in the ninth inning to hand Texas Rangers their first loss of the season on Sunday, 11-6.

"What's the odds on something like that happening?"

Bill Mankowski had a two-run single and Lance Parrish delivered a two-run double in the Tigers uprising.

Minnesota Twins rapped 20 hits, seven of them for extra bases including home runs by Willie Norwood, Mike Cubbage and Jose Morales, and routed Seattle Mariners 18-6.

Rick Burleson drove in three runs and Jerry Remy, Fred Lynn and George Scott knocked in two apiece as Boston Red Sox clobbered Cleveland Indians 14-4. Lynn hit his fourth home run of the season, all off Cleveland pitching.

John Wathan had a tie-breaking RBI single as Kansas City erupted for four runs in the eighth inning and outscored Toronto Blue Jays 12-10 in a 33-hit slugfest.

Rod Carew had four hits and four runs batted in and Brian Downing went 5-for-5 as California Angels collected 17 hits in beating Oakland A's, 8-1.

In other games, New York Yankees scored twice in the ninth inning to beat Chicago White Sox 6-5, and Milwaukee Brewers trimmed Baltimore Orioles 4-2.

In the National League, Lynn McGlothen pitched a six-hitter and Dave Kingman slammed a two-run homer as Chicago Cubs beat Montreal Expos 5-1 for their first victory of the season.

A three-run double by Keith Hernandez capped a five-run, 10th-inning that gave St Louis Cardinals a 9-4 victory over Pittsburgh.

Dick Ruthven and Tug McGraw combined on an eight-hitter as Philadelphia Phillies defeated New York Mets 3-2 in the first game of a double-header. Mike Schmidt hit a three-run homer as the Phillies won the second 6-3.

Barry Bonnell and Jerry Royster each drove in three runs to lead Atlanta Braves to an 11-4 victory over Los Angeles Dodgers.

Jose Cruz belted two home runs — one in each game — and drove in eight runs to power Houston Astros to a 4-3, 9-1 double-header sweep of San Francisco Giants.

San Diego Padres captalized on some sloppy Cincinnati fielding to score six unearned runs and beat the Reds 6-3 in the first game of a double-header. Cesar Geronimo started a string of six consecutive singles in a four-run sixth inning to carry the Reds to a 7-5 victory in the second game.

Roy Smith Third In Disputed Race

MUNROE, Wash. — Roy Smith and Rick O'Dell finished third and sixth, respectively, but both Victoria drivers stand a chance of moving up a notch if a committee-room decision overrides Sunday's on-track result in the 60-lap Sportsman's race at Evergreen Speedway.

Yakima drivers Dan Dowdie and Harry Jefferson finished 1-2 in the National Association of Stock Car Racing-sanctioned event but the finish was clouded by a protest.

Dowdie set a track record in the qualifying trials while Smith captured the trophy dash before finishing third in the main event. Smith led the main for 52 laps before being passed by Jefferson and Dowdie.

Kapp Loses Appeal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Joe Kapp's seven-year legal battle against the National Football League ended in defeat today when the Supreme Court refused to hear the former quarterback's appeal.

The justices, without comment, left intact two lower court rulings that Kapp is not entitled to any money damages in his anti-trust suit against professional football.

Kapp, who was named the NFL's most valuable player for leading the Minnesota Vikings to the 1970 Super Bowl, sued the NFL, its 26 teams and league commissioner Pete Rozelle two years later.

The suit alleged that Kapp was driven out of his profession by an illegal NFL boycott after he refused to sign a standard player contract with New England Patriots for the 1971 season.

Kapp's suit was the pioneer legal assault on since-modified NFL rules, and in many ways it led to revolutionary changes in football and other professional sports.

Kapp's was one of a handful of legal challenges that led to the current sports phenomenon of million-dollar player contracts.

Thoroughbred Meeting Set for Sandown

Turf Club Optimistic

The Capital City Turf Club will operate a thoroughbred race meeting at Sandown Park again this fall, CCTC president George Harknett has announced following a meeting of club directors.

"Due to the tremendous support accorded Sandown Park by the honorable Hugh Curtis, the honorable Sam Bawlf, the honorable Garde Gardom and others, and particularly our many racing fans who have supported us in our presentation to the provincial government, we are pleased to announce that racing will be presented as in the past," said Harknett.

"The number and quality of horses should be the highest ever because the provincial Sandown grant can provide needed purse levels to attract the competition," Harknett added. "This was needed to guarantee continuance of the meet."

"In addition, the summer harness fans and the autumn thoroughbred fans can look forward to greatly improved facilities. The degree and speed of the improvements will be determined by the amount of the grant funds available from year to year and this in turn will be determined by the handle. It is a very hopeful situation. A new enclosed grandstand, lights for night racing and a longer thoroughbred season now are possibilities.

"We have set no priorities in this area and such matters will be determined jointly with the harness operators and the B.C. Racing Commission," Harknett said.

Present plans call for 14 days of thoroughbred racing, starting Oct. 16 and ending Nov. 13, although this could be extended.

The standardbreds have a 65-day season, beginning May 19 and winding up Sept. 8.

Player Deportation Threat Hits Strike-Riddled NASL

By The Associated Press

Depleted but not down, the North American Soccer League is alive and kicking despite a players' strike which has torn the league apart.

The beleaguered NASL played its full 12-game schedule Saturday in the face of reprisals by the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service, which threatened to deport foreign players.

"American soccer has to be the first priority," said Dennis Tueart of the defending NASL champion New York Cosmos, voicing a belief by many players that the strike would undermine the sport in North America.

Tueart, who played in Saturday's 3-2 victory over Atlanta Chiefs, added:

"This is still a baby sport here and you have to be very careful before you take any step that could knock out the foundation. Take the Cosmos coming down here. Atlanta is a new franchise. If we didn't show up it would be a disaster. Maybe the next time there would be a lot less interest. Let's face it, if there is no soccer league, there is no soccer."

As it turned out, only 10,311 showed up at 52,194-seat Atlanta Stadium.

The Chiefs were missing three striking players, one of many teams hit by the NASL Players' Association strike. The players called the strike because the league's management would not recognize the Players Association as a collective bargaining body for the athletes.

The INS announced Saturday that foreign players who broke the strike would be subject to deportation. NASL owners went before a district judge in Washington, D.C., to obtain a restraining order against such action, but senior judge George Hart would not approve one since no formal deportation actions had been taken by the INS.

Fort Lauderdale Strikers were among the hardest hit of the NASL teams, playing without 16 of their players Saturday during a 4-0 home loss to the Washington Diplomats. The Strikers fielded a squad of five regulars and a dozen amateur players.

Memphis Rogues were another heavily strike-depleted team, losing to Detroit Express 6-0 with a lineup that included a former player-turned-agent in goal, two amateurs from the Memphis youth program and several Latin players.

Among the teams that showed up with full complements Saturday were Tampa Bay Rowdies and Toronto Blizzard. A crowd of 23,675 turned out at 71,600-seat Tampa Stadium to watch the Rowdies beat the Blizzard 7-1.

Rookie Wins World Event

TOKYO (AP) — Rookie pro Beth Daniel of the United States won the $70,000 world women's professional golf tournament by three strokes Sunday.

Daniel, the 1975 and 1977 U.S. amateur champion, clinched the $14,000 first prize with rounds of 71-78-69 for a three-round total of 218, seven under par.

The 22-year-old Daniel, who turned professional last January, started the final round of the 54-hole tournament six strokes behind 39-year-old Takako Kiyomoto. But she shot eight birdies and two bogeys over the par-75 Yomiuri Country Club course on the outskirts of Tokyo to score her first victory in six pro tournaments.

Kiyomoto, leader in the first two rounds and last year's fourth-ranking money winner in Japan, was second with a four-under-par 221 after shooting a 78.

Taiwan's veteran pro Tu A-Yu was third at 222. Jan Stepheson of Australia was tied for fourth spot at 224 with Keiko Matsuda and Ayako Okamoto, both of Japan.

American Amy Alcott was alone in eighth place with a three-over-par 228.

Argentinian Silvia Bertoaccini and Japanese Masayo Fujimura and Kazuyo Tamura were tied for ninth place at 228.

Spinks Slated To Fight Coetzee

NEW ORLEANS, La. (Reuter) — Leon Spinks, former World Boxing Association heavyweight champion, will meet Gerre Coetzee of South Africa in Monte Carlo on June 10 or 17, promoter Bob Arum has announced.

Arum said the winner of the 12-round fight could expect to face either Kallie Knoetze, also of South Africa, or John Tate, of Knoxville, Tenn., for the WBA crown later this year after the projected retirement of Muhammad Ali.

The fighters are the WBA's four top-rated contenders.

The Knoetze-Tate bout is scheduled for June 2 in Mmatho, Bophuthatswana. Knoetze is the No. 1 contender and Tate is ranked third.

Spinks, of St Louis, Miss., the No. 2 contender, lost the title to Ali last September after beating the veteran champion seven months earlier.

Coetzee is the No. 4 contender.

Ali has until Sept. 15 to defend his championship or be stripped of the title by the WBA. Ali has indicated he will retire without a further defence.

Strike Will Continue

WASHINGTON (AP) — The players union said Sunday it would continue its strike against the North American Soccer League even though management was able to play its full weekend schedule.

"We are extremely proud of the players who struck the games," Ed Garvey, union staff director, said. "They did so despite incredible pressure from management. Some of the pressure was clearly illegal. We expect even more determined support next week in light of management's tactics this past weekend," he said.

Peaking Wests Zero In On Island Soccer Double

Victoria West was forced to settle for the "second-best" role during the regular Vancouver Island Soccer League campaign but the side's all-conquering march in playoffs has brought "best" into sharp focus.

Nosed out by Athletics, by two points, for the regular-season championship, Wests zeroed in on an Island soccer "double" by blanking University of Victoria Vikings 4-0 to advance to the premier division final.

Athletics and Nanaimo United will play off Wednesday at Royal Athletic Park, starting at 7:15 p.m., in the other semi-final.

Obviously peaking at the right time, Wests forged into the lead when Garnet Moen scored in the 20th minute and remained in charge the rest of the way against the intercollegiate squad.

A strong defence gave Jim DeGoede plenty of support but the Wests' netminder earned full marks for his shutout by robbing Vikings' John Leier only seconds before the half.

Athletics, as first division champions, are assured of spot in the Province Cup playoffs.

Wests and second-division Prospect Lake will determine the Island League's other representative when they meet in the Jackson Cup final later this month.

Juan de Fuca Claims Lead

Touchdowns by James Dawson and Robert Dorval provided Juan de Fuca with a 12-0 victory over Gordon Head Saturday and undisputed possession of first place in the Hornets' Lower Island Pee Wee Football League.

In another game, Kevin Ottewell scored three touchdowns and added a convert as Saanich beat Victoria 38-18. Dan Pollock, Wayne Roach and Ron also scored majors for Saanich while Neil Ford's three accounted for all the Victoria scoring.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) — New England Whalers are negotiating to buy Springfield Indians of the American Hockey League.

Jadresko Up In Class And Still Displaying It

The Victoria squad, British Columbia and Western Canada champions in division six last year, moved into the provincial finals for a second straight year by defeating South Burnaby Royals 3-1 Saturday in Burnaby.

Jadresko now will face Vancouver's Dunbar Suns in the fifth division final at the "Tournament of Champions" to be played at Swangard Stadium in Burnaby on April 28, starting at 3 p.m.

Dunbar won its semi-final match by clipping North Shore Lynn Valley 4-1 at Vancouver.

Jadreskos spotted South Burnaby the first goal, by Steve Vine at the nine-minute mark, and roared back. Dave Houston tied the score in the 18th minute and then provided the eventual winner with about 10 minutes remaining in the well-played match.

Clay Crust scored the insurance goal for Jadresko with about two minutes remaining.

Things didn't go as well for Nanaimo Bel-Aire or Nanaimo Diplock Masonary, the Island's other hopes for finalists in the provincial tournament.

Leading 1-0 at less than a minute away from advancing to the fourth division final, Bel-Aire's hopes were crushed when Guildford Celtic clicked on a last-ditch scoring drive and then wound up with a 3-2 overtime victory in Surrey.

Mike Gusola scored both Nanaimo goals.

Diplock Masonry, at home to Burnaby Westburns in a first-division semi-final Sunday, also lost a heart-breaker. Nanaimo led 2-1 but Mike Zackaruk's goal in the 74th minute forced overtime. Teams failed to score in extra time and Burnaby advanced on the strength of its 1-10 edge in conceding corner kicks.

Perry Logan scored both Nanaimo goals.

Cauthen's Style Produces Trouble

LONDON (AFP) — American jockey Steve Cauthen, who made a winning debut in his English racing career the previous weekend, ran into trouble with the stewards at Kempton Racetrack Saturday.

The 18-year-old's style of winning the Easter Stakes on Joleg did not impress the officials, who disqualified him for pulling in front of the second horse.

Villeneuve Takes Race of Champions

GILLES VILLENEUVE

BRANDS HATCH, England (AP) — Gilles Villeneuve of Canada, the world's current top Grand Prix racing driver, won the 40-lap Race of Champions at Brands Hatch Sunday by more than 15 seconds.

Driving last year's model Ferrari 312 T3, Villeneuve wore down American Mario Andretti, the reigning world champion, who had led the race for 18 laps. Andretti eventually finished third behind Brazilian Nelson Piquet.

The only non-championship event this year for Grand Prix cars, the Race of Champions is traditionally a testing ground for new models. Villeneuve's victory does not contribute to the championship points table, which he already leads with two Grand Prix triumphs.

The 27-year-old Villeneuve cut in behind Niki Lauda before the Austrian had to pull in with tire trouble after seven laps. Lauda returned to take fifth place.

Andretti, driving a Martini Lotus 79, grabbed the lead on the 10th lap and led until the 28th, when Villeneuve forged ahead.

"It was hard work," said the Canadian, "especially when Mario got by and then I had to work very hard to get back in front."

Piquet put in an impressive performance in his new Brabham Alfa Romeo BT48, shattering the track record in the process with a lap time of one minute 17.46 seconds.

He overhauled Andretti with just four laps to go to grab second place. Villeneuve's winning time was 53:17.12. Piquet was timed in 53:32.19 and Andretti in 5:40.29. Jochen Mass of West Germany was fourth in 53:57.88.

Renaldo Thinks of 13 After Cracking Record

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — Renaldo Nehemiah burst out of the blocks ahead of an excellent field and sped to a world record 13.16 seconds in the 110-metre high hurdles at the Bruce Jenner track meet Saturday.

The 20-year-old sophomore from University of Maryland cracked the record of 13.21 seconds set in 1977 by Alejandro Casanas of Cuba. The performance by the indoor record-holder also shattered his personal best outdoors of 13.23, run last year.

The effort came in Nehemiah's first outdoor performance of the season and left behind such world-class hurdlers as Dedy Cooper of San Jose and Charles Foster of Philadelphia Pioneers. Cooper was second in 13.43, his best performance ever, while Foster was third in 13.70.

"It was in the air," Nehemiah said of his world mark. "I guess a lot of people want to see me break a world record but it's not as easy everyone thinks it is.

"My biggest defeat today would have been thinking a world record. I just wanted to start my season off on a good note."

The 13.16 clocking came by automatic timing while he was timed at 12.9 by hand-operated stopwatches. The wind at the San Jose City college track was 3.68 miles an hour, well under the maximum of 4.47 allowed for a world record.

Nehemiah, who broke a number of indoor records during the winter, said he felt that a time of 13 was on the way and that even a sub-13 mark was possible in the not-too-distant future.

"I don't know when 13 will fall but I think someone can do it," he said. "I think I could have run faster today if someone had been next to me. You can only run so fast by yourself."

Canadian Victory

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — A team of top Canadian swimmers defeated a West German team 178-166 Sunday in a two-country, international invitational swimming meet here.

Three Canadian contestants were outstanding in the two-day event.

Nancy Garapick of Halifax and Peter Szmidt of Pointe Claire, Que. each won three events, while Wendy Quirk of Edmonton won two.

Garapick won the 200 and 400-metre individual medleys, and the 200 metre backstroke, while Szmidt finished first in the 200, 400, and 1500-metre freestyle events.

Spurs, Bullets Take Openers

By The Associated Press

After six months of arenas and airports, there's nothing like a week of rest and relaxation to get a basketball team back on the beam.

Philadelphia '76ers and Atlanta Hawks found that out the hard way Sunday when they went up against two well-rested division champions as the second round of the National Basketball Association playoffs got under way.

The '76ers ran into a buzzsaw at San Antonio, where the run-and-gun Spurs took advantage of their weary opponents by racing to an 18-point halftime lead and coasting to a 119-106 victory in the opener of their best-of-seven series.

The Hawks managed to stay with the defending champion Washington Bullets for 3½ periods before running out of gas. The Bullets outscored Atlanta 18-4 down the stretch to pull away to a 103-89 triumph.

San Antonio and Washington earned byes through the first round of the playoffs by winning the Central and Atlantic Divisions, respectively. That gave them a chance to rest last week while the '76ers were beating New Jersey Nets and the Hawks were upsetting Houston Rockets in best-of-three series.

Also on Sunday, Los Angeles Lakers and Phoenix Suns advanced to the second round of the playoffs by winning the third games of their Western Conference series.

The Lakers beat Denver Nuggets for the first time ever in Denver 112-111 on Kareem Abdul-Jabbar's hook shot with 12 seconds left and the Suns outscored Portland 33-15 in the fourth quarter to beat the Blazers 109-99.

In Tuesday night's second-round openers, Los Angeles will play at Seattle and Kansas City at Phoenix. The second games of the two East series also will be played Tuesday night.

Billy Cunningham, coach of the '76ers, knew his team would be in for a long afternoon after playing at New Jersey Friday night and travelling 1,500 miles Saturday.

"There was no question that the rest helped the Spurs," he said. "We were just a step slow."

But San Antonio coach Doug Moe wasn't buying that.

"You play three nights in a row sometimes in the regular season," he said. "You're not tired when you have a day off."

George Gervin scored 31 points and Larry Kenon had 30 for the Spurs, who were ahead 63-45 at halftime and then outscored the Sixers 10-2 at the start of the period to stretch the lead to 26 points. Philadelphia could come no closer than 11 points after that.

Elvin Hayes led the Bullets with 31 points and 15 rebounds while Washington's other forward, Bobby Dandridge, scored 30.

Phoenix also came up with a big defensive effort in the fourth quarter to wipe out a 76-68 third-period deficit. Paul Westphal led the Suns with 26 points and Walter Davis scored 23.

Abdul-Jabbar's sky hook from eight feet capped a wild finish that saw the teams trade one-point leads after the Nuggets, who trailed for most of the game, went ahead 107-106 on Dan Issel's three-point play with 1:49 left.

After Abdul-Jabbar's basket, the Nuggets worked the ball to their all-star guard, David Thompson, for a foul-line jumper. But it bounced off the rim, the Lakers cornered the rebound and the buzzer sounded.

England Loses In Two Finals

EDINBURGH, Scotland (CP) — Hong Kong retained the men's Commonwealth table tennis team championship Saturday, beating England 5-2 in the final.

In the women's final, Hong Kong beat England 3-1.

The Canadian women's team, represented by Mariann Domonkos of Montreal, Birute Plucas of Mississauga, Ont., and Gloria Hsu of Toronto, finished fourth.

The Canadian men lost 5-1 to India in an earlier Group A match. Representing the men were Zoltan Pataki of Vancouver, and Joe Eng and Errol Caetano, both of Toronto.

England was without two of its best players, Desmond Douglas and Nicky Jarvis, and had played until long after midnight Friday night to overcome Pakistan and Australia on the way to the men's final.

In a playoff for fifth place, Wales beat the Canadian men 5-1. Australia took third with a 5-1 triumph over India.

Champ Stops 'Happy Boy'

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Sam Serrano of Puerto Rico retained his World Boxing Association junior-lightweight boxing crown Saturday night with an eighth-round technical knockout of Nkosana (Happy Boy) Mgxaji.

The Puerto Rican, who enjoyed a sizeable height advantage, knocked the South African down twice for mandatory eight counts in the second round.

Bo and The Nun, Or: Quality and Success

CALGARY (CP) — Bo Mearns and The Flying Nun proved this weekend that quality, not quantity, is the key to success in the Calgary Horse Show's $10,000 grand prix.

The attractive Victoria equestrian won a thrilling three-way jump-off for the $3,500 first prize Saturday night. She beat Mark Laskin of Edmonton — who was showing 1976 Olympic silver medal winner Branch County — by six one-hundredths of a second. John Simpson of Cochrane, Alta., was 81 one-hundredths of a second away from second place with Quarter Horse Texas.

Laskin and Simpson each showed three horses, a luxury Mearns says she wouldn't mind.

"When I blow a jump with her (The Flying Nun) I wish I had a backup," the 34-year-old winner said. "But the three younger horses I'm working on right now are nothing like her. She's a very sensitive horse. You can't get after her for anything."

Mearns, the only woman of the five riders to show, was the crowd favorite as she and her mount flew around the seven-jump jump-off.

Argentine Star Charges Fans After Match

BIRMINGHAM, England (AP) — Alberto Tarantini, the Argentine World Cup soccer star, was involved in a controversy Saturday when he went into the stands after an English First Division match and had to be restrained.

Tarantini, who plays for Birmingham City, has had a controversial season in England and is unlikely to play here next year.

The latest incident came after Birmingham had drawn 1-1 with Wolverhampton Wanderers. Quick action by two clubmates prevented Tarantini from becoming involved with spectators.

Tarantini, 22, had earlier made the mistake that gave Wolverhampton its goal.

Galindez Taunts Injured Rossman

"He chickened out because he didn't go on fighting," Galindez said after Rossman was unable to come out for the 10th round Saturday at the Superdome because of a broken right hand.

"I don't fight chickens," Galindez added, clouding the possibility of a third match.

"I'm not sure when it happened," said the 22-year-old Rossman of Turnersville, N.J.. "It was in the sixth or seventh round I think."

A round earlier, Galindez had continued punching Rossman after the bell, setting off a wild scene in the Superdome ring as the American's brother, Andy, charged after the challenger, screaming and throwing a couple of wild punches.

Galindez also had the best of that fight, hitting Andy with two light lefts. Later, Galindez said through an interpreter, "I wanted to punch the brother because he (Rossman) was hitting me low."

Rossman was hurt twice in the fourth round, shook on three occasions in the fifth and badly hurt in the seventh from a left hook. Three left hooks just before the bell had Rossman in trouble in the eighth and he was cut over the right eye and in trouble for much of the ninth.

Then Robinson told the referee that Rossman could not continue.

"The pain was unbearable," Rossman said. "It's tough to fight with only one hand."

When Galindez realized what had happened, he leaped into the air, then ridiculed Rossman.

"He taunted me," said Rossman. "When I beat him, I shook his hand."

It was the second title defence for Rossman who has entered the ring three times as champion.

The second time was Feb. 24 in Las Vegas, Nev., when he was scheduled to give Galindez a rematch after winning the title from the Argentine. But Galindez who lost the title to Rossman when he was stopped on cuts in the 13th round here last Sept. 15., left Rossman standing in the ring. The fight was called off because the WBA and the Nevada state athletic commission couldn't agree as to who should appoint the fight officials.

The WBA oppointed the officials for Saturday's fight, as it did for the Sept. 15 bout and promoter Bob Arum, who had to explain the Feb. 24 fiasco, was anxious before this one started.

Rossman was far behind after being in trouble several times from jolting left hooks and jarrring short rights to the head.

Referee Stanley Christodoulou of South Africa and judge Waldemar Schmidt of Puerto Rico each gave Rossman the first three rounds and the rest to Galindez. Judge Jesus Celis of Venezuela gave Rossman the first and third rounds and the remainder to Galindez.

Rossman, who seriously injured his right hand in outpointing Gary Summerhayes of Brantford, Ont., on Sept. 29, 1977, said, "I'll wait for the hand to heal. Then I'll try again."

Borg 'Superb'

MONTE CARLO, Monaco (AP) — Bjorn Borg of Sweden gained another clearcut victory over Vitas Gerulaitis of the United States 6-2, 6-1, 6-3 Sunday to win the final of a $175,000 World Championship Tennis tournament.

Borg earned $30,000 in prize money, and Gerulaitis $15,000. Borg has now taken two successive WCT events.

Tracy Nips Kerry

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. (AP) — Tracy Austin outlasted Kerry Reid 7-6, 7-6 in the final match of a $150,000 women's tennis tournament Sunday.

Austin, 16, of Rolling Hill, Calif., won the $30,000 first-prize money in a match that had both women playing evenly throughout. Austin won the tie-breakers 7-3, 9-7.

Reid, 31, an Australian who lives in Greenville, S.C., had many opportunities to change the outcome of the match but was unable to come up with the big points.

Hurry Kings Triumph

DELTA (CP) — North Shore Hurry Kings beat Prince George Mohawks 4-3 Saturday night to win the British Columbia intermediate hockey championship.

The Hurry Kings won the first game of the best-of-three final 5-3 Friday.

North Shore, trailing the defending Canadian champions 3-0 midway through the second period, scored two goals in 29 seconds in the third to tie and win.

It was the fourth consecutive year the teams had met in the B.C. final. Each has won twice.

Both teams advance to a six-team, two-division Western Canada championship tournament starting Wednesday in Prince George and Quesnel.

Visitors Triumph

Maison Lafitte, a third-division French squad from Paris, scored an 8-6 victory over Agrarians, a second-division entry in the Vancouver Island Union, at Juan de Fuca Recreation Centre.

Tim Davis, Andy Taylor, Steve Watkins, Alan Gilbert and Russ Edwards scored tries for the Welsh, who led 8-0 at the half. Watkins also booted a conversion.

Teams from James Bay and Oak Bay shared the honors in a seven-a-side tournament at Macdonald Park on Saturday.

James Bay firsts defeated the seconds 30-28 to win the five-team, first-division event while Oak Bay Wanderers dumped Oak Bay High 20-4 to top the four-team, second-division tournament.

James Bay defeated Ebb Tide 18-10 in a third-divison league match Sunday.

Uplands, Gorge Pairings Win

Dave McCall and Murray Lawson, the combination from the host club, captured the handicap championship with a 36-hole, best-ball net of 64¼-67¼ — 131½.

McCall, who plays to a five handicap, and Lawson, a seven, finished a half-stroke ahead of clubmates Ian Barrodale and Tom Maftechuk and the Port Angeles pairing of Ned Adams and Ken McLennan.

McCall highlighted Friday's opening round with a brilliant 31 with his own ball on the front nine. He wound up with a gross 68, two under par, while his youthful partner finished with a 71.

Grant Milliken and Dave Donaldson, the Gorge Vale combination that held the city open buttons for six straight defences, won low gross honors with a 134, three shots ahead of Bill Hobbis of Calgary and Rick Hutchison of Uplands.

Residents of Victoria are invited to see the results of B.C. Hydro's Aerial Thermography survey conducted over their homes last winter. Objective: To help you find out if you're burning money because of poor attic insulation.

Last November, a specially equipped aircraft recorded rooftop temperatures of homes and buildings in the Greater Victoria area. The survey covered an area extending as far north as Royal Oak on the Pat Bay Highway. Heat losses were pinpointed by measuring infrared radiations from the buildings. These were recorded on magnetic tape, then processed to produce black-and-white prints called thermograms. High heat losses will show as light grey or white areas. Well-insulated roofs will appear black. Atmospheric conditions at the time of the flight resulted in a loss of detail for some areas, particularly along the coastline. Most Victoria residents, however, will be able to see a graphic indication of their home's heat loss. To identify your home in the display prints, be sure you know how many houses yours is from the nearest corner.

B.C. Hydro representatives will be on hand to provide you with literature and to help you interpret the thermogram—and do something about it.

There will also be a computer terminal at the display—to offer on-the-spot assistance in beating the high cost of heating. If you'd like a quick "printout" on your home's insulation needs (including how long the additional insulation will take to pay for itself) just bring along the following information: (1) the square footage of your top floor ceiling; (2) inches of thickness of your present wall and ceiling insulation.

The operator will feed it into the computer and you'll have an answer while you're there. There will also be a model of attic, wall and window insulation on hand, to illustrate the why and how of energy savings.

Bateman Reaps Grand Prix Glory

VANCOUVER — Victoria runners reaped a fair share of glory Saturday as the CP Air-Adidas cross-country "grand prix" series concluded at Jericho Beach.

Victoria Mercuries' Terry Bateman captured the overall junior championship by winning the eighth and final event of the series in a time of 41 minutes, nine seconds. Tony Theriault of Victoria finished second in Saturday's race in 41.44.

Peter Spir of Vancouver Olympics the men's race and overall championship and was chased to victory by a pair of Victorians. Spir won the race in 39.16 while Jon Smith of the University of Victoria was second in 39.23 and Mike Creery, a Victorian running for Lions Gate Roadrunners, was third in 40.56.

Creery finished second in the final overall standings.

Garth Ball of Victoria Flying Y finished fifth in the masters in a time of 44.12 and finished third overall.

'Y' GIRLS CAPTURE B.C. TITLE

KAMLOOPS — Victoria Y eliminated a cross-town rival in the semi-finals and then defeated Smithers 15-5, 15-12 Sunday to capture the British Columbia midget girls volleyball championship.

Victoria Cinnamon, beaten 15-5, 15-8 by the Y in the semi-finals, missed a chance to grab a medal by losing 15-9, 16-14 in the playoff for the bronze.

John Rose Tops Chinook Anglers

John Rose landed an 11-pound, four-ounce salmon to capture top honors Sunday in the regular monthy derby sponsored by the Chinook Club of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association.

TO SKATE IS GREAT!
Recreation Oak Bay

When a mine like Endako profits, B.C. benefits.

When the Endako Mine opened in 1965, the nearby community of Fraser Lake was revitalized. Formerly a tiny village, Fraser Lake today is a modern town of 1,500 people…and it's happening because the mine is a well-run, profitable operation.

"Profit" is a key word when assessing a mine. When an operation is profitable, there's money for expansion, for replacing worn-out equipment …and of course, for repaying the shareholders whose investment made the mine possible. Profits also aid the environment, by helping to pay for the reclamation work carried out by a mine like Endako. Equally important, profits help to finance exploration, which leads to new mines and new jobs.

The most obvious benefits from a profitable mine are found in towns which depend directly on mining. Towns such as Fraser Lake, Trail, Kimberley, Granisle and Peachland. In every case, the proximity of a viable mining operation has led to growth and prosperity. But apart from the people who benefit directly through jobs in mining, there's a tremendous indirect benefit to many more people. That's because for every job in mining, there are an estimated three more jobs in B.C. that depend on mining–jobs in service industries and supply companies.

Considering the enormous capital investment needed to put a mine into operation, realizing a profit is no simple task. It requires sound planning, efficient management and a skilled work force. Dedicated people have helped Endako become Canada's largest producer of molybdenum, providing direct employment for nearly 650 people and indirectly supporting roughly three times that number. Endako is one of many B.C. mines utilizing a natural resource in a way that benefits our whole province.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
Pass	2 ♣	Pass	2 ♡
Pass	2 NT	Pass	4 ♡
Pass	7 ♡

Opening lead - three of spades.

This deal occurred during the annual European championship in the match between Finland and Belgium. Using a very artificial system, the Finnish North-South pair got to seven hearts on the bidding shown.

The final contract — with a 3-3 trump fit — was obviously due to a misunderstanding. Two clubs was a natural bid indicating a powerful hand. Two hearts, though, was artificial — it showed an ace and a king, but not a heart suit.

North now marked time with two notrump, whereupon South bid four hearts. This was likewise an artificial response; it was intended as a transfer bid commanding North to bid four spades so that he, with the stronger hand, would become declarer in spades instead of South.

But in the heat of the moment, North forgot that the leap to four hearts was artificial. He thought that South had lots of hearts in addition to the A-K of spades that South had already indicated. So, in line with this thought, North juumped to seven hearts.

South realized that North might have forgotten the convention, but decided to trust partner and pass. South hoped and expected to find a long heart suit in dummy headed by the A-K.

West, totally unaware of the misunderstanding, led a spade. Declarer thereupon cashed the A-K of spades and A-K-Q of clubs, then played the A-K of diamonds and ruffed a diamond. When he next led a spade, it did not matter whether or not West ruffed. South made the rest of the tricks on a cross-ruff and he racked up 2,210 points for making the grand slam in hearts.

It is true that a trump lead would have defeated the contract — but it would have spoiled a good story.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

Astrological forecast for Tuesday, April 17, 1979
By SYDNEY OMARR

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Accent on ambition, business, coming to terms with authority figure. Gemini, Sagittarius figure prominently. Expand horizons. Reach beyond current expectations. Elements of luck and timing ride with you.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Publish, communicate, pursue educational project. Be frank, state case in terms devoid of frill. Others respond if you are sincere. Distance, Language and age barriers will fall aside. Know it, proceed accordingly.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Relationship is intensified. You're involved, whether or not you admit it. Harness creative force. Express, imprint — dig deep enough to cast aside superficiality. You gain valuable information concerning money.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Family member needs support in putting across idea, program or major concept. Be diplomatic, but know when to draw financial line. Taurus, Libra, Scorpio persons figure prominently. Yes, do make adjustment in connection with domestic situation.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Emphasis on control, moderation, taking time to gain second emotional wind. Pisces, Virgo persons figure prominently. See places, people in realistic light. Steer clear of self-deception. Keep medical-dental resolutions, appointments.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Bring priorities into focus — accept more responsibility. Recent pressures now pay dividends. Know it, be confident, deal with Capricorn, Cancer persons. Love, creativity are very much a part of your personal scenario.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Accent on being finished with long-standing task. You get credit due. One who was skeptical will offer congratulations. Aries is in picture. Emphasis on structure, quality, basic costs. You learn where you stand — personally and in professional area.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Accent on new ideas, relatives, getting to heart of matters. Leo, Aquarius persons figure prominently. Short journey may result in resolving dispute with neighbor or relative. Sense of humor can be your ally.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): You collect what had been regarded as "lost money." Learn from experience. Cancer individual figures prominently. Accent on special material, proper presentation of product. Intuitive intellect comes into play.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Timing is sharp — judgment is on target. Moon in your sign coincides with initiative, originality, revitalization. Take independent course. Lead rather than follow. Past views are vindicated.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Roadblock is temporary — know it, don't brood. You'll be handed what you need. Recent series of "coincidences" actually reveal a pattern. Sharpen sense of perception. Look behind scenes. Answers are available.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Romance, pleasure principles, business opportunity — these combine. There is reason for celebration. Remember promises to friends. Member of opposite sex cares — and proves it. Gemini, Sagittarius, Cancer figure in scenario.

IF APRIL 17 IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are creative, independent, stubborn, ambitious and loyal. You seldom do things halfway — it usually is all or nothing. Capricorn, Cancer persons play important roles in your life. You relate to older persons. You could succeed in endeavor which caters to needs of senior citizens. You tend to be headstrong, domineering, but you get job done. June could be your most significant month of 1979, a year during which you could get established in business or home. Domestic adjustment does occur in April.

"Only seven brown eggs left?" Mary exclaimed. "I should have got some this morning, when you had lots."

Sam smiled. "That's right, but I've had three ladies in wanting brown eggs since then," he replied. "The first took a third of what I had plus a third of an egg, the second a third of what remained plus a third of an egg, and the third took a third of the rest plus a third of an egg."

Sam is like that. How many had he sold to those three customers?

Flying Paster One to Watch At Louisville

By The Canadian Press

Flying Paster established himself as a thoroughbred to watch in the May 5 Kentucky Derby at Louisville when he won Saturday's $279,250 Hollywood Derby in a course-record time.

The three-year-old covered the 1⅛-mile Hollywood Park course in 1:47 3-5 to better the previous best of 1:47 4-5 for the distance set by Steve's Friend in 1977. It was also better than the 1:48 1-5 clocked last year by Affirmed, who then went on to win the Triple Crown.

Ridden by Donald Pierce, Flying Paster finished 10 lengths in front of his rival, Switch Partners, a 16-1 shot. Flying Paster paid $2.40, $2.20 and $2.10. Switch Partners, ridden by Darrel McHargue, returned $4.40 and $2.10. Shamgo, Shamgo, with Laffit Pincay aboard, finished third.

Each of the seven colts carried 122 pounds for the race, in which Flying Paster earned $166,750 for owner B. J. Ridder.

Pole Position, owned by Eldorado Stables of Edmonton and winner over Flying Paster in last month's San Felipe Handicap, finished last.

The victory was Flying Paster's 10th in 14 races. The son of Gummo has finished second three times and third once.

Golden Act, ridden by Sandy Hawley of Mississauga, Ont., came from far back in the early going to win the $178,800 Arkansas Derby at Oaklawn Park.

Fresh from a victory in the Louisiana Derby, Golden Act earned $107,820 and made it the second year in a row that trainer Loren Rettele saddled winners in both the Louisiana Derby and the Arkansas Derby.

Bowl Game wore down heavily-favored Noble Dancer in the stretch to win the $132,250 Hialeah Turf Cup. Great Sound, an 80-1 shot, was third with That's a Nice fourth.

Ridden by Angel Cordero Jr., Bowl Game ran 1½ miles on the grass in 2:26 3-5.

At Greenwood in Toronto, Ocala Noir captured the $22,800 Woodstock Stakes over 6½ furlongs. Another Rodger was second and Ramlin Green was third.

Portland Invader Surprises

VANCOUVER (CP) — Hi Chaparral, a lightly-regarded invader from Portland Meadows, pulled off a $28.60 surprise in Saturday's $10,875 Lansdowne Handicap at Exhibition Park.

The four-year-old gelding outran favored Alberta Green to the first turn and was 1½ lengths clear of Ray's Pride at the finish of the six and one-half furlong dash on a sloppy track.

Five Star General, winner of the 1978 B.C. Derby, was a distant third after being far back in the early running.

Sinking Ends Record Bid

NEW YORK (Reuter) — The French trimaran Kriter IV, which was trying to set a trans-Atlantic sailing record, sank Sunday but its five crewmen were rescued shortly before the 74-foot craft went down in heavy seas in the North Atlantic.

A U.S. Coast Guard spokesman said the Kriter became disabled when the hull cracked in rough water and crewmen radioed for help.

Violin—Piano Concert Here Saturday

A gifted violinist who has recently moved to Victoria from New York City is Kathryn Appleby Ranger. She has come here with her husband, Louis, a trumpeter who has joined the UVic School of Music.

Ms. Ranger formerly served as a principal player with the American Symphony Orchestra with which she has also appeared as soloist in a Carnegie Hall concert.

Next Saturday at 2:30 p.m., with pianist Kathleen Solose, she will perform a sonata program at Victoria Art Gallery. Featured will be the Canadian premiere of the fourth Violin Concerto by Brazil's foremost living composer, Camargo Guarnieri. An exciting and rhythmic work, its style is somewhat reminiscent of the American composer, George Gershwin. Completing the program is Beethoven's Sonata in E flat Major, a sonata by Debussy, and an unaccompanied violin sonata by Eugene Ysaye.

Ranger holds degreees from Indiana University and Sarah Lawrence College. She has studied with some of the outstanding violin teachers of the day, including Josef Gingold, Ivan Galamian and Oscar Shumsky. She has appeared as soloist with the Houston Symphony Orchestra and during a recent tour of Brazil, with the Sao Paulo Chamber Orchestra.

The exceptional gifts of pianist Kathleen Solose have made a considerable impression since she joined the faculty of the Conservatory of Music a couple of years ago.

Girls Share Dream of Stardom

By VERNON SCOTT
United Press International

HOLLYWOOD — Two young women, Catherine Bach and Robin Sherwood, probably have never heard of one another but they share a common cause and a dream of stardom.

Catherine and Robin are both in their 20s. They have lovely faces, shapely figures and burning ambition. They came to Hollywood unknown and untested — Catherine from Faith, South Dakota, Robin from rural Florida.

Like thousands of other beautiful young women, they struggled, working at other jobs while trying to find a foothold in Hollywood. Catherine worked as a waitress in an off-beat canyon restaurant. Robin was a waitress and model.

They survived "cold" readings — auditioning for directors by reading scripts they'd never seen. They both attended cattle-call casting sessions.

Both encountered massive rejection as well as invitations from smoothies with casting couches and other age-old come-ons.

The girls have succeeded — to a degree.

Catherine has a co-starring role in The Dukes of Hazzard, playing a Daisy Mae-like character in the weekly CBS-TV series. Robin has played supporting roles in movies, Coming Attractions, The Tourist Trap and Captain Avenger.

"Altogether it cost me $7,000 to produce the play at the Zephyr Theater in Hollywood," Robin said. "Capacity was only 30. But I starred in that show every night for six weeks.

"I certainly wasn't doing it to make money. Tickets cost $3.50 but some nights only four or five people showed up. You don't know how awful it can be to act your heart out for a handful in the audience. But I got some good reviews. The experience gave me a lot of confidence.

"It didn't get me any jobs or an agent but it did spread my name around and people began to notice me.

"I packed up and left after that and went back to Franconia College (New Hampshire) to finish my education. Now I'm back in town and working.

"Hollywood didn't want me. Maybe it still doesn't. But I'm spunky and determined to make it.

"Right now I'm really just on the threshold. I know that. But just getting this far takes push, determination and a lot of study. I can't say it's been much fun, but it's what I want."

Catherine, who has light brown hair and hazel eyes, has learned to speak with a soft southern accent for her role in The Dukes of Hazzard. It was the easiest of her accomplishments in finding a place in the Hollywood sun.

Unlike Robin, who is single, Catherine has been married to building contractor David Shaw for 2½ years. The couple lives in Malibu.

When things weren't breaking right for Catherine last July, she and an actress friend wrote a play and staged it at the Callboard Theatre in Hollywood.

"I financed it with my own funds," Catherine said, grinning. "Not that it cost all that much to produce.

"The theatre seated only 99 people and the play ran only a couple of days. All of my friends came to see it. One of those nights Steve Binder, the director, saw me perform and became my manager.

"Actually, producing my own showcase didn't lead directly to my role in the series. The producers were looking for a blonde Dolly Parton type. I was the only non-blonde to read for the role and I got it."

Catherine adds a jiggle element to the comedy-adventure series and isn't displeased with the notion that she adds sex appeal to the show. But like Robin, she wants to prove herself as an actress not as a glamor girl.

"Once I got the part they told me I'd be wearing cut-offs, T shirts and tank tops," Catherine said. "I told them I didn't want to exploit the character and my body that way.

"They told me to check up on it. Well, Daisy Duke in the show is a Georgia girl who works in a roadhouse. While we were down there on location I saw that's the way the girls really dressed. So now I don't mind.

"I didn't think about the odds against my succeeding when I came here from South Dakota. I'm not competitive. But I really want to make good in this business."

Even though they are not the same physical types, it is not impossible that one day Robin Sherwood and Catherine Bach will find themselves vying for the same role.

Scott's World

Original 'Cisco Kid' Dies

COSTA MESA, Calif. (AP) — Herbert Stanley Dunn, who played the original Cisco Kid in silent pictures from 1913 to 1915, has died aged 85.

Dunn, who starred in about 100 Cisco Kid movies, apparently suffered a stroke as he prepared for bed Friday night. He was taken to hospital but died shortly afterwards.

The son of an Irish sea captain and an Algonquin Indian actress, Dunn was born in Brooklyn in 1891. He made his stage debut at the age of three.

His performing career came to a halt with the start of the First World War and the financial collapse of the company that produced the Cisco Kid movies.

Food Man On Panel

Fred Oldfield of Sidney will join California Restaurant Association president Chris Skoby in a panel discussion before 17,000 delegates at the Pacific Northwest Restaurant convention in Portland at month's end.

Oldfield is owner of the Latch restaurant and president of the Restaurant and Food Services Association of B.C.

He will be discussing new marketing and merchandising strategies.

Bennett Marks No. 47

KELOWNA (CP) — The wind beat the premier to the candles as Bill Bennett celebrated his 47th birthday at an outdoor home-town party.

The wind Saturday extinguished the candles on the four-foot by three-foot cake, before Bennett could, but he gamely pretended to blow them out before about 300 guests.

Later, he toured the Royal Hudson steam train.

Bennett sat in the train's cab, obligingly pulling the steam whistle to the delight of about 1,000 persons. He then joined about 100 people in a tour of the train's interior.

Bennett did not make any political speeches at the party and train tour, but in preparation for the May 10 provincial general election used the opportunity to main-street, shaking hands and exchanging small talk with individuals.

A Cutting Gift

VANCOUVER (CP) — Premier Bill Bennett has a new weapon with which to slay his political foes — a metre-long scimitar, presented to him at a Sikh harvest festival Saturday night.

He received the sword, a symbol of defence for the East Indian religious sect, amid jeers from what organizers called religious fanatics among the crowd of 2,600.

A festival spokesman said the hecklers were protesting Bennett accepting the sword without covering his head or removing his shoes. The spokesman said the presentation was cultural, rather than religious, so the premier was not required to observe the ritual.

In an interview later, Bennett aimed at a new political enemy in his May 10 B.C. general election campaign: the federal New Democratic Party.

If the NDP holds the balance of power after the May 22 federal general election, Bennett said, he fears the party could pressure the federal government to take over the province's resources.

"The leader of the New Democratic Party of British Columbia has already said he would turn over the oil and gas revenues to the government of Canada," he said.

Nationalization of resources may be "one of the things that they (the NDP) would push for on the federal level to make a deal with the provincial government to take that resource."

That move "would be very costly."

B.C. '79

RICHMOND (CP) — The New Democratic Party is investigating new information on an alleged deal between the provincial Social Credit Party and the federal Progressive Conservatives, according to leader Dave Barrett.

Neither Barrett nor former attorney-general Alex Macdonald would give details of the new information at a weekend news conference, but Macdonald said he thinks there might be sufficient grounds to demand an investigation into allegations by provincial Tory leader Vic Stephens.

Stephens said last week Socred backers had threatened to withdraw support from federal Conservative candidates who actively support provincial Conservatives.

"It is a very serious issue when Socred money-backers can threaten — Mr. Stephens uses the word blackmail — the federal Conservative party," said Macdonald, who is running for re-election with Barrett in Vancouver East.

"That is a very grave interference with the freedom of political expression in the province of B.C."

Macdonald admitted there is a history of co-operation between the provincial Socreds and the federal Tories and that the NDP would need proof there had been illegal coercion.

"But if there's grounds to suspect wrongdoing, then there should be an investigation."

Macdonald also said he would ask the provincial ombudsman to investigate whether the government improperly handled the last mailing of the B.C. Government News, an issue devoted to praising the government's budget and throne speech.

Special measures were taken to print the issue on budget day April 2, then rush it into the postal system before Premier Bill Bennett called the May 10 election the next day.

But since the publication was delivered to most B.C. residents at least a week after the election call, Macdonald said it was really Socred campaign material.

Barrett charged that the Socreds are "adopting the strategy of hiding from the campaign" by refusing to participate in debates.

Heroin Program Queried

RICHMOND (CP) — The $9 million spent on British Columbia's heroin treatment program would be better spent on preventitive programs, even if it means that older addicts might be ignored, according to former premier Dave Barrett.

The NDP leader said he is still uncertain how exactly the government intends to treat addicts who can be ordered into the program.

"Nine million dollars have been spent on the program and no one's been able to tell us what the treatment is," Barrett said after an NDP caucus meeting.

Right to Look, Feel Comfortable

By BERNADINE MORRIS

Beene's full skirt for evening

MILAN — What has been virtually ignored in fashion's current round of replays is the flowering of sportswear in the 1940s. That's when Elizabeth Hawes, Claire McCardell and a host of other designers decided it was woman's inalienable right to look and feel comfortable in her clothes.

Now Geoffrey Beene has taken up the cause, presenting his version of a cashmere sweater belted over satin pants for evening.

As opposed to almost every Italian designer showing his fall collection here, Beene used no shoulder pads. He did not lift his hemline to the knees and the clothes are cut full enough so that women can move.

There were no special effects, just mannequins skipping down the long runway and waving in a friendly manner to the crowd.

He enjoyed transferring daytime fabrics, such as gray flannel or tweed, to evening styles. Gold borders effected the transformation in the case of a gray flannel pant suit, abetted by a chiffon blouse shot with glitter.

Crinkled crepe clothes won't wrinkle, no matter how carelessly you pack them in a suitcase, and fabrics that stretch, such as a chenille that looks like corduroy, make clothes that not only move easily but fit better. That, he feels, is the wave of the future.

Shapes were as uncontrived as sweatshirts and dirndl skirts, and colors ran to wine, purple and mustard, sometimes used together. The show ended with long straight printed dresses.

Giorgio Armani runs a class operation. His tailoring is probably the best in the world and he is as responsible as anyone for the current suit revival.

What he has introduced for fall is a draped shape, which has already been widely publicized. This involves soft folds in the front of suit jackets, feeding into the single-button closing, placed gathered from the shoulder yoke. Zippered pockets are inserted into the gathers.

The softening agents aren't really obligatory since there are those who prefer their tailoring straight. But they're the news. So are the culottes, about knee-length, which are paired with tailored jackets. They're the same almost-rounded shape as the long pants.

The glittery evening clothes aren't particularly significant, but the models were accompanied by men wearing dinner jackets with wide lapels. This is before most men have even become aware that narrow lapels are back. It just goes to show how the men's fashion pace is catching up with the women's scene.

Beautifully accessorized with softened mannish hats, nude stockings, high-heeled pumps, gauntlet gloves and envelope or shoulder-strap bags, the day clothes strike a high note of elegance.

Far-Out Fashion? Le Palace the Place

PARIS (AP) — Who wears the craziest fashions in Paris?

People who go to Le Palace, that's who. It's the Parisian answer to New York's Studio 54.

The converted cinema with its baroque, art-deco decor and cliff-like balconies was the scene of a monstrous Paris fashion bash recently, lit by laser beams and celebrities alike.

Owner Patrice Eamer threw the party to celebrate the first anniversary of the disco — which happened to coincide with the end of the Paris ready-to-wear week.

He invited a cast of thousands, 5,000 by some estimates, who packed the rain-sodden street outside fighting to be admitted.

The invitations called for "evening dress or party clothes," and the guests dressed in every imaginable version of Paris fashion or anti-fashion: from spaced-out silver men to sexy sirens, tarts and sequined drag ballerinas wearing wings on their muscled shoulders and mustaches over their lipstick.

Le Palace already has made fashion history, with shows by Valentino and Jean-Claude de Luca, a wedding reception for Paloma Picasso and a party for Yves Saint Laurent.

But big couture guns turned out for the anniversary bash. It started with dinner given by Helene de Turckheim, fashion editor of the Paris daily Le Figaro, at the mirrored, intimate Club Sept, also owned by Eamer.

The couturiers were beautifully dressed in dinner jackets of their own design: Cardin, Guy Laroche, Emanuel Ungaro and Karl Lagerfeld of Chloe. The women on their arms arrived in the designers' latest models — like brunette France Dieuleveult of Chloe, wearing Lagerfeld's spangled dress with flounced hips.

At Le Palace, the scene was thrilling, too, if not to say a panic. One would have thought the mobs were waiting for manna after a famine. Women and men of all ages came in their glad rags, and sequins on the face seemed to be the new look in make-up. Nude bodies showed through chiffon. No complexes were apparent, and a layer of fat was displayed as proudly as a smooth, slim leg.

Through the murk redolent of cannabis and perfume, the couturiers roved around with both the rabble and the famous, including President Valery Giscart d'Estaing's elder daughter, Valerie-Anne, and her husband Gilbert Montassier.

What was that explosion around 2 a.m.? No disaster, just the flash-bulbs and flutter surrounding the arrival of Yves Saint Laurent, looking pale and interesting, escorted by feathered models.

"It's a phenomenon," commented Jules-Francois Crahay, Lanvin's designer, as he prepared to exit. "I may never go there again. But it's kinetic, like an electric charge. Inspiration is a pretty big word, but that's what I feel — just like going home and designing clothes."

3rd Transmission In 36,000 Miles

DEAR MIKE: I have a 1974 Chevy 12-passenger van that goes through automatic transmissions like popcorn. The original trans went out at 29,000 miles. A rebuilt replacement lasted only 2,000 miles. Now, 5,000 miles later, the third transmission is starting to go. What to do? — DESPONDENT

DEAR DES: Your first trans going at 29,000 isn't unusual. The rebuilt, though, should have lasted longer than 2,000 miles. What kills these Turbo Hydra-Matics is: 1) hard usage and 2) high cold-idle speeds that tear the internal seals, cause, pressure loss, heating, and eventual failure.

* * *

DEAR MIKE: When I sold my boat and outboard motor, I kept six precious gallon cans of fuel. It's gasoline mixed with oil in a ratio of 50:1. How can I separate the oil from the gas so I can burn this in my car without fouling the plugs? — WELL OILED

DEAR WELL: No need to separate it. It'll burn fine as is and will even act as an upper cylinder lubricant. You'll notice a little blue smoke from the exhaust pipe, and strictly speaking you'll be polluting the atmosphere more than necessary, but I think the EPA might look the other way for just six gallons.

* * *

DEAR MIKE: Our 1979 Monte Carlo starts with a tremendous roar when it's cold in the morning. The engine continues to run at a road speed of at least 30 mph for about 10 minutes — or until it warms up. I took the car to the dealer, and he lowered the idle speed to a minimum but the engine continues to roar. — RORY CARLO.

DEAR RORY: It's the choke detent on the carburetor that's still adjusted for too high an idle. Take the car back and explain the problem to the dealer again. It's simple to fix, but you might have to leave the car overnight so the mechanic can adjust it cold.

A Stitch In Time . . .

STILLWATER, Ohio (AP) — Women who sew their own clothes at home should do their homework first if they hope to save money with their endeavors, says Marjorie Baker, who teaches clothing design at Oklahoma State University. Ms. Baker advises that sewers should study fashion magazines and visit ready-to-wear departments of stores before they buy patterns and fabrics to find out what current styles are and how fabrics are used to create designs.

A Feeling that Life Is a Costume Party

By BERNADINE MORRIS

MILAN — The stage was transformed into a giant mock-up of a television screen. Gianni Versace's mannequins danced through it in their full ballerina skirts, ruffled petticoats, cinched waistlines and flat-heeled shoes.

Last year, the mannequins stomped down the runway with military ferociousness. Now the clothes are gentler, all sweetness and light. There is some feeling that life is a costume party. Why, hot pants have even turned up as the fall ready-to-wear openings continued here.

Versace showed two collections through the television screen, under his own label and that of Callaghan. Full skirts pervaded them both.

They turned up in green taffeta and gray flannel, with poodle cloth jackets in purple, gold and peacock blue. For evening, they were in red organdy with matching fuzzy sweaters or in pale gray with white sweaters. In mauve or yellow organdy with leather camisoles, they looked like cotton candy.

There were other things going on, too. Tapered leather pants with mustard or jade wool jackets. Roses embroidered on sheepskin coats or on white coats that looked like beaver.

But the prevailing impression was made by the full skirts and petticoats, midcalf length, with stiff, wide belts. Bring back Anne Fogarty.

Big shoulders haven't gone away. They're the focus of the collection Mariuccia Mandelli put together for Krizia. They take the form of little bumps at the top of the sleeves and look rather cute on narrow well-tailored coats. Lots of them are in fuzzy poodle cloth, in itself a 1950's revival.

If you accept the extended shoulders, there are many good-looking jackets and suits that make the most of fine Italian tailoring. White nubby jackets over gray striped pants are sophisticated. Furs worked into a grill pattern are also of interest. Some can be worn inside out. The lining is gray satin with an eagle tinted on the shoulders.

It is for evening that things fall apart or come alive, depending on your point of view. That's when suits and dresses turn up in burnished metal fabrics, when matelasse jackets cap skimpy panne velvet dresses and when velvet or satin shorts and bloomers appear with dark stockings and feathered boots. There they are — the hot pants of 1971.

Everything hangs from the shoulders of San Lorenzo, too. Big pads support gray curly lamb tights, taupe leather ones, even knitted cardigans and pullovers. They look strange in the sweaters.

Among other things, the chemise returns here. Maybe you'd prefer to call it a shift. With its midknee length, it is clearly dated 1963.

Miguel Cruz entertained his audience by showing how many ways he could use gray flannel, which is something of a favorite for fall. He matched tapered pants with gray sweaters, and threw bright-colored slickers over them. And he showed gray flannel suits. At night, he switched to gray velvet. It was an interesting exercise.

Maurizio Galbinani, who designs for Trell, had a noisy, cheerful reception. He must have a lot of friends, since his grasp of drssmaking is shaky. It takes more than pillow-stuffed shoulders to make a collection that works.

As the showing wandered through recent fashion history, there was a notable lack of consistency. What people are beginning to ask is, "Where are the clothes for the 1980's?"

dear abby

Dear Anny: How do you tell a relative that it's time she and her husband gave a party? When this couple moved to town over two years ago, they didn't know a soul. We introduced them to all our friends, and now our friends are their friends, too.

They are an attractive couple, well-liked and popular, but if they don't start inviting some of those people back, they won't be well-liked and popular much longer.

Since we, in a sense, sponsored them, we feel somewhat responsible for their social sins of omission. What do we do? I can hardly hold my head up.

Kissing Cousin

Dear Cousin: It's not necessary to stick your neck out in order to hold your head up. If you're concerned about this couple's threatened loss of popularity as well as the reflection of yourselves, tell your cousin that when she starts to reciprocate her social obligations you'll be glad to help her. If she doesn't take the hint — you've done your part.

Confidential to J and K: Too much togetherness is unhealthy for a marriage. If you're together all the time, you'll have nothing new to tell each other. What could be more boring?

Dear Abby: I am getting married soon and have found just the place I want to get married. It's a beautiful empty field on the Pacific Coast Highway overlooking the ocean.

Do I have to find out who owns that property and get permission to get married there? Or doesn't it matter?

Loves Nature

Dear Loves: It matters a great deal. You must find the owner of that property and obtain permission first.

Dear Abby: My 24-year-old daughter has made a decision that is breaking my heart. I honestly wonder if she's in her right mind.

At 16 she was married because she was pregnant, and now she has seven children. The last two are identical twin girls born only five days ago. She and her husband have decided to keep one of the twins, and give the other up for adoption. Abby, can you believe this? Their reason is so terrible that I'm almost ashamed to tell you.

One of the twins was born with a club foot and a cleft palate. The other twin is perfect. Both are beautiful and otherwise healthy. They want to keep the perfect one and give the other away. The thought of separating these twin babies makes me sick.

I've tried to tell my daughter that the club foot and cleft palate can be corrected with surgery, but she says that six children are all they can afford.

I offered to take the defective baby, but she says it would create problems to have her in the family. She's already contacted an adoption agency, and a childless couple is waiting to adopt the twin.

Can you help me? Please hurry.

Heartsick Granny

Dear Granny: Urge your daughter to see a psychiatrist. She may be suffering from a temporary depression from which she will recover.

However, should your daughter go through with the adoption, it will not be final for a year. But should she reconsider in the meantime, what a cruel ordeal for the adoptive parents!

Dear Abby: I'm 29, married and mixed up. All my life I was a fat girl with a pretty face, but a good man fell in love with me and married me.

Two years ago I took off 55 pounds. I love myself thin, but now I've got problems I never had before.

Men started noticing me. I got involved with a man at work who gave me a line I was dumb enough to fall for. ("Divorce your husband and marry me.") Well, I asked my husband for a divorce — confessed everything, and then the other guy backed off. The rat! I felt like two cents. Thank God, my husband forgave me. Then I got involved with a married neighbor who had a reputation for fooling around. In the middle of that affair I started up another, with a salesman, younger than myself, who calls on our office.

Abby, I never had these problems when I was fat. I don't want to be fat again, but the "new me" is so weak and trampy I can't stand to live with myself. Please help me.

Thin and Mixed-Up

Dear Thin: You apparently still think of yourself as the "fat girl no man would want." You need to keep proving to yourself that you're desirable. Get some counselling and become acquainted with the real you. I think you'll like her. (A real "tramp" wouldn't feel guilty.)

Ceiling Fires Tied To Insulation

TORONTO (CP) — Recessed light fixtures covered with insulation might have caused a number of recent fires, the Canada Standards Association says.

Recessed fixtures that project into an attic or ceiling space and may come in contact with insulation material could create enough heat to start a fire, an association spokesman said.

A recent seminar of the International Association of Electrical Inspectors cited more than a dozen recent fires across the country attributed to the problem, the spokesman said.

The standards association has urged homeowners to check their attics or other ceiling spaces.

The spokesman said the Canadian Electrical Code, in general use by the provinces, stipulates that "recessed fixtures shall not be used when blanketed with thermal insulation."

Solution: Eliminate a Wall

By Pauline Graves

Surely a hall has to be the most difficult room of all to make attractive. All sorts of tricks help. A skylight, for one, brings in light and reduces the use of overhead fixtures. The long walls offer space for a picture or family portrait gallery. Or a combination of colors or of paint and wallpaper can create an illusion of width and shorten the length.

In the house shown here, however, by architect W. Dean Davidson, the problem was solved with the elimination of one wall altogether between hall and living room.

Both areas benefit. The living room seems to be four feet wider than its true size, and the hall not only seems wider but is lighter than if a wall separated the two.

In addition, the living room shares its colors and textures with the hall as well as furniture and architectural features which are viewed from the hall and therfore they seem to be a part of it.

A separation exists, though, the boundary made clear by the sunken living room floor, two steps down from the hall. Also, 6''x6'' posts march from the living room steps to the hall's end, placed at six foot intervals. They function as a bearing wall, needed for ceiling support.

They are decorative, too, covered with walnut veneers. Further defining the separation, the sofa stands at the living room edge, its back a barrier against the hall floor. Depth of the living room becomes immediately apparent, and there is no chance that anyone might inadvertantly stumble into it.

Fitness: Better Late Than . . .

Leslie Holbrook

It is not too late to begin to practise good health and safety habits after the age of 65 — even though you should have started decades sooner.

Prevention of illnesses and accidents is always a better deal than cures and repairs.

The great majority of older people are relatively healthy and are living at home. (Only about only per cent live in nursing homes.) Most of us are not seriously disabled. Even at this late date we can maintain our present standards and significantly increase our well-being by observing a few simple rules.

The experts are in agreement that the worst thing you can do — at any age — is sit around and avoid physical exercise.

Robert C. Goode, a University of Toronto physiology professor, tells us that we are encouraged to do this at a very early age (bus rides to school, TV instead of pick-up ball or hockey) and it grows worse as we grow older (trying to park our cars on the doorstep of our destinations).

In later years, mobility becomes critical; keeping on the move is essential to happy, healthy senior living.

"Past 55 there is no need to jog; just walk but keep moving; don't sit all the time," says Professor Goode. "It's the old story — what you don't use, you lose. Joints stiffen muscles atrophy and bones start to decalcify."

You must have seen evidence of this even if you haven't experienced it in your own life yet. There are the 70- and 80-year-old men and women who are out every day — walking, bowling, curling, cross-country skiing, gardening, golfing, bird-watching, doing active volunteer work; their only need for a doctor seems to be for a periodic checkup (which should be an essential part of any oldster's health program).

Recently, the U.S. National Institute on Aging sponsored an international symposium on exercise and aging. Reports by experts from around the world confirmed that exercise not only can maintain your present standard of health but can reverse declines among older people.

Here are some of the benefits they recorded: Allow an active life for up to another 20 years without excessive huffing and puffing; keep the lungs younger; restore youthful ratios of muscle to fat and, in so doing, perhaps recover more youthful metabolic rates; reduce irritability; improve blood circulation efficiency.

So there is the cardinal rule: Keep active. Add to that six other rules for healthy living and you are giving yourself much more than an average chance of living long and happily.

The other rules: Get the right amount of sleep (average is eight hours for men, seven for women); eat a good breakfast every day; eat three meals a day and avoid snacks; control your weight; if you drink, do so moderately (one or two drinks a day); don't smoke.

Just by following these simple rules, a study of 7,000 residents by the California Health Department indicates that women can add seven healthy years to their lives and men can add eleven.

Where can you find a better investment?

Harrisburg Spectre Hangs Over Europe

BONN (AP) — The nuclear accident at Harrisburg, Pa., has forced Western European governments to re-examine their nuclear development plans amid criticism that the same thing, or worse, might happen again.

Most European officials who have spoken out on the Harrisburg affair have insisted that despite the risk, resource-poor Europe has no alternative but to develop nuclear energy.

But planners at the European Commission in Brussels fear that Harrisburg's legacy to Europe will be a delay of at least one year in the pace of nuclear development as governments tighten safety standards and calm public fears.

Nuclear plants generate only 10.3 per cent of the electricity consumed within the nine European Economic Community (EEC) countries, although there are plans to increase that to 30 per cent by 1985.

Non-communist Europe operates 85 plants, compared with 70 licensed plants in the United States, the world's leading nuclear consumer. Britain leads Western Europe with 33 plants, followed by West Germany with 15. The Soviet Union has 26 nuclear plants.

Robert Elphick of the EEC's energy commission, says the Harrisburg accident — widely reported in Europe — "has not helped the cause of convincing people we can control this technique safely."

After the accident at Harrisburg, local governments in Belgium and Italy called for a halt in plant construction in their areas until they receive assurances of safety.

Voters in the northern West German state of Schleswig-Holstein may provide a clue to the depth of anti-nuclear sentiment when they cast ballots April 29 in a legislative election that the Social Democrats want to turn into a referendum on a local power plant.

Danish Prime Minister Anker Joergensen said recently that his country has not abandoned plans to build reactors but added, "on the other hand, we are taking a pause, offering ourselves a respite to examine the information we will get on the U.S. accident."

One European country pressing ahead with nuclear development is France, which has the continent's most ambitious nuclear plans. The Soviet Union and other-Soviet bloc countries also have tended to downgrade the Harrisburg incident and press ahead with plans for nuclear power.

But elsewhere, nuclear energy is under attack by environmentalists and lawmakers skeptical of industry assurances that European safety standards are too strict to allow another Harrisburg-type accident.

Britain: British officials say the Harrisburg incident is evidence of the superior safety standards of their gas-cooled reactors, which have been in service since the late 1940s with only two minor acidents. But anti-nuclear groups have put forward 50 candidates for the May 3 general election, and 19 of these are expected to make trouble for Liberal candidates in marginal seats.

Finland: The Finnish government announced that it sees no need for special safety measures because the possibility of such an accident at one of its two nuclear plants is non-existent.

Italy: Controversy over nuclear safety has held up government plans for an additional 12 plants. Massimo Moretti, director general of the country's electricity monopoly, warns of drastic power shortages in the 1980s if the plants are not built. "The Harrisburg facts change absolutely nothing because electric energy means economic development," he said. "And nuclear energy is indespensable."

Austria: Voters turned down a proposal last November that would have allowed the country's first nuclear plant to open. And Foreign Minister Willibald Pahr proposed that countries be allowed to say whether their neighbors build nuclear plants near their borders.

Switzerland: Voters go to the polls May 20 to consider a measure guaranteeing that "no more nuclear plants be built than is absolutely necesssary." A measure that would have placed strong curbs on the nuclear industry was narrowly defeated last year.

Belgium: Antwerp city council has expressed concern over a nuclear plant in the city and has asked for safety guarantees. Last week, the mayor of the town of Huy ordered a nearby plant closed, but the national government reversed the decision.

Denmark: The governments of Sweden and Denmark established a joint committee to investigate the Harrisburg accident and to report on safety measures at Sweden's Barsebaeck plant, only 18 kilometres from the capital, Copenhagen.

Japan N-Plant Closes Day After Opening

The ministry of international trade and industry said the check of the Ohi plant was expected to take at least two days.

Uranium Fuel Rods Damaged

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — A report by Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) staff says extensive damage to uranium fuel elements occurred during the early stages of the Three Mile Island nuclear power plant accident.

The preliminary evaluation by NRC staff says much of the reactor's 100 tons of uranium was uncovered when pressurized coolant water was turned to steam.

"It was during these periods of deficient cooling that extensive damage to the fuel elements occurred," the report says.

The agency says the March 28 accident crumbled and twisted the zirconium alloy cladding which encases the reactor's uranium rods.

"Significant cladding oxidation occurred in the upper regions of the core and most fuel rods have some damage," the report says.

"The core geometry in the upper regions of the core, especially near the centre, is believed to be severely distorted due to loss of fuel cladding integrity."

But the report adds that technicians believe temperatures did not reach the melting point of uranium.

An uncontrolled meltdown of uranium is considered the worst possible accident that can occur in a reactor, because it can send geysers of deadly radioactive steam into the atmosphere.

Just how close Three Mile Island came to such a disaster will not be known until technicians can look inside the reactor, which is still hot and surrounded by high radiation.

CITY WATCHDOG RICHARDS Report 104: Congratulations to Alderman John Hayes in pointing out that after rezoning the lands at 602 Frances Ave from Single Family Dwelling to Light Industrial District that there is no restriction to the height of any building built on the property. Therefore Your City Watchdog makes this observation that Mr. McElroy's home at 20 Bushby St is less than 200' from the beautiful Dallas Road waterfront with not one high building to block out the sunshine from his frontyard. Alderman McElroy also has two well kept homes on either side of his residence. Those unfortunate people from Frances and Speed Ave. with also nice homes should check and see how fortunate that no Industrial or Warehouse buildings are being built next to Alderman McElroy's Home. Yet Alerman McElroy votes to rezone land in the Burnside area to Light Industrial. Perhaps someday in the Fairfield area an adjoining property to Mr. McElroy's could be rezoned to allow a very high Industrial or Warehouse building. Your City Watchdog attended a Group "B" City Council Committee Meeting on April 3rd and it appears that Alderman McElroy has not yet reached a compromising solution regarding the removal of a bus stop in front of Donald K. Smyth's beautiful home and adjoining gardens on Dallas Rd, of which Mr. Smyth has been a tax paying home owner of 22 years. Your City Watchdog suggests that the bus route be reversed so as to allow the bus terminus to be on the South side of Dallas Road in the large parking bay. Seen in Passing: a red car licence number EGN 0-- smashed into a pole by the Pay and Save gas station on Esquimalt Rd. If you wish information regarding City matters, please continue phoning 383-6259, Your City Watchdog, C. Joe Richards or write P.O. Box 154. Postscript: Many thanks to the staff of the Victoria Public Savings Credit Union for an entertaining evening. Happy Easter!

IF YOU SCAN THE PERSONal ads with a question in your mind concerning those who place them and if you have never considered answering one, at least think about this one before you discard it. This is an honest approach to the problem of meeting a healthy attractive middleaged man. I'm considered attractive. I'm very successfully selfsupporting. I enjoy all outdoor activities, reading, travel, etc. I could care a great deal for someone. I hope this may be the way to find him. If interested, please summon the courage to furnish full particulars in confidence to Victoria Press Box 792.

DRIVE BY 3108 WISHART

Situated in this lovely area in Colwood. Originally a show house — 1400 plus square feet of gracious living. Enter the front door, and down to a sunken livingroom with floor to ceiling fireplace, up two steps to the delightful dining area. Off the dining area is a 12'x16' family room opening to a patio for your outdoor barbecuing. Cabinet electric kitchen. Separate laundry room [illegible] and two bedrooms. Off the carport is a small storage or workshop area and a 4' crawl space cemented for lots of storage — heated of course, with oil. Vendors moving to an apartment — Asking $63,500. It's a dream house with awnings.

HOW TO WRITE

CLASSIFIED ACTION

AD

1—IT'S BEST to start your ad with the name of the article or service you have to offer. If you have an apartment, room, etc., for rent, or property for sale; start your ad with the location.

2—BE CLEAR. Readers respond more quickly and favorably by giving complete, definite information. Always include the price in your advertisement.

3—MAKE IT EASY for the reader-prospect to reach you. Always give your telephone number or your name and address. If you do not have regular hours, state a preferred time for the prospect to get in touch with you.

4—PLAY SAFE. You get the greatest reader attention by using consecutive insertions. A six-day order is best and costs less, and you can, of course, stop your ad as soon as you get the results you want. You pay only for the days your ad appeared. Lower yearly rates are available to those who wish to keep their services or products before the public.

5—PLACE YOURSELF in the reader's position and ask yourself what you want to know about your offer. The answer you give will make a good Want Ad.

6—GIVE YOUR PROSPECT every inducement you can with good copy. Classified action ad readers have the money and are already interested in buying the merchandise or service you have to offer; the details and information you give are the most important.

7—TO PLACE YOUR AD, call 386-2121, your direct line number to fast Want Ad action. A courteous, efficient advisor will be glad to help you word and place your order. And remember, Classified Action Ads afford you the most complete coverage. Telephones are open 8:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. Monday through Friday, 8:00 to 5:30 p.m. Saturday. Don't allow the reader to speculate.

308 CARDS OF THANKS

The family of the late Fredrick George Garrington extends sincere thanks to all friends and relatives for their kindess and help in the loss of our loving husband, father and grandfather. Thanks to Padre Tony Roberts, McCall's Brothers and the Chief and P.O.'s Assc. Ethel Garrington and families.

We wish to extend sincere thanks to all friends and relatives for their help and messages of sympathy in the loss of our brother Archibald (Sonny) also thanks to Saanich Police, McCall Funeral Chapel and Rev. Ray Allen.

The Brown Family

The family of the late Clara Butler extends sincere thanks to all friends and relative for their kindness and help in the loss of our loving sister, mother and grandmother. Thanks to Thompson, Hayward and Irving and Mr. Jones.

309 IN MEMORIAM

CLIFF — In fond memory of our dear Mother and Nana, Rosina Violet, called to "Eternal Rest" April 16, 1953.
Dad and Grandad, Charles Wm. Jan. 27, 1962.
"No longer here our lives to share,
But in our hearts they are always near."
Sadly missed by Dolly, the twins Norah and Violet, Reg, Percy and families.

Gone are the days we used to share
But in my heart you are always there,
Those memories will never close,
I miss you more than anyone knows.
As I walk through life alone.
Sadly missed by his loving wife Margaret. Also missed by his dear friends, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lawrence of Regina, Sask.

THEY SHALL GROW NOT OLD AS WE WHO ARE LEFT GROW OLD, AGE SHALL NOT WEARY THEM, NOR THE YEARS CONDEMN, AT THE GOING DOWN OF THE SUN, AND IN THE MORNING, WE WILL REMEMBER THEM.
WITH GRATITUDE, SANDS

SPECHT - In loving memory of Reg who passed away April 15, 1974.
There is a link death cannot sever,

CAREY—Duncan, Stewart. Treasured memories of a dear and loving husband who died April 15, 1976. For as long as memory last.
Beloved Peg.

Female Christ Gets Mixed Reaction

TORONTO (CP) — A controversial sculpture of a crucified Christ in female form dominated Easter worship services Sunday at Bloor Street United Church.

Almost 1,000 worshippers attended the service, which also featured modern dance and music by a brass quintet.

Rev. Clifford Elliott said the figure with its powerful imagery of women being "crucified" by society became a focal point after the service when the congregation gathered around it and talked with its creator, sculptress Almuth Lutkenhaus of Oakville, Ont.

"The reaction was very, very favorable," Elliott said.

But evangelist Rev. Ken Campbell of Milton, Ont., who spoke to Easter Sunday worshippers in the observation deck of Toronto's CN Tower, called the sculpture reprehensible.

"God have mercy on those inoculated with this dismal Sunday-morning religion," Campbell said to a chorus of amens.

In literature handed out at the service, he deplored "a blatant denial at this Easter season of the historic facts of the incarnation."

"It is a Biblical rebuke to religious leaders whose wicked unbelief is troubling the church in Toronto," said Campbell, a Baptist minister who founded Renaissance International, a parents' group, in 1974 to fight what he called godlessness in the public school system.

Tito's Sex Life Helps His Image

JOVANKA: 'Retired' on army pension

By MICHAEL DOBBS

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (WP) — A few months ago, an unsigned letter appeared in Yugoslavia's leading newspaper, Politika, asking plaintively what really became of "Jovanka Orleanka." Those are the Serbian words for Joan of Arc, but they were instantly interpreted by delighted readers as referring to President Tito's disgraced third wife, Jovanka.

Nearly two years after she was last seen at a public function, the mystery of what happened to the raven-haired Jovanka — and whether anybody else has replaced her at Tito's side — still fascinates Yugoslavs. The subject is out of bounds for the semi-official press — which is what made the letter in Politika so intriguing — but remains a topic for virtually endless conversation in Yugoslavia's thriving restaurants and coffee bars.

A bemused Western diplomat, who has sent several dispatches on Jovanka to his home capital, compared keeping up with the latest rumors about Tito's private life to tracking down unidentified flying objects. "As soon as you think you are on to something solid, dozens more sightings of alleged girlfriends are reported around the country," he said.

An unofficial tally of women whose names have been popularly linked with the 86-year-old Yugoslav leader since Jovanka's fall from grace includes an airline hostess, a journalist, a masseuse and, most persistently of all, a glamorous, if slightly dumpy, 35-year-old opera singer named Gertruda Minutic. Some foreign newspapers have even described Minutic, who has a teen-age daughter from a previous marriage, as Marshal Tito's fourth wife following a secret wedding ceremony.

The issue has generated considerable embarrassment for Yugoslav officials already sensitive about anything to do with Tito. At press conferences, the hands of some highly placed officials have been observed to tremble at the mere mention of Jovanka's name.

Routine requests to the Foreign Ministry spokesman for information about the president's marital state are rejected as "dirty and tasteless," followed by a stream of abuse against "Yugoslavia's enemies" who, it is darkly alleged, launched the girlfriend reports to further their own subversive ends.

Most ordinary Yugoslavs, however, appear to interpret the rumors as proof of Tito's virility — a sign that the world's longest surviving head of state as no intention of giving up just yet.

A Belgrade journalist commented in some awe: "This is doing the old man's reputation more good than any number of meetings with distinguished foreign visitors. I am sure the lesson has not been lost on the Russians — or anybody else hoping to have advantage of possible instability in Yugoslavia after Tito's death."

Official claims that Tito's private life should be sacrosanct would carry more weight if it prevously had not been the subject of countless idolatory articles, books and films. For 25 years, his marriage to Jovanka — a former partisan major who became his wardrobe mistress after the war — was depicted as a shining example of conjugal bliss. Suddenly in June, 1977, shortly before he paid his first, highly successful visit to China, it became a taboo subject.

Jovanka is now officially a nonperson. The efforts once devoted to ensuring that she was always pictured at Tito's side are now spent assuring that she never graces the pages of a Yugoslav newspaper again. Given her former prominence, it is a difficult task. Old pictures of Tito occasionally contain telltale glimpses of a feminine elbow or knee impossible to crop out.

No official explanation was ever given for her disgrace, but dozens of theories were formulated, ranging from deep political intrigues with ranking generals to a simple domestic tiff.

There is little doubt that, by virtue of her unrivalled access to Tito, Jovanka was able to accumulate political influence which she used to advance her favorites. But most observers now believe that the primary reason for her demise was personal.

Tito, in his sole public comment on the affair, told an American interviewer in March, 1978, before his official visit to Washington, that Jovanka remained his wife, but that she made him nervous and he found it easier to travel alone. Expressing surprise at the amount of interest shown abroad, he said it was a personal matter.

Although rumors to the contrary abound, most Yugoslavs claiming to know believe the marriage has since been formally dissolved. Jovanka is said to have been retired on a major's pension and assigned a modest apartment in Belgrade.

All of which has left the spotlight shining on the blonde Gertruda Minutic, who has frequently sung for the president in artistic performances on his private island of Brioni in the Adriatic.

Contacted by foreign journalists in the Bosnian capital of Saraevo, Minutic denied that she was either married to Tito or was his girlfriend. As if to confirm the story, a hefty young "boyfriend" appeared at that precise moment to show the journalists the door.

Whatever the truth, Minutic's own career seems to be prospering. She has been promoted from light opera to star roles in Aida and La Traviata and is much in demand in Yugoslavia's leading opera houses. At the height of the foreign press speculation, she was interviewed on television — on higher instructions, according to Yugoslav journalists.

Meanwhile, the query of Politika's correspondent as to what really happened to "Jovanka Orleanka" has still not received an answer. It is doubtful that it ever will.

Rock, Alpine Society Opens Show Season

GARDENING
hilda beastall

The gardening public of Greater Victoria is well aware of one form of entertainment that is filled with pure pleasure and has not been increased in price: flower shows.

This phenomenon of modern society is taking place despite inflation, adverse weather, threats of elections and sundry other difficulties.

First in line this season is the annual event to be seen this Friday and Saturday when Vancouver Island Rock and Alpine Garden Society display their choicest specimens for visitors to enjoy. Learning something about these plants opens the way to other uses than creating rock or alpine gardens for display. Containers such as trough gardens or shallow tubs on balconies will give similar pleasure to folks without conventional garden space.

This year, there will no doubt be a number of Eastern visitors in town from other parts of Canada which still have near-winter conditions, and from the Northwestern United States. Such persons should certainly enjoy the display and, as host or hostess of these out-of-towners, you would be delighted at their appreciation if you were to take them to this event.

The location of the show is easy to find: St. Mary's Church Hall, 1701 Elgin Road — only a couple of miles or so from city centre, along Fort Street and Oak Bay Avenue.

The show will be open Friday from 2 to 10 p.m. and from 9:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. Saturday. Admission is still 50 cents.

The plants exhibited are native to many remote areas of the world, as well as from remote areas of the Canadian north and from Alaska. Often their names are the clues to places of origin but at every show you find members willing to relate the history of a treasure that catches the eye of a visitor.

Suited to alpine gardens — even on balconies — are dwarf forms of common plants such as willows and brooms. These display favorites may be new to many visitors but have been grown for years in local alpine collections.

Also dwarf in form are natural conifer miniatures, which will also be on display. As they age, they will be practically priceless, for their slow growth is measured in millimetres annually.

Quite different in character are the Bonzai plants. This is an artificial dwarfing art now being practised by local gardeners. Practically any wood plant of tree form can be persuaded, by clever training and sensitive pruning, to remain small yet assume the appearance of great age.

To see these carefully grown specimens is to want to develop the art for one's own pleasure. These too can be accommodated on small, outdoor area gardens such as patio, sundeck or balcony. They must be kept in comparatively small containers all their lives.

An added bonus for showgoers will be a showing of world famous water color paintings of wild flowers by local artist Miss Emily Sartain.

Tales of Atrocities By Somoza's Army

ESTELI, Nicaragua (AP) — Bloodstained sidewalks, broken glass and spent cartridge cases littered the streets of Esteli Sunday night as residents told of atrocities by President Anastasio Somoza's army during the week-long fight to take the city from leftist guerrillas.

Nearly every building in Esteli shows evidence of the fighting. Some are scarred by bullets. Others have been reduced to rubble by cannon and mortar fire.

Residents of the city who took refuge in the San Juan de Dios Hospital during the fighting said soldiers burst into the building Thursday afternoon, took 40 young persons outside and shot them.

"They shot four men right here in the hospital," said one woman. "All had been wounded and all were unconscious."

Stela Gonzalez de Selva said her husband, a doctor at the hospital, was among those killed by the soldiers.

"They burst into the hospital . . . just as he was coming out of surgery," Mrs. Gonzalez said. "He had his surgical gown on and had been working around the clock.

"They took him outside, walked him down to the corner and shot his chest out with machine guns. They did it just for pleasure."

Another woman who had been at the hospital at the time confirmed the account and said she saw the doctor's body in the street, his chest cavity caved in by gunfire.

National guardsmen continued to surround the city Sunday night, refusing to let residents enter or leave the city. There were troops behind the barricades the Sandinista guerrillas threw up, and armored cars were at major intersections.

An estimated 400 guerrillas of the Sandinista National Liberation Front stormed the 100-man national guard garrison in the city of 35,000 on April 5. It was the biggest assault since the Sandinistas led an unsuccessful two-week uprising against the Somoza family dictatorship last September.

There is no reliable estimate of the number of persons killed during the week that the guerrillas held off Somoza's troops.

Hindus, Moslems Battle, 104 Dead

NEW DELHI (Reuter) — The official death toll in savage fighting between Hindus and Moslems in the northeast Indian town of Jamshedpur rose to 104 Sunday as one person was stabbed to death and police recovered three decomposed bodies.

Three people were injured when police opened fire to break up a group of rioters on the fifth day of the intercommunal violence, the worst in India in about 10 years.

Libya 'Tried To Buy N-Bomb'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A newspaper columnist claims that Libya's Col. Moammar Khadafy sent an aide to China in 1971 in an unsuccessful effort to buy a nuclear bomb from the Peking government.

Columnist Cord Meyer, a former official of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency, said the Chinese "were not willing to make the sale."

Meyer also said that in 1975 the Libyan strongman ordered Yasser Arafat, head of the Palestine Liberation Organization, to put together a group of Arab scientists to make an atomic bomb.

"Fearing his (Khadafy's) explosive rage, Arafat dared not tell him that there were none sufficiently trained to do it," Meyer said.

"Four years earlier (in 1971), he (Khadafy) had sent his deputy, Abdulssalan Jallud, to Peking with orders to buy a nuclear bomb from the astonished Chinese, who were not willing to make the sale."

Meyer said the Libyan leader "has long been obsessed" with achieving "a nuclear weapons capability to balance the Israeli expertise."

And he said that Khadafy, with his reputation damaged from his unsuccessful attempt to keep Idi Amin in power in Uganda, "is counted likely to be looking for some way to restore his prestige as an Arab leader by bringing off a major coup."

The column also said: "Now the suspicion is strong that clandestine Libyan funding is behind the newly revealed Pakistani effort to build an enriched uranium plant. The potential of Libyan access to this nuclear weapons material helps explain the sharp reaction of the Carter administration to the discovery that this secret work was in progress."

Pender Islands' Clinic Proposal Given $85,000 Provincial Lift

PENDER ISLAND — A medical centre, the first in the Pender Islands, may soon be a reality following receipt of $85,000 in provincial funding by the Penders Lions Club.

The Lions have been working on the idea since first approached in 1977 by Dr. Don Sutherland, the community physician who lives at the extreme southern tip of the islands, away from most of his patients.

Dr. Sutherland would work out of the new centre, which would have an estimated size of 1,500 square feet, including space for a doctor and eventually dentist and pharmacy.

Dief Chipper But in Bed

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (CP) — Former prime minister John Diefenbaker is recovering "fairly steadily" from a flu-induced fall but will likely remain in bed today and Tuesday, Dr. Glen Green, his personal physician, said Sunday.

Dr. Green was called to Diefenbaker's Prince Albert hotel room at about 3 a.m. Saturday morning after the 83-year-old former Progressive Conservative leader, suffering from dizzy spells brought on by influenza, fell and struck his head on a wall.

Sunday night, Dr. Green said Diefenbaker was resting and, while he will be allowed to see visitors, his plans for "mainstreeting" in his Prince Albert riding during the next couple of days have been cancelled.

Diefenbaker's aide, John McCafferty, said the former prime minister had scheduled no formal appearances for Tuesday, which was to have been his next day of active campaigning for the May 22 federal election.

When Diefenbaker would be allowed to resume his campaign appearances would be up to Dr. Green, McCafferty said.

Diefenbaker was reported in a chipper mood Sunday and had spent the day reading newspapers and watching television with friends.

Earlier reports from Progressive Conservative party sources in Ottawa said Diefenbaker's condition was such that he could not be moved from his hotel to a hospital.

However Green said Ottawa reports overstated Diefenbaker's condition, which was not serious enough to warrant shifting him to a hospital.

"I didn't call in any consultants," said Green.

The doctor said the fall resulted in a blackened eye and some abrasions. Although Diefenbaker seemed to be still suffering some of the influenza's effects, Dr. Green said the dizzy spells seemed to have cleared up.

McCafferty said Diefenbaker plans to spend most of the election campaign in the riding, except for some appearances in support of Conservative candidates in other parts of the country.

Mortgage Tax Cut Urged on Liberals

TORONTO (UPC) — A still unpublished report will urge the federal Liberal party to mimic Conservative leader Joe Clark's proposal to make interest on mortgages tax deductible, the Toronto Globe and Mail reported today.

"It is far safer for the cabinet to run the smaller risk of being an intellectual thief, than the larger risk of being a political fool," the report is quoted.

The newspaper said the report, prepared by Toronto lawyer and Liberal supporter David Greenspan, is already in the hands of Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau and Tory leader Clark.

The report was commissioned by the Canadian Institute of Public Real Estate Companies, a lobby group for development firms.

Clark's plan would allow tax deductions on interest on mortgages up to $50,000 and property taxes up to $1,000. The Liberals have objected that the plan is unfair to those who cannot afford to purchase a home.

But Greenspan's report, the newspaper said, warns the Liberals will face a middle-class revolt if they don't adopt some version of the Tory proposal.

Some Enumerators 'Getting Dander Up'

OTTAWA (FP) — An explanation of the hostile reception accorded at least one pair of the enumerators, listing eligible voters in Ottawa Centre, was given by a bemused woman voter in that constituency.

She had read the story that some enumerators in Ottawa Centre had reported back to Mathew McGrath, returning officer for the riding, that they had received irate and sometimes even rude greetings when they called to list all those over 18 years of age who were eligible to vote.

"I can explain why they got that kind of a reception in our high rise," she told FP Publications.

"I live in an apartment block and one night around eight o'clock there was a loud pounding on my door. It was like you see in the movies, the Gestapo calling in the middle of the night, you know," she said.

"I was watching television and was alone. I must admit I was startled and annoyed at the loud hammering, but when I opened the door there was a young good looking fellow who is a Carleton University student. He had hammered on the door, much too loudly. I told him that.

"The other enumerator was a nice looking woman. I gave them the details they wanted and then listened as they moved down the corridor of the apartment block.

"He would pound on a door and shout 'elections'. I've done some enumerating myself and know something about it. I told him he shouldn't shout 'election' but should identify themselves as 'enumerators.' He stirred up that whole floor. One usually mild mannered man, answered the pounding on his door with 'Get out of here you bees.' And he's usually quite soft spoken!

"That fellow just got everybody's dander up. I think that's your explanation," said the woman.

McGrath, the returning officer, had voiced surprise that some of his enumerators reported angry reactions to their calls on residents. "Something seems to be frustrating these peopple," he said.

50% See PQ Flop

MONTREAL (UPC) — More than half the separatist Parti Quebecois' own members doubt the party will succeed in pulling Quebec out of Confederation, a public opinion poll shows.

The Quebec Institute of Public Opinion survey, published Sunday in the French-language daily Dimanche-Matin, shows 58.7 per cent of the party's members believe the PQ's efforts will eventually fail.

The survey also showed that Pequistes and Liberals favor renewed federalism in almost equal numbers, that a slim majority of PQ members support the party's stated goal of "sovereignty-association," and that both Liberals and PQ followers doubt their parties' ability to define the constitutional options facing Canada.

The concept of renewed federalism — basic change to the constitution that would leave Confederation intact — has been promoted by the Quebec Liberal Party as a constitutional alternative to seperation.

The survey found 55.9 per cent of PQ members are favorable to renewed federalism as are 59.4 per cent of the Liberals.

The survey also showed 51.1 per cent of PQ members supported the party's program of sovereignty-association "as they knew it", while 20.7 per cent were opposed and 28.2 per cent undecided.

Results indicated a majority — 60.7 per cent — believe both the PQ and the Liberals have yet to clearly define their constitutional options.

Fully 60 per cent of PQ members and 63.7 per cent of Liberal members said they believed their parties were not capable of providing a complete definition of constitutional options at this time.

Quebec Vote Seen in November

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Burreau

OTTAWA — Senator Al Graham, president of the Liberal Party of Canada, said Sunday he expects the Quebec referendum will be held in November and Canadians could be faced with the "danger and economic consequences of the breakup of this country."

If it was not for the situation in Quebec he doubted that Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau would be seeking re-election.Trudeau feels however that he is the strongest leader, best able to deal with Premier Rene Levesque and separation, said the senator.

He said it was unfortunate that the polls indicated a number of Canadians were not concerned with the possible separation of Quebec. Some say Quebec "will not separate," others say "if they want to separate let them go."

"As soon as this general election is over regardless of who wins, we're going to be faced with the reality and the consequences," he warned.

He denied during an interview on CTV's Question Period that he was suggesting a vote for any person other than Pierre Trudeau for prime minister, would be construed as an anti-French Canadian verdict by the people of Quebec.

"I'm not saying that at all," he declared. "No, no, what I'm saying simply is that we have to demonstrate to the rest of Canada that we want Quebec to remain in confederation."

He also denied vigorously that as a member of the Upper House he spends the major part of his time working for the "greater good of the Liberal party."

"I reject the suggestion that I could spend the majority of my time or the major part of my time working for the party, because if you work 16 hours a day and you work seven days a week you obviously have some spare time in terms of working for the party. But I take a back seat to no one in terms of the time that I would devote to the responsibilities that I have and I'm sure that the other senators would feel the same way, that is to giving sober second thought," said Senator Graham.

The senator was responding to criticism voiced by members of the panel questioning him, that a number of senior officials of the Liberal party held posts as senators for which they were paid out of the public purse. The panel named Senator Keith Davey and Senator Jean Marchand, joint Liberal campaign chairman and Senator Royce Frith, handling the party's campaign in Ontario, in addition to Senator Graham.

Senator Graham said he did not agree with the recent assessment made by his colleague Senator Frith that up to three Liberal cabinet ministers face the loss of their seats in Toronto.

Minority Gov't Vote 'Terrible Mistake'

ELECTION 79

TORONTO (UPC) — Canadians who consciously elect a minority federal government on May 22 will do a disservice to their country, Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau said Sunday.

"I think it would be a terrible mistake for people to deliberately set out to elect a minority government at this time," Trudeau said in an interview on the Global Television network.

"If it happens that way — some people voting Tory, some Liberal, some NDP — and they don't know what it all adds up to, fine. But those who consciously advocate a minority (government) ... are not really serving Canada well," the prime minister said.

He said the government elected in May would have to deal with the possibility of separation in Quebec and strong provincial premiers like Alberta's Peter Lougheed "who has very different interests in Canada."

He said anyone who wants the federal government to be weak to deal with those questions was doing a disservice to the country.

Trudeau said Conservative leader Joe Clark was using his (Trudeau's) 11-year tenure in office as one of his strengths.

He said that if the Conservatives are not able to deal with Quebec separatism and strong provincial premiers then perhaps its not time to give them a chance to govern.

He said people feel times are changing and perhaps the natural instinct of Canadians would be to change the government.

"But if the alternative ... had no policies and if the government is introducing new policies all the time, then I'm just hoping that the time for change would be to go for a government with new policies rather than a new government with old policies," Trudeau said.

The prime minister said the situation in Canada changed following the election of separatist government in Quebec.

$5M-$6M Heist, Second Biggest

OTTAWA (CP) — Thieves made what is probably the second largest haul in Canadian history Sunday when they took goods valued at between $5 and $6 million from the city's main postal terminal.

Their take was exceeded only by a $10-million theft of bonds, securities and jewelry in May, 1958, from the Brockville, Ont., Trust and Savings Co.

But they left behind a shah's ransom, a post office official said in an interview — between $40 million and $50 million in bullion, stamps, jewelry, cash and drugs.

"They were like kids inside a candy store," the official said. "They didn't know what they were looking for."

With police sharply critical of security in the block-long building in Ottawa's southeast section, the official observed that "any part-time employee or Christmas helper would know the security arrangements on a holiday weekend and what was in the registration room."

What the thieves — police are convinced there were three people involved in what they are terming an inside job — got was between $3 million and $4 million in negotiable American Express money orders and traveller's cheques along with cash, jewelry, minted coin sets and Canadian and foreign passports.

It was all protected by the vigilance of a single unarmed member of the Corps of Commissionaires — drawn exclusively from the ranks of retired military personnel — without even the aid of a burgular alarm system in the building.

The commissionaire was located at the front door of the building located in the southwest corner of the building, so the thieves entered by breaking the glass window beside a door in the northeast corner and pushing the door release bar.

There normally are two commissionaires on duty, but this was reduced to one for the Easter holiday weekend.

Once inside, knowing just where they were going, the thieves then walked up to the third floor, cut the lock off the registration office door and went through a sliding glass window into the working area where the goods were stored in canvas bags and cartons.

Taking their time ripping open the cartons and slicing open the mail sacks, the thieves spent about two hours gathering an estimated 400 pounds of loot in five blue army-style duffel bags before carrying them back down the stairs and out the open back door.

The theft, which took place in the early hours of Sunday morning, was discovered at about 7:30 a.m. by an employee reporting for work.

Police said a passerby saw a four-wheel-drive vehicle with Quebec license plates parked at the back entrance of the post office about the time of the early-morning break-in.

They said they had a good lead on what they thought were three suspects from the Montreal area and only hoped they could get to them before the goods — especially the American Express goods and the passports — went into other hands.

Passports, especially Canadian, have a high value on illegal markets because they are accepted by most

$30M-$50M Stolen

WATERBURY, Conn. (AP) — Thieves stole an estimated $30 million to $50 million in negotiable securities today after shooting and killing three Purolator Security Inc. guards at a company office, the New Haven Register reported.

Police refused to comment on the amount taken, but the newspaper said it had received its estimate from a police investigator who asked not to be identified.

State police and the FBI also refused to comment.

John Connelly, a spokesman for Waterbury police, said at a news conference that an undetermined amount of cash was taken. He declined to say whether any stocks or bonds were stolen.

Connelly said the robbery occurred when the truck arrived at the Waterbury office about 4:30 a.m. with a shipment from Hartford. Two of the slain guards were on the truck and the third was on duty at the depot, he said.

Brussels Airport Hit by PLO Bomb

BRUSSELS (AP) — Palestinian terrorists hurled a gasoline bomb into the main lobby of Brussels international airport shortly after the arrival of an Israeli airliner from Tel Aviv today, injuring at least 12 persons, Belgian police said.

Officials said the terrorists fought a gun battle with police and two were captured and one or two escaped.

Witnesses said the terrorists stood on a mezzanine overlooking the arrival area and threw the bomb into the crowd below. Some witnesses said there were two explosions and that the terrorists threw a grenade as well.

Police said the captured terrorists claimed to be working for the Palestine Liberation Organization and quoted them as saying the Israeli El Al airliner had been their original target.

The terrorists were unable to attack the plane, police said, because it was parked too far from the terminal — a usual safety precaution by El Al, whose planes Palestinian terrorists consider prime targets.

Israel radio said terrorists opened fire on passengers in the main lobby of the terminal and that El Al security guards returned fire.

It was the second attack on a U.S. target in the city since Egypt and Israel signed their peace treaty last month.

A U.S. embassy spokesman said no one was injured in the blast, which occurred just after midnight. There was no one in the building when the blast occurred, he said.

Two Major Blazes Rip Kamloops

KAMLOOPS (CP) — A second major fire to hit this city in less than 48 hours destroyed a building supply dealership today.

Firemen battled blazing lumber, paint and building hardware at City Building Supplies for three hours before bringing the fire under control.

A building containing five businesses was destroyed Saturday night in a blaze that took two hours to control. Smoke covered most of the downtown area and intense heat cracked windows in buildings across the street.

The cause of both fires was unknown but an investigation into the Saturday night fire is to begin Tuesday. There was no immediate word of an investigation into the building supply company fire.

There were no estimates of damage in either blaze and there were no injuries.

Killer Quake Sweeps Adriatic Spas into Sea

Times News Services

BELGRADE — A series of strong aftershocks today rumbled through the Adriatic coast of Yugoslavia and Albania, devastated by an earthquake that killed at least 235, injured nearly 1,000 and left thousands others homeless.

The aftershocks, measuring 4.8 on the Richter scale, hampered efforts by rescue workers searching for survivors from the worst quake ever to hit Yugoslavia. It struck the Adriatic resort region just before dawn Sunday sending parts of the coast tumbling into the sea.

The quake cut a 100-mile swath of Yugoslavia and Albania, killing 235 — 200 in Yugoslavia and 35 in Albania, and injuring 930 others — 600 in Yugoslavia and 330 in Albania, according to official figures in both nations. Authorities said the toll was expected to rise.

Doctors flown in from across Yugoslavia treated hundreds of injured in makeshift relief centres. Rescue workers, using specially trained dogs, searched more than a dozen coastal towns and villages for survivors or bodies buried in the rubble. Frogmen searched coastal waters for persons whose homes slid into the sea.

The initial 50-second shock tore open hotels, hospitals, factories and homes along the coast. Buildings and roads slid into the sea. There were waves of violent aftershocks, and by evening more than 80 tremors had been reported.

"There is not a single house that has not been damaged in one way or another in Herceg-Novi," said Dusko Seferovic, mayor of the resort town on Kotor Bay.

Local officials said the quake levelled nearly all older buildings in 13 towns along the coast, a popular, sun-drenched tourist area.

All roads and most rail lines in the area were damaged and telephone, water and power lines were broken.

"The blow was tremendous," said the captain of a ship anchored off the coastal town of Bar when the quake struck. "At first I thought some other ship had collided with us or we ran aground . . . I saw the Bar port sink slowly and from over the hills large boulders rolled into the sea."

President Josip Broz Tito, who was on vacation near Herceg-Novi, visited the stricken area and ordered aides to mobilize rescue and relief operations.

Tremors from the quake set buildings swaying as far away as West Germany, Austria and Hungary. In Salonika, Greece, Naples, Italy, and in Belgrade, the Yugoslav capital, people fled into the streets in panic.

In Toronto, fifteen representatives of the Yugoslavian community have pledged $2,200 to assist victims of the earthquake.

The Montenegro Relief Committee is also contacting other Yugoslavian community organizations to seek further assistance.

Clark First Back On Trail

Progressive Conservative leader Joe Clark was the first national party leader back on the campaign trail today after an Easter weekend of rest for him, Prime Minister Trudeau and Ed Broadbent, New Democratic Party leader.

(Other federal campaign stories: Page 42.)

Clark flew to Edmonton at mid-day and headed straight to his Yellowhead constituency campaign headquarters at nearby Spruce Grove, Alta. During the week he is scheduled to campaign in British Columbia, Saskatchewan, Toronto and Quebec.

Trudeau, who spent the weekend with his sons at his Harrington Lake retreat, launches his fourth week of campaigning with a news conference in Ottawa Tuesday. Then he flies to Quebec for a seven-community, two-day round of election pitches before heading to Newfoundland, Nova Scotia and southern Ontario.

Broadbent revives his election tour in Saskatoon Tuesday before flying to B.C. where he'll campaign for two days, part of the time with B.C. NDP leader David Barrett who is campaigning in the May 10 provincial election. Then he's off to Winnipeg and Thunder Bay before returning to his Toronto-Oshawa base Saturday.

U.S. Sunday Drivers Run Dry

Times News Services

American motorists taking an Easter day drive found tight supplies of gasoline in some parts of the country leading to empty fuel tanks and pleas for help.

Phones "were running over" with calls from drivers looking for an open gas station, the emergency road dispatcher for the American Automobile Association (AAA) in Seattle said Sunday. "We can't keep up with it."

State police in the Seattle area were giving motorists one or two gallons to limp into gas stations, but some stations ran out of gasoline.

"Mostly we're getting calls from people nearing empty," said a state patrol communications officer in Seattle. He said stations were open but many were low on stocks of gasoline.

Andrew Bozek, a spokesman for the Chicago Motor Club, said the office had received 10 to 20 calls from motorists stranded because of empty tanks.

Many service stations decided to close on Sundays following recent delivery cutbacks by suppliers. The American Petroleum Institute said last week that gasoline inventories are about 11 per cent below 1978 levels, largely due to the Iranian crisis and high demand.

Most oil companies have limited the amount of fuel they will sell dealers to about 90 per cent of last year's levels, although gasoline demand is rising at an annual rate of four per cent.

The AAA in West Palm Beach, Fla., said many motorists in the area ran out of gasoline.

A spokesman for the Massachusetts state police said at least 400 people called between 3 p.m. and 8 p.m. Sunday to ask if filling stations along the Massachusetts Turnpike were open.

Meanwhile, a survey of prices at 16,700 U.S. gas stations taken earlier this month shows the average price of a gallon of gasoline has jumped about 12 per cent since Jan 1, to 76.22 cents from 67.99 cents an American gallon.

BUCKINGHAM

By DEREK SIDENIUS
Times Staff

A new idea in the home improvement field has spawned a host of companies with their sights set on a multi-million dollar business.

Referred to as the dial-a-tradesman concept, it provides a way of bringing together self-employed tradesmen and owners of homes in need of repairs or renovations.

By far the largest is the Blue Army, the brainchild of Jack Kleeman who conceived the concept in Australia six years ago and built it into a million-dollar business.

The other is the Home Services Association of Victoria. Founded by Eric Buckingham, 32, the association is modelled after one that has been operating in Ottawa for three years.

The tradesmen pay $1,500 a year and in return get a 24-hour answering service and first crack on job orders obtained through a big advertising campaign the company promises to deliver. (The annual fee is subject to a guarantee the contractors gross at least that much in jobs obtained through the company.)

Buckingham, operating out of a fifth-floor office at 620 View, has taken a different approach. He has put together a directory of more than 200 tradesmen and small contractors for referral to homeowners who belong to his association. The tradesmen agree to pay the association up to five per cent of the value of the contracts while homeowner members pay a $25 a year subscriber's fee — plus an additional $10 for emergency service between 7 p.m. and 7 a.m. covering unexpected electrical, plumbing or furnace problems. (The labor is free).

Buckingham says he is also setting up a co-operative purchasing plan for members so they can buy building supplies at discount.

Kleeman offers a similar program for his tradesmen.

Buckingham's membership goal is between eight to 10 per cent of the 50,000 homeowners in the four core municipalities.

Kleeman is hoping to gather an army of 100 to 150 tradesmen. He has developed a broad-based operation taking in the Greater Victoria area which he has broken into 12 zones, each comprising about 7,100 homes.

Tradesmen — there are 35 separate classes in the company's brochure — are assigned a zone and promised all referrals from it.

Buckingham says there's an obvious need for the service.

"In the past three or four years a lot of fly-by-night contracting companies have come on the scene," he says. "As unemployment has risen so has the number of small contractors looking for moonlighting jobs. But few give any sort of guarantee."

Since he returned to Canada last summer after 18 years in Australia, he's set up Blue Army offices in Edmonton, Calgary and Vancouver and has already signed on 50, 190 and 160 tradesmen respectively in the three cities.

Kleeman, who lives in West Vancouver, says that during his first month of operation in Vancouver in November his office received 391 inquiries. In December he got 287 of which 51 were persons who had used the service before. In January he started television advertising and the number grew to 773 calls of which 164 were repeats; in February the number nearly doubled to 1,382 with 263 repeats.

He plans to move soon into Winnipeg, Toronto and other eastern centres.

He also plans to organize a Blue Army home buyers' inspection service. For a fee of about $200 his inspectors will look at a home for a prospective buyer.

The two companies have been checked by the Better Business Bureau but manager Bill Tindall says he has found nothing wrong.

Kleeman says a degree of suspicion is expected.

The only question in Tindall's [illegible] is how long the companies will [illegible] Kleeman started his Blue Army [illegible] Adelaide in 1972 and swept into Melbourne, Perth and Brisbane in the next two years. He sold his interest in the company in 1976. Today there is only one Blue Army office still carrying out business under that name — the one in Perth.

But Kleeman says he would be foolish to pull out.

"If I did that the tradesmen would be out $1,500," he says. "But me, I'd be out $150,000."

Hush-hush Rail Hike 'Shoddy'

Via Rail has quietly raised fares between Victoria and Courtenay without a public announcement and that's "a shoddy way to run a railroad," Greater Victoria Chamber of Commerce president Mel Cooper said today.

Fares have been increased 25 per cent to $10 from $8 for the one-way trip.

For the short-haul route from Cobble Hill to Duncan the new fare is $4, a 33 per cent increase from $3.

The chamber is concerned because it is promoting the railroad as a tourist attraction.

"Via Rail must give advance notice of any increase in fares. People in business know rates must be increased from time to time but they are always careful to give sufficient notice."

The rates went up Thursday with no advance notification. In fact, Via Rail switchboard today was still quoting the old rates.

Cooper said the chamber expected a small increase, about five per cent, was coming this year.

He said the chamber will ask Via Rail for a firm commitment on rates so it can publish this information.

While the one-way fare is $10, there is a $13 return fare, if used within three days. This was increased from $10 on Thursday.

Regular return rate after three days becomes $20, up from $16.

RUBBLE ROUSERS digging up treasures at the old Victoria Dodge car dealership in the 800-block Yates have raised the ire of Victoria NDP candidate and archaeologist Gordon Hanson, who says the dig should be undertaken by provincial archaeologists. "This isn't just bottles, it's an historical site," Hanson said today of the area that is to be a parking lot adjacent to the Capitol Theatre. Police can't enforce trespassing laws unless the owner files a complaint. (Bill Halkett photo).

Man Beaten in Park

Police said Joseph Longpre, 1326 Johnson, was given "a pretty fair beating." He received cuts and bruises to his face, head and ribs.

Two men, aged 19 and 21, are in custody facing charges of robbery. Their names have not been released.

Police are seeking three other men.

Longpre was asked for money and was beaten when he refused, police said. They said one of the assailants used a stick.

$2.5M Grant Assured On Convention Centre

An NDP government would honor a $2.5 million grant promised by the Bennett government, guaranteeing a convention centre for Victoria regardless of which party wins the election, Victoria MLA Charles Barber announced today.

Barber, who attended a caucus meeting in Richmond on the weekend, said party leader Dave Barrett has agreed the Victoria convention centre must be constructed and the grant would be made.

"The site is ideal," Barber said. "Remember, it was the NDP government that bought the land from developer Sandy Reid and said it must be used for a public purpose. The convention centre proposal is an intelligent use of the land."

Barber said an NDP government would want to review the costs and design, as a matter of caution, but the present plan "appears to be an excellent one."

On April 3, Deregulation Minister Sam Bawlf announced a $2.5 million grant from the provincial government would assure a construction start this year.

However, the next day Bennett called a provincial election, before the grant could be approved by the legislature.

Barber said about 40 MLAs and NDP candidates attended a day-long meeting in Richmond where three major campaign issues emerged.

He said the 40 candidates said that across the province the three main concerns of people appear to be high ICBC rates for young drivers, deterioration of health services and the lack of job creation by the provincial government.

"There is also a growing concern about nuclear power, especially in Victoria and Vancouver. People are worried about it and they don't want it."

On ICBC rates, Barber said, young people seeking summer work are in a kind of Catch 22 situation where they must drive a car to obtain the job they want but can't afford the insurance because rates are especially high for young drivers.

Ironcially, he said, they could find a way to pay the insurance cost after they have worked for awhile but can't work without the insurance.

Barber said there is also a concern over cutbacks in hospital care, resulting in delays for operations, and people fear doctors might drop out of the provincial medicare program as many have in Ontario.

Building Inspectors To Gather

The 24th annual conference of the Building Inspectors Association of B.C. will be held April 30 to May 2 at the Empress Hotel.

Among the featured speakers will be A.T. Hansen of the National Research Council in Ottawa who will outline changes expected in the 1980 National Building Code.

The association has a membership of 350.

Rest Haven Land Up for $3.4 Million

The site of the old Rest Haven Hospital, a 10-acre plot that includes Rest Haven Island, is on the market for $3.4 million, a Seventh-day Adventist spokesman said today.

Frank White of Abbotsford said one or two parties are interested in acquiring the Sidney property.

Plans for joint development of the land between the church and Abacus Cities Ltd. collapsed last year. Abacus had an agreement with the church to investigate development proposals.

The agreement expired after Sidney council ordered a freeze on all development in the community pending a report on a new community plan.

Abacus spokesman Terry Volb said today his company had been interested in negotiating another agreement but the church had decided it would proceed on its own.

White said the church is not in a financial position to develop the site and it is important for the church to realize the money for the property so it can be used for other projects.

More to Boast than Giant Salmon

UNFAIR THOUGH IT may seem to us who live in this busy and populous Vancouver Island sector, Campbell River's claim to fame is reduced to a single boast. This is The Home of the Tyee Salmon, and even the Non-fishy visitor whose mind is concentrated on other matters is not permitted to forget that fact.

By way of explanation, any salmon of the Chinook species which weighs over 30 pounds rates as a tyee. But in addition to an August run of these spawn-happy visitors to our waters, we have much else to be proud of.

Campbell River, be it stated, is a district municipality of 14,000 population which left village status behind way back in 1964 and could, if it so chose, incorporate itself as a full-fledged city. (Since to do so would create various administration problems, it has wisely stayed its hand.)

Up the line at Duncan Bay, we have a vast, highly-modern pulp mill which has reduced air pollution to nothing worse than a rare whiff of sulphite when the wind blows from the northwest.

Campbell River, in addition, has good schools, a boat-busy waterfront, a notably fine museum, and in its Ironwood Mall, a smart and spanking-new shopping centre.

And as an afterthought, we are also the home of those outsized fish.

With all this in mind, it is understandable that Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau should have seen fit to visit us early in his electioneering campaign.

The advance word was that he would arrive at 3 p.m. in our Tyee Plaza, another major shopping centre built on fill shoved into turbulent Discovery Passage.

By two in the afternoon, Plaza traffic was thickening. In another half hour, parking places were hard to locate. At a quarter to three, as a reminder that we still preserve some rough-and-ready frontier ways, a truck battered down the sign barring off traffic for the PM and his party. Cars piled into the parking slots thus released.

We have our unemployment shadows, as what area in Canada does not, Campbell River district is prevailingly prosperous. It is vigorous, unworried and brashly self-confident. This hardiness was reflected in the crowd, which settled itself good-humoredly to wait the coming of the prime minister.

Memory rang a far-off bell. Once before, we had been part of a cheerful and lively crowd that waited for Mr. Trudeau to appear among us.

Years ago, that was, when Trudeau first burst like a bomb-shell upon the political scene. The place was Victoria's Beacon Hill park, on a mild summer evening. A helicopter circled low over the throng disposed on the sun-browned slopes. It touched down; out stepped the man who was making charisma a Canadian household word.

He charmed us completely then. Waiting for Trudeau once more, in this other place and time, I wondered if he could pull it off again.

A shade before 3:30 p.m. without fuss or bustle, the prime minister and his party made their appearance. We watched them work their way through the crowd to the frame platform on which chairs were waiting.

Ray Perrault was there, a little greyer and heavier than the spunky Liberal battler against overpowering odds whom I remembered from his days in British Columbia Legislature.

Jack Pearsall, the sitting member for Coast-Chilcotin and Liberal contender for the new Comox-Powell River riding, was also on hand.

It remained for Pearsall to do the honors.

"Mr. Prime Minister," he said, "I must tell you that Campbell River where we now are has one claim to fame. It is the Home of the Tyee Salmon."

Move Ill-Founded, Trustees Charge

Education Minister Pat McGeer's move to appoint all school district school superintendents is based on an "ill-founded fear of ineptitude on the part of local school boards," school trustees say.

In a joint brief with the association of B.C. School Superintendents, the B.C. School Trustees Association says the provincial government's move to more centralization is inconsistent with Social Credit philosophy.

The seven largest districts in the province have the autonomy to hire their own superintendents and set their salaries. The other districts have their superintendents appointed by the government which also sets their salaries.

Both school trustees and superintendents want all local boards to have the power to hire superintendents and to set salaries.

The brief, presented to the province this month, quotes from a statement Premier Bill Bennett made in 1975.

The Socred party believes educational policies can be developed only in co-operation with local boards, Bennett said at that time.

"The local school trustees have been elected by the people of their own area . . . they know the area and are responsive to the needs of their community," he said.

The joint brief says the government's plan to change the employment of superintendents is inconsistent with that statement.

"Our organizations have serious reservations about the plan and are of the opinion that implementation of it would detract from, rather than contribute to the quality of educational leadership in B.C."

Broadbent Back

Federal NDP leader Ed Broadbent will rush straight through Victoria on his way to the Victoria airport Thursday, but he'll be back later for a rally, party organizers promised today.

Broadbent will tour the pulp mill in Port Alberni, talk at the Malaspina Hotel in Nanaimo and sip wine and nibble cheese at a reception in Duncan before heading for the airport for a 7 p.m. flight to Winnipeg.

His one-day scheduled visit to the Island is just too tight for anything in Victoria, a party spokesman said. His future schedule has not been firmed up, but Victoria will be included on his next western swing.

Toronto

Trading in Kerr Addison Mines Ltd. resumed at 10:30 a.m. after a brief halt for dissemination of news that the company will not pay a dividend in the second quarter. It reported a loss in the first quarter of $1.176 million, including an expenditure of $4.268 million on its Agnew Lake property.

Kerr Addison A fell ¾ to $9⅞ by 2 p.m.

Among industrials, Imperial General Properties dropped 3½ to $17½, Falconbridge Nickel A 1¾ to $51½, General Motors 1 to $65½, Hudson's Bay Co. 1 to $30¼ and Dome Petroleum ¾ to $124½.

Canadian Occidental Petroleum rose 3 to $31, Canada Packers 2 to $29, Universal Sections ⅞ to $8, Inco Ltd. ⅛ to $23¾ and Venpower 25 cents to $2.85.

McIntyre Mines Ltd. declined 1¼ to $45¼, Teck Corp. A ½ to $14 and Gibraltar Mines ⅜ to $8⅜. Afton Mines advanced ⅞ to $17¾ and Conwest Exploration ¼ to $5¾.

New York

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market lapsed into a broad decline amid expectations of further credit-tightening by the Federal Reserve Board.

The Federal Reserve's policy-making Open Market Committee is scheduled to hold its monthly meeting Tuesday.

In view of the surge in the inflation rate so far this year, many analysts were predicting that the central bank would decide to exert new upward pressure on interest rates.

Anticipation of such a move depressed the bond market last week, and put a damper on the stock market's recent rally. The Dow Jones industrial average ended a five-week stretch of gains with a drop of 5.19 points last week.

Montreal

MONTREAL (CP) — Prices slipped considerably in light afternoon trading on the Montreal Stock Exchange, with the composite index dropping 1.08 to 248.76.

Volume was 143,607 shares traded, compared with 263,988 shares traded up to the same time Thursday.

Outlook Better For Next Year

MONTREAL (CP) — The outlook for the country's economy is much brighter for 1980 than for this year, says the Provincial Bank of Canada's Focus on the Economy.

The economy is slowing down despite the dollar's higher value, a slower rate of inflation and the expected interest rate decreases at the end of 1979, the study says.

But consumer and investment spending, which makes up 80 per cent of national expenditures, will lag considerably while slower employment growth will push the unemployment rate to 8.8 per cent and keep personal income down, the bank predicts. The public sector deficit will soar while the balance of payments will stay in a "precarious position."

However, the outlook for 1980 is bright because of interest cuts foreseen for the end of 1979 and a relatively short slowdown in the United States economy, the forecast says. It expects the gross national product to grow next year by between four per cent and five per cent.

(Oui, June 1978)
Or as Cars Magazine (June 1978) puts it, "Simply stated, the RX-7 is 70 cubic inches of pure dynamite." And Road and Track (June 1978) classes the RX-7 as one of the 10 best cars for 1978 along with the Alfa Romeo Sprint Veloce, the Porsche 911C, and the BMW 733i. Some class of cars to be in, wouldn't you say!
